Senator Will Ask Legislative Action For Units' Study

Welfare And Revenue Departments' Investigations Will Be Sought

JONES PREPARES SPEECH FOR MONDAY DELIVERY

Administration Bills Will Be Dumped Into Hopper Next Week

BATON ROUGE, La., May 18.—(AP)—Broadening legislative investigations will be proposed Monday night when Louisiana's assembly reconvenes from its week-end recess.

Senator Lloyd Kendrick, Caddo, said he would introduce measures calling for exhaustive probes of the state welfare and revenue departments, similar to one he already has proposed in the senate to investigate the conservation department.

Under the measures the legislature would grant wide probe powers to special joint house and senate committees, each composed of seven solons.

Governor Sam H. Jones spent the day working on the text of the address he will deliver to the assembly Monday night outlining administration proposals. He planned working out final details tomorrow on his speech and administration bills.

Tonight, before entertaining Senator Alben Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, the senate majority leader, at a stag dinner, Governor Jones told reporters that several administration bills would be dropped into the legislative hoppers Monday night.

Barkley, arriving in New Orleans this morning, dedicated new buildings at Southwestern Louisiana institute at Lafayette and then came here to congratulate Jones on his successful election campaign this spring.

Declining to "inject any partisan politics into my visit" to Louisiana, Barkley said his special trip to the state was without political significance.

Informed that Paul McNutt, federal security administrator, and a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was a scheduled visitor next Thursday, Barkley laughed when a reporter said it appear national political figures were staging a "blitzkrieg" on Louisiana.

Attorney General Eugene Stanley accompanied Senator Barkley back to New Orleans where the veteran congressional leader was to take the night plane back to Washington.

EARTHQUAKE HITS CALIFORNIA AREA WITH ONE DEATH

Buildings Collapse, Bridges Wrecked In El Centro, Environs

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 18.—(AP)—First reports of a disastrous earthquake in Imperial valley received here at 9 p. m., indicated at least one man was killed in El Centro where "several" buildings were knocked down.

Heavy damage was general throughout the valley.

Unconfirmed reports said the town of Imperial suffered great damage and that calls for the Red Cross first aid crews had been issued.

Reports to El Centro from Crawley police stated that bridges had collapsed, highways "buckled up" and several buildings wrecked.

A San Diego radio amateur said he intercepted a message from an Imperial amateur saying all the brick buildings in the town were down and indicating a heavy injury toll.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., May 18.—(AP)—An earthquake was felt at 8:39 o'clock in San Bernardino. The shock was followed by a slow, rolling motion, strong enough to swing chandeliers. The tremor lasted about 10 seconds. No damage was caused.

BLOOD SUBSTITUTE IS RESEARCH FIND

Discovery Is Of Potential Value To Military, Experts Declare

PINEHURST, N. C., May 18.—(AP)—A substitute for blood banks and blood transfusions, of potential military value, was reported to the North Carolina Medical society here this week.

The substitute is the plasma, which is the white, liquid portion of blood. The plasma can be stored for a year, as against a few days for blood, and the experiments reported here show it is a satisfactory substitute for several of the conditions calling for blood transfusion.

The report was made by Dr. John Elliott and Dr. Walter L. Tatum, of the Rowan Memorial hospital at Salisbury, N. C. Dr. Tatum is a major in the reserve corps of the medical staff of the United States army.

The plasma has been substituted for blood in shock cases at the Rowan hospital with results, the physicians said, as good as whole blood. It has been used also for burns, infections, kidney troubles and nutritional disorders due to starvation.

No typing of plasma is necessary. It has been given by the North Carolinians to 445 humans with only three slight unfavorable reactions. In emergencies, the report stated, the plasma is an ideal substitute for whole blood.

13 Unlucky? Two Girls That Age Start Battleship Funds

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Contributions of bills, coins, money orders and checks have started pouring into the White House for use in building up the national defense.

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, also reported today that thousands of telegrams and letters have been received since President Roosevelt presented his defense message to congress Thursday. Only 65 of these by "actual count," Early said, opposed the program.

Most of the 65, he added, were similar in wording, bore foreign names and came from one city which he refused to identify.

Early said many of the contributions came from school children and all were being turned over to the treasury for a ruling on whether the government can accept them.

The practice previously has been to return such gifts. This was done in one case, it was said, by Navy Secretary Edison to whom was referred a letter from Juanita Graham, 13-year-old, Houston, Tex., school girl who sent $1 to "help buy a battleship."

Back in 1916 another 13-year-old, Marjorie Sterrett, sent a dime to a New York newspaper to go toward a battleship. The newspaper used the donation to start a drive, raised more than $20,000, and got a special law enacted to permit the navy to receive it. Known as the "Marjorie Sterrett fund," the income has been used for prizes to battle crews in efficiency tests.

Jones May Save Millions In State Mineral Leases

Exploitation Of What Remains Of Public Reserves May Be Course

BATON ROUGE, May 18.—(Special)—One of the beggarly few methods open to Governor Sam H. Jones of replenishing an almost depleted state treasury is exploitation of what remains of the state's public oil reserves and cancelation, by litigation, of oil leases which enriched private individuals and did not proportionately benefit the state.

Governor Jones is committed to a policy of recovery in the matter of oil leases obtained through political favoritism and without sufficient compensation being afforded Louisiana. There is little doubt here that he will translate this pledge into action.

Officials of the state mineral board, which now has charge of leasing public oil lands, report that about 1,000,000 acres of potential oil territory remain to be leased in Louisiana, not including the state's coastal line. Approximately 3,000,000 acres of state land are now under lease, from which Louisiana receives an annual rental of about $3,000,000. But, it is claimed that if political favoritism had been squeezed out of the leases effected prior to the from holding additional state, paro-

MEXICAN LEADERS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OIL AGREEMENT

Administration Moves Swiftly After Market To United States Opens

MEXICO CITY, May 18.—(AP)—The Mexican government petroleum administration moved swiftly today to take advantage of the new market for its oil opened up by an agreement with the Sinclair Oil company covering its properties expropriated by Mexico.

The government agency announced that $1,000,000 of the $8,500,000 fixed as compensation had been delivered to the American company through the Mexican embassy in Washington.

Under the agreement, Sinclair contracted to take 5,000,000 barrels this year and an equal amount for each of the next three years, making a total of 20,000,000 barrels by the end of 1943.

The oil administration disclosed that 225,000 barrels of crude oil had been shipped already to the United States in Sinclair tankers from Tuxpan, Vera Cruz. Another tanker, the Fuller, was scheduled to sail tomorrow with 75,000 more barrels.

Jesus Silva Herzog, general sales manager for the Mexican oil industry, declared that Mexico would be able to satisfy any increase in foreign consumption that the European war might stimulate, in addition to fulfilling the nation's domestic needs and the Sinclair quotas.

He asserted that daily production in the Poza Rica fields around Tampico could be stepped up from the present 70,000 barrels a day to 150,000 merely by opening the valves of wells now closed because there has been no market for their flow.

The administration is drilling new wells, he said, to make available a daily production of 200,000 barrels before the end of the year.

BUDDY POPPY SALE HELD AS SUCCESS

Rodney J. Hobbs Post Is Sponsor Of Annual Event In Monroe

The annual Buddy Popupy sale yesterday sponsored by the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was declared a success last night.

H. M. James, local commander of the V. F. W., announced that the sale amounted to $189.44, with 1,750 persons participating in the occasion by buying poppies.

Commander James said the drive was completed by 1 p.m. yesterday, except for a roundup in West Monroe. He thanked the local radio station, city officials, auxiliary members and newspapers for their part in making the sale successful ,and said he especially wanted to thank the general public of Monroe "which so generously supported the campaign."

PRESIDENT CRUISES IN QUIET POTOMAC

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—After a busy week which kept him at his desk for many overtime hours, President Roosevelt left the White House tonight for a brief outing.

He took an overnight cruise down the Potomac river aboard the government yacht Potomac. The president had planned to spend the week-end at Hyde Park but decided to remain close to the capital in view of developments abroad.

The White House did not disclose who, if anyone, accompanied the president on the excursion—information which customarily has been made public in the past.

MUSSOLINI'S REPLY SENT ROOSEVELT; CONTENTS SECRET

Courteous Terms Are Used By Il Duce, Reliable Source Reveals

By Richard G. Massock

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini has replied to President Roosevelt's latest effort to prevent spread of the European war, it was learned from a reliable source tonight. The nature of the reply was not disclosed but it was believed to have been noncommittal without being alarming.

The reply, in courteous terms, was said in informed quarters to have been communicated to Mr. Roosevelt through United States Ambassador William Phillips, who delivered a personal message from the president to Il Duce May 15.

Italian and American authorities here have kept tight-lipped silence on the contents of the president's message.

Foreign circles assumed, however, since it was described in Washington as "in the interest of peace," that Mr. Roosevelt told Il Duce again of Washington's desire that the war be kept out of other parts of Europe.

With Italy's entry into the war believed by most observers to be awaiting a Nazi death blow to the allies, the Fascist press tonight openly exulted at the advance of Germany's war machine into France.

A declaration by Premier Mussolini's Il Popolo D'Italia that Fascist Italy "must reach its great predestined goal, legitimate imperial aspirations and Mediterranean destiny now or never," was interpreted by some as perhaps a sign that Italy was about to strike somewhere.

Italians kept tab on the Balkans also.

Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who often reflects the views of Mussolini, called attention in his newspaper, Il Giornale D'Italia, to the "natural naval bases" on the Adriatic coast from Yugoslavia to Greece, with the declaration that Italy's protection depended on conditions along the shore.

Gayda drew no conclusions in the article devoted to the Balkans except to say that "the problem of the Balkans" was a "vital theme" of the Italian foreign policy.

Britain's relaxation of contraband control at Gibraltar by letting the Italian liner Rex pass without stopping her for examination was kept from the Italians. Instead, newspapers

PLANE DELIVERIES BY U. S. TO ALLIES WILL BE SPEEDED

Roosevelt Expected To Throw Administration Force Behind Plan

BRITAIN, FRENCH ORDERS TOTAL 4,000 WARPLANES

Extraordinary Program Of President To Strengthen Defense Rushed

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was said authoritatively today to have decided to put the administration's force behind efforts to speed deliveries of American-made warplanes to the hard-pressed Allies.

Informed airmen said means to hasten completion of more than 4,000 planes which Britain and France had ordered since the war started would figure prominently in a conference of industrial leaders with government officials Monday.

The feasibility of turning over to the Allies new planes manufactured for the army probably would be considered also, it was predicted, through officials said no formal requests that this be done had been received thus far.

Mr. Roosevelt's extraordinary program to strengthen defenses at home made swift progress in congress during the day, and word spread that the chief executive might ask still more millions for armament later if he deemed them necessary.

Working with rare speed, a senate appropriations subcommittee approved a $1,827,491,724 army supply bill carrying the army's share of the special defense fund proposed by the president earlier this week.

The subcommittee provided that the money should be available the moment the law is signed, instead of next July 1 as most appropriation measures specify, and sent the bill to the full appropriations committee for consideration Monday.

Many members of the senate predicted that the chamber would approve the huge fund, and send it back to the house for acceptance of the extraordinary additions, by mid-week.

FREAK ACCIDENT FATAL TO WOMAN

Two Cars Open Doors To Take One To Death, Injure Other

OPELOUSAS, La., May 18.—(AP)—Mrs. J. A. Azar, 55, was killed today when she fell out the rear door of an automobile while it was proceeding to a hospital for treatment of her grandson, who had fallen out of the car a short time before.

She was motoring to Opelousas from their home at Washington, La., with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Azar, and the latter's son, David, 6.

A door flew open after leaving Washington and the child fell out, receiving head lacerations and probable internal injuries. Lawrence Messina, a passerby, offered to drive the party to Opelousas for treatment at the St. Landry clinic.

Mrs. J. A. Azar then occupied the rear seat, with her daughter-in-law and grandson in front. About two miles north of Opelousas, a back door opened and she fell onto the paved highway, dying instantly of a skull fracture.

Survivors are her husband, Dr. J. A. Azar, Galveston, Tex., physician, and three sons, Dr. A. J. Azar, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. George Azar, Washington, and Dr. Paul Azar, Washington, with whom she resided. Funeral arrangements were incomplete tonight.

No air raid alarms were sounded ashore, although a number of aircraft were heard, apparently not far out to sea.

TELEPHONE LINES DOWN

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Telephone communications with London were interrupted tonight.

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill will broadcast a message to the British people at 9 p.m. (3 p.m. eastern standard time) Sunday.

(By Associated Press)

Germany's avalanche of men and machines engulfed Antwerp and was reported by the Nazis to be within 60 miles of Paris Saturday night.

The British and French professed, however, to see some slackening of the unprecedented assault in its ninth day.

The advanced German position, widening and deepening simultaneously toward the west and south, puts the invaders roughly midway between Paris, one apparent objective, and the channel ports, ideal bases for direct assaults on England.

The French said the main fighting was in the vicinity of Guise and Landrecies, about 90 miles from Paris.

They admitted a widening of the German-held portion of France, and Premier Paul Reynaud told the nation that the situation was "grave."

Reynaud himself took over the ministry of war and national defense, named former Premier Edouard Daladier foreign minister, and chose Marshal Henri Petain, 83-year-old World War hero, as vice-premier in a general cabinet revision.

German planes bombed railway stations and highways in the Paris region, but were driven away from

SWIMMING POOL IS OPEN TODAY

Great Throng Expected At Monroe's Free Inland Beach

With the weatherman predicting perfect conditions Monroe's municipal pool in Forsythe park opens today.

Arrangements for handling the large opening day crowd were completed yesterday by Commissioner of Parks and Streets C. Ruff Tidwell's office.

D. Curtis Seamon, a secretary to the commissioner, announced that the pool will be opened at 5:30 a.m. this year instead of 5 a.m., but that the closing hour, 10 p.m., will remain the same. Mr. Curtis gave as the reason for the change the scarcity of swimmers at the early hour.

The pool, which offers free swimming to all residents of the city, was completed in the spring of 1938 and has been operating for two summers. It holds 1,300,000 gallons of purified and filtered water which is completely changed three times every 24 hours.

The municipal pool offers a safe form of recreation for children in its wading section, and the main pool for swimmers has a graduated depth from three to ten feet, with eight diving boards and platforms.

A crew of lifeguards is kept on duty at all hours and ample floodlights are used after dark.

The water is tested three to five times daily, depending upon the number of bathers and the condition and temperature of the water is reported daily to the state board of health. The conditions must measure up to the health board standards.

In the two years the pool has been in operation there have been 200,000 swimmers, but not a single accident, disease or infection reported.

SUSPECT ARRESTED IN STORE ROBBERY

Randolph Dumas was arrested by Officers Hudson and Russell, West Monroe police, on a charge of burglary of the Johnson Drug store, formerly Clark's pharmacy, at the corner of Jackson and Mulberry streets, Friday night, according to police.

He was turned over to the Monroe police, who investigated the case. The police found that Dumas had broken the glass door of the drug store and took about $25 worth of whisky, cigarettes and chewing gum, officers reported.

Dumas only recently finished serving a sentence allotted him for another offense, according to police. He is a widower with several children and lives in West Monroe.

Under the agreement, Sinclair contracted to take 5,000,000 barrels this year and an equal amount for each of the next three years, making a total of 20,000,000 barrels by the end of 1943.

The oil administration disclosed that 225,000 barrels of crude oil had been shipped already to the United States in Sinclair tankers from Tuxpan, Vera Cruz. Another tanker, the Fuller, was scheduled to sail tomorrow with 75,000 more barrels.

Jesus Silva Herzog, general sales manager for the Mexican oil industry, declared that Mexico would be able to satisfy any increase in foreign consumption that the European war might stimulate, in addition to fulfilling the nation's domestic needs and the Sinclair quotas.

He asserted that daily production in the Poza Rica fields around Tampico could be stepped up from the present 70,000 barrels a day to 150,000 merely by opening the valves of wells now closed because there has been no market for their flow.

The administration is drilling new wells, he said, to make available a daily production of 200,000 barrels before the end of the year.

BUDDY POPPY SALE HELD AS SUCCESS

The annual Buddy Popupy sale yesterday sponsored by the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was declared a success last night.

H. M. James, local commander of the V. F. W., anonunced that the sale amounted to $189.44, with 1,750 persons participating in the occasion by buying poppies.

Commander James said the drive was completed by 1 p.m. yesterday, except for a roundup in West Monroe. He thanked the local radio station, city officials, auxiliary members and newspapers for their part in making the sale successful ,and said he especially wanted to thank the general public of Monroe "which so generously supported the campaign."

PRESIDENT CRUISES IN QUIET POTOMAC

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—After a busy week which kept him at his desk for many overtime hours, President Roosevelt left the White House tonight for a brief outing.

He took an overnight cruise down the Potomac river aboard the government yacht Potomac. The president had planned to spend the week-end at Hyde Park but decided to remain close to the capital in view of developments abroad.

The White House did not disclose who, if anyone, accompanied the president on the excursion—information which customarily has been made public in the past.

MUSSOLINI'S REPLY SENT ROOSEVELT; CONTENTS SECRET

By Richard G. Massock

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini has replied to President Roosevelt's latest effort to prevent spread of the European war, it was learned from a reliable source tonight. The nature of the reply was not disclosed but it was believed to have been noncommittal without being alarming.

The reply, in courteous terms, was said in informed quarters to have been communicated to Mr. Roosevelt through United States Ambassador William Phillips, who delivered a personal message from the president to Il Duce May 15.

Italian and American authorities here have kept tight-lipped silence on the contents of the president's message.

Foreign circles assumed, however, since it was described in Washington as "in the interest of peace," that Mr. Roosevelt told Il Duce again of Washington's desire that the war be kept out of other parts of Europe.

With Italy's entry into the war believed by most observers to be awaiting a Nazi death blow to the allies, the Fascist press tonight openly exulted at the advance of Germany's war machine into France.

A declaration by Premier Mussolini's Il Popolo D'Italia that Fascist Italy "must reach its great predestined goal, legitimate imperial aspirations and Mediterranean destiny now or never," was interpreted by some as perhaps a sign that Italy was about to strike somewhere.

Italians kept tab on the Balkans also.

Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who often reflects the views of Mussolini, called attention in his newspaper, Il Giornale D'Italia, to the "natural naval bases" on the Adriatic coast from Yugoslavia to Greece, with the declaration that Italy's protection depended on conditions along the shore.

Gayda drew no conclusions in the article devoted to the Balkans except to say that "the problem of the Balkans" was a "vital theme" of the Italian foreign policy.

Britain's relaxation of contraband control at Gibraltar by letting the Italian liner Rex pass without stopping her for examination was kept from the Italians. Instead, newspapers

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—(AP)—Seven attorneys have been named by the Junior Bar conference of the American Bar association to carry on its "public information program" in Louisiana. The group seeks to stimulate discussion of civic and legal questions.

PLANE DELIVERIES BY U. S. TO ALLIES WILL BE SPEEDED

BRITAIN, FRENCH ORDERS TOTAL 4,000 WARPLANES

Extraordinary Program Of President To Strengthen Defense Rushed

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was said authoritatively today to have decided to put the administration's force behind efforts to speed deliveries of American-made warplanes to the hard-pressed Allies.

Informed airmen said means to hasten completion of more than 4,000 planes which Britain and France had ordered since the war started would figure prominently in a conference of industrial leaders with government officials Monday.

The feasibility of turning over to the Allies new planes manufactured for the army probably would be considered also, it was predicted, through officials said no formal requests that this be done had been received thus far.

Mr. Roosevelt's extraordinary program to strengthen defenses at home made swift progress in congress during the day, and word spread that the chief executive might ask still more millions for armament later if he deemed them necessary.

Working with rare speed, a senate appropriations subcommittee approved a $1,827,491,724 army supply bill carrying the army's share of the special defense fund proposed by the president earlier this week.

The subcommittee provided that the money should be available the moment the law is signed, instead of next July 1 as most appropriation measures specify, and sent the bill to the full appropriations committee for consideration Monday.

Many members of the senate predicted that the chamber would approve the huge fund, and send it back to the house for acceptance of the extraordinary additions, by mid-week.

FREAK ACCIDENT FATAL TO WOMAN

Two Cars Open Doors To Take One To Death, Injure Other

OPELOUSAS, La., May 18.—(AP)—Mrs. J. A. Azar, 55, was killed today when she fell out the rear door of an automobile while it was proceeding to a hospital for treatment of her grandson, who had fallen out of the car a short time before.

She was motoring to Opelousas from their home at Washington, La., with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Azar, and the latter's son, David, 6.

A door flew open after leaving Washington and the child fell out, receiving head lacerations and probable internal injuries. Lawrence Messina, a passerby, offered to drive the party to Opelousas for treatment at the St. Landry clinic.

Mrs. J. A. Azar then occupied the rear seat, with her daughter-in-law and grandson in front. About two miles north of Opelousas, a back door opened and she fell onto the paved highway, dying instantly of a skull fracture.

Survivors are her husband, Dr. J. A. Azar, Galveston, Tex., physician, and three sons, Dr. A. J. Azar, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. George Azar, Washington, and Dr. Paul Azar, Washington, with whom she resided. Funeral arrangements were incomplete tonight.

AMERICAN LINER SAILS

GENOA, Italy, May 18.—(AP)—The United States liner Washington sailed for New York today with 1,100 American fugitives from the war crowding her cabins and overflowing into her lounges.

Most of those fleeing the war dangers were from the Balkans. Two thousand more are expected to follow soon on the Italian liner Rex.

BRUSSELS ABANDONED

(The Germans announced Friday night that their troops were marching into the Belgian capital.)

FACTORIES ON 24 HOURS

PARIS, May 18.—(AP)—The ministry of armaments announced tonight that all factories working on its orders would operate 24 hours a day. Aviation plants already were operating continuously, but some other armaments plants were working shorter hours.

PLANES, HEAVY GUNFIRE

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—The drone of planes and heavy gunfire was reported off Britain's southeast coast late tonight.

The firing continued for about an hour and was believed to have come from naval units. Coast dwellers said they saw streaks of tracer bullets and the play of searchlights.

No air raid alarms were sounded ashore, although a number of aircraft were heard, apparently not far out to sea.

11 CIVILIANS KILLED

BERLIN, May 18.—(AP)—DNB, the German news agency, said tonight that 11 civilians were killed and 63 injured in Friday night's British air raid on Bremen, Germany.

TELEPHONE LINES DOWN

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Telephone communications with London were interrupted tonight.

Telephone officials said they knew only that "the line is interrupted beyond Paris."

They suggested various reasons—that it might have been cut between London and Paris because of the fighting in France or perhaps that an air raid alarm in London caused operators there to be off duty temporarily.

DEPUTIZE FOR MINISTER

Germany's wartide of men and machines engulfed Antwerp and was reported by the Nazis to be within 60 miles of Paris Saturday night.

The British and French professed, however, to see some slackening of the unprecedented assault in its ninth day.

The indicated German position, widening and deepening simultaneously toward the west and south, puts the invaders roughly midway between Paris, one apparent objective, and the channel ports, ideal bases for direct assaults on England.

The French said the main fighting was in the vicinity of Guise and Landrecies, about 90 miles from Paris.

They admitted a widening of the German-held portion of France, and Premier Paul Reynaud told the nation that the situation was "grave."

Reynaud himself took over the ministry of war and national defense, named former Premier Edouard Daladier foreign minister, and chose Marshal Henri Petain, 83-year-old World War hero, as vice-premier in a general cabinet revision.

German planes bombed railway stations and highways in the Paris region, but were driven away from

SWIMMING POOL IS OPEN TODAY

With the weatherman predicting perfect conditions Monroe's municipal pool in Forsythe park opens today.

Arrangements for handling the large opening day crowd were completed yesterday by Commissioner of Parks and Streets C. Ruff Tidwell's office.

D. Curtis Seamon, a secretary to the commissioner, announced that the pool will be opened at 5:30 a.m. this year instead of 5 a.m., but that the closing hour, 10 p.m., will remain the same. Mr. Curtis gave as the reason for the change the scarcity of swimmers at the early hour.

The pool, which offers free swimming to all residents of the city, was completed in the spring of 1938 and has been operating for two summers. It holds 1,300,000 gallons of purified and filtered water which is completely changed three times every 24 hours.

The municipal pool offers a safe form of recreation for children in its wading section, and the main pool for swimmers has a graduated depth from three to ten feet, with eight diving boards and platforms.

A crew of lifeguards is kept on duty at all hours and ample floodlights are used after dark.

The water is tested three to five times daily, depending upon the number of bathers and the condition and temperature of the water is reported daily to the state board of health. The conditions must measure up to the health board standards.

In the two years the pool has been in operation there have been 200,000 swimmers, but not a single accident, disease or infection reported.

SUSPECT ARRESTED IN STORE ROBBERY

Randolph Dumas was arrested by Officers Hudson and Russell, West Monroe police, on a charge of burglary of the Johnson Drug store, formerly Clark's pharmacy, at the corner of Jackson and Mulberry streets, Friday night, according to police.

He was turned over to the Monroe police, who investigated the case. The police found that Dumas had broken the glass door of the drug store and took about $25 worth of whisky, cigarettes and chewing gum, officers reported.

Dumas only recently finished serving a sentence allotted him for another offense, according to police. He is a widower with several children and lives in West Monroe.

FLAG DAY PLAN IS PUSHED HERE

None Held In Monroe During Past Years, Sponsor Says

Isador Liebreich announced Saturday that the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion would sponsor a Flag Day in Monroe on June 14. The Legion Post and the National Guard will cooperate in the observance. A committee of eight is working on the program.

There hasn't been a Flag Day observance in Monroe since the departure of the Elks, some 10 or 12 years ago, he said. In announcing the projected observance, Mr. Liebreich said, "I think an observance of a Flag Day very appropriate at this time, owing to the terrible conflict now being waged in Europe, which brings to memory the equally terrible days of 1914-18."

The National Guard will sound a regular retreat at the close of the day, which will be 5:30 p.m.

The committee working on the program consists of Isador Liebreich, chairman; C. B. Braun, Ed Apperson, Charles Mitchell, Warren Taylor, Rev. Ernest Holloway, Cecil Atkins, and Raymond Spence, captain of the National Guards.

It was pointed out by Mr. Liebreich "that the citizens of Monroe now pass an American flag without paying homage to that emblem of democracy."

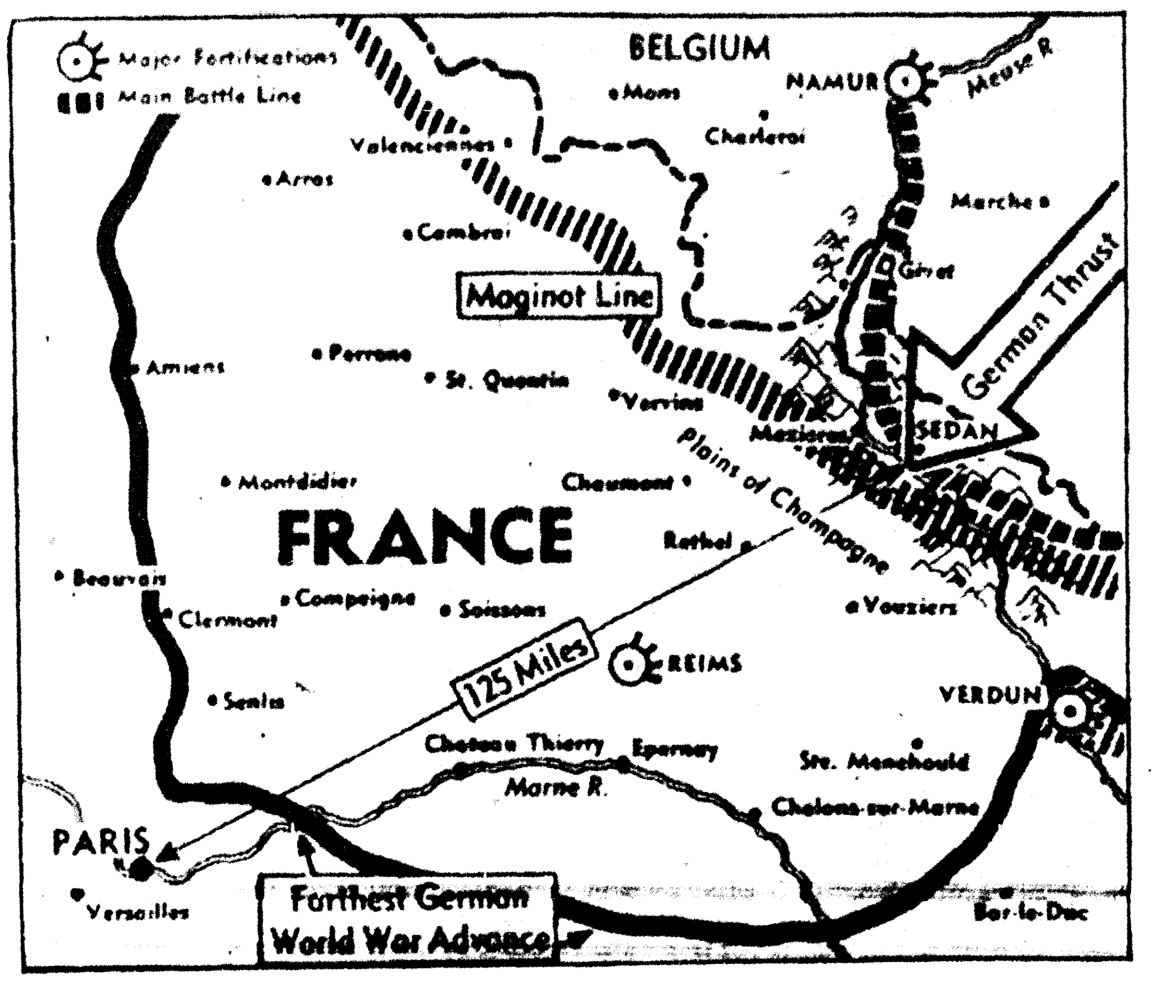
TODAY'S WAR MAP



The German thrust at the Maginot line outpost of Sedan has brought the Hitler troops to within 125 miles of Paris with the cry of "On to Paris" on their lips. A similiar drive on the city of Paris in 1914 brought out the famous "taxi-cab army" which held off the German troops until the regular army could reinforce the hurriedly mobilized Parisians.

LOUISIANA PULP MILLS FORESEEN

Industry, Shut Off Abroad, Will Come To South, Is Claim

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 18.—(AP)—The European war likely will result in establishment of additional wood pulp mills in Texas and the south, Walter C. Johnson of Chattanooga, Tenn., secretary-manager of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, said today.

Johnson stopped in Fort Worth en route to Mineral Wells, where, on Monday through Wednesday, between 250 and 300 newspaper men from 14 states are expected to gather for the 38th annual meeting of the association.

The executive pointed out that, because of the war, importation of the essential sulphite and sulphate chemical pulp from Norway and Finland virtually has ceased and that users of paper products are casting about for new sources.

"We can produce the pulp here in the south, and we must," Johnson declared. "One mill at Houston already is turning out the product and four or five other groups are considering the erection of mills in southern Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia."

The venereal disease clinic, veterans' graves registration, vital statistics and historical records survey projects will have a consolidated exhibit in the lobby of the courthouse showing the work of these projects.

It is the desire of the professional and service division of the Work Projects administration, of which these projects are a part, that the public visit them and see the work that is being done. Reasons for the celebration listed by the WPA are:

"Values will accrue directly to the professional and service division of the Work Projects administration in terms of better project operation.

"The bringing together of workers and sponsors in a new way will help to make them truly partners in this great enterprise.

"The appearance of projects will be improved because of our own evaluation and inspection.

"From the visits of the community to our projects will come ideas for new projects, and the further extension of services on projects we now have.

"The week constitutes a report to the taxpayers. Such reports are an obligation of any government agency so that the people can see how and what the agency is accomplishing. Uusually these reports are merely compilations of figures. This report, however, is going to show the actual thing itself, not what somebody has to say about it. People are going to see for themselves.

"People have a right to know what a government agency does so that they may make use of its services to the fullest extent they desire. Thousands and millions of additional people need and would participate in our adult education program, in recreation, art, music, health and other programs we are assisting in if they knew about them.

"Many valuable suggestions for improvement of our program will come from the people who visit our projects. The freshness and sharpness of a first impression may point out improvements those who observe the project each day do not see. We expect, need and desire these suggestions. In a very peculiar and real way our program is the community's business. It needs the thought and planning of all the people to be successful as we wish it to be.

"The week is an expression of the WPA workers and the WPA sponsors practicing the American way of meeting a national situation. No other country has ever had a program just like this. This is the American way.

"The week will show to the people of America a better picture of America's 'unfinished business.' It will demonstrate there is much work still to be done; it will bring home the cheerful thought that there is plenty of worthwhile valuable work for all to do.

"The workers on this program, present and past, are justly proud of their work and accomplishments. They are anxious for a means of showing their friends, neighbors and community the outcome of their work in terms of its community value."

BARATARIA OIL FIELD DRILLING SUSPENDED

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—(AP)—Drilling in the Barataria oil field has been suspended pending a hearing here May 28 on spacing and proration regulations for the field.

The suspension order, issued by Major B. A. Hardey, new conservation commissioner, halted operations in the only active well, California company's Louisiana Truck and Orange Company No. 1, and delayed spudding in of Carter-Perrin and Brian's Rutley Wiseman No. 2.

Oil circles had watched the situation in the Barataria field for more than a week following reports that Carter-Perrin and Brian had planned to drill in the immediate vicinity of a previous completion.

PLANE SHOT DOWN IN REFUGEE ATTACK

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Passengers on a Belgian refugee ship which reached an English port tonight related that a German plane had been shot down while attacking steamers in Ostend harbor and refugees ashore.

The Nazi craft dropped two bombs which fell wide, they said, then turned its machine-guns on refugees on the quay but was shot down in the sea by ground machine-gun fire.

The new Consolidated XB-24, now undergoing flight tests, has "a speed over 300 miles an hour, a range of approximately 3,000 miles, and bomb carrying capacity of approximately four tons." In addition, the plane has a tail turrent.

U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY GRADUATES

These two young men of Ruston are among 456 midshipmen listed as candidates for graduation on June 6 from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. William A. J. Lewis (left) is scheduled to be assigned to the flagship California of the Pacific fleet, now on the eastern coast. Alva Freeman Nethken (right) expects to enter service in Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. Both of the men, who are alumni of Louisiana Tech, will spend a two weeks' leave in Ruston after their graduation.

Has Census Taker Seen You?

Have you been counted yet?

If you haven't and don't want to fall into the class of "the little man who wasn't there," you had better let the census taker know who you are, and where you are, and if you are a family man, how many members there are in it.

There's another reason, too. If you are civic minded you'll want to add yourself to the total population of Monroe, just to see now much it has grown in the past 10 years.

J. L. Heath, Jr., Fifth district supervisor for the census, said Saturday that the census enumerators in Monroe have completed their districts, but to have a more complete count within the city limits of Monroe, it is now up to the people to help.

If you have not been enumerated, just clip the form below, fill it out, and then mail it to the Bureau of the Census, 215 Ouachita National Bank building. But before you fill it out, ask everyone in your family if they have already talked things over with the census man.

If they haven't, it won't take you a minute to do your duty for Monroe. Come on, now, let's see how big we really are.

So far as I know I have not been enumerated

Alexander Graham Bell's First Telephone

From this crude BEGINNING

. . . the telephone has been made a world-wide medium of voice communication . . . a dependable servant, available at low cost, to people in all walks of life. This remarkable achievement is the result of American initiative, organization and ingenuity.

The 21,500 Southern Bell workers have had an important part in this achievement. It is a source of satisfaction to them to know that they, together with thousands of other Bell System workers, have made it possible for anyone today using a Bell or Bell connected telephone to talk to almost any point in America, many foreign countries, and to ships at sea.

Americans enjoy the best, most dependable and cheapest telephone service in the world. They are assured of its continuance because it is the Company's policy to keep telephone facilities and quality of service ahead of public expectation.

FLAG DAY PLAN IS PUSHED HERE

None Held In Monroe During Past Years, Sponsor Says

Isador Liebreich announced Saturday that the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion would sponsor a Flag Day in Monroe on June 14. The Legion Post and the National Guard will cooperate in the observance. A committee of eight is working on the program.

There hasn't been a Flag Day observance in Monroe since the departure of the Elks, some 10 or 12 years ago, he said. In announcing the projected observance, Mr. Liebreich said, "I think an observance of a Flag Day very appropriate at this time, owing to the terrible conflict now being waged in Europe, which brings to memory the equally terrible days of 1914-18."

The National Guard will sound a regular retreat at the close of the day, which will be 5:30 p.m.

The committee working on the program consists of Isador Liebreich, chairman; C. B. Braun, Ed Apperson, Charles Mitchell, Warren Taylor, Rev. Ernest Holloway, Cecil Atkins, and Raymond Spence, captain of the National Guards.

It was pointed out by Mr. Liebreich, "that the citizens of Monroe now pass an American flag without paying homage to that emblem of democracy."

Mother Nature has given them larger, stronger bodies than the southerly species, as well as special tooth development, heavier fur, and larger claws, for digging.

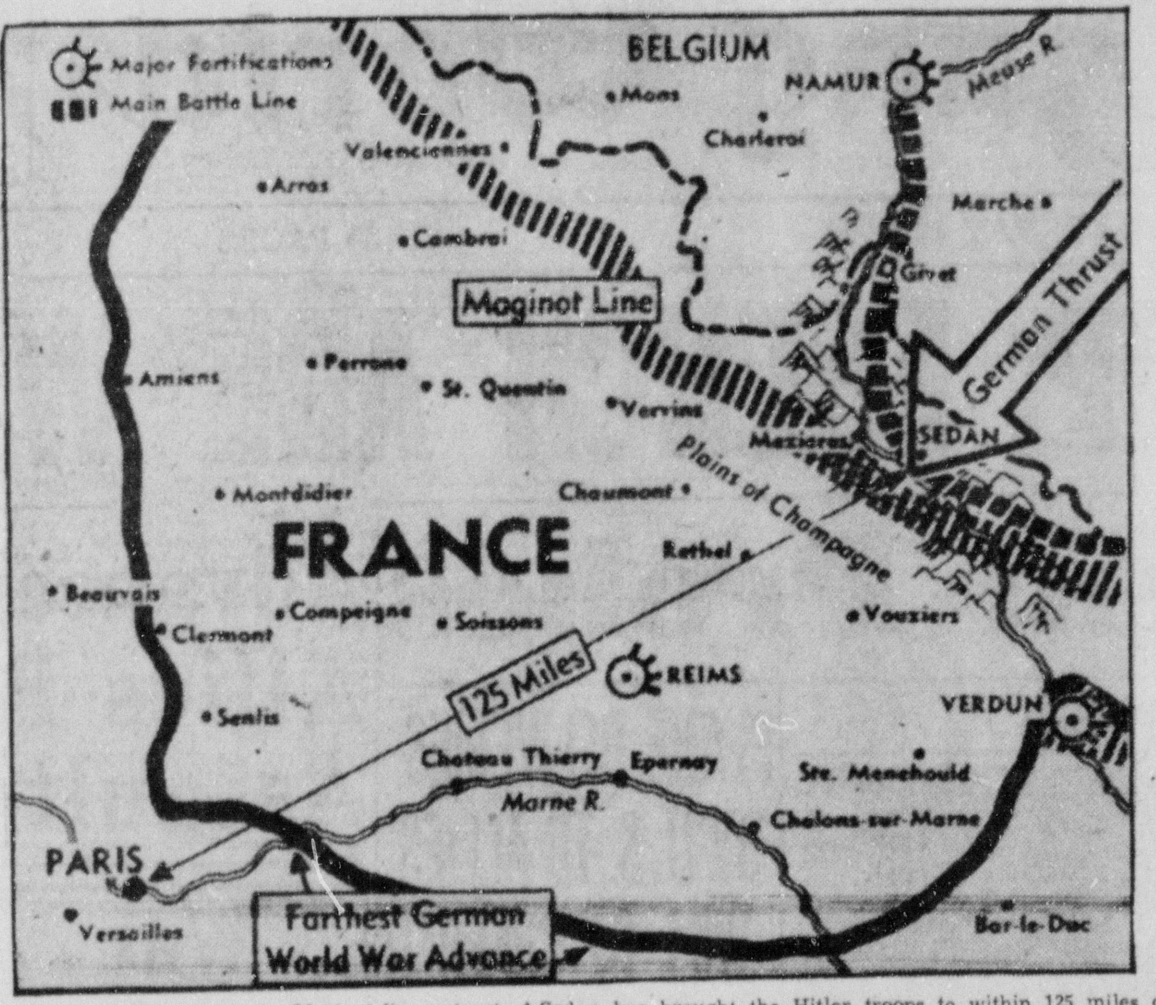
TODAY'S WAR MAP



The German thrust at the Maginot line outpost of Sedan has brought the Hitler troops to within 125 miles of Paris with the cry of "On to Paris!" on their lips. A similiar drive on the city of Paris in 1914 brought out the famous "taxi-cab army" which held off the German troops until the regular army could reinforce the hurriedly mobilized Parisians.

LOUISIANA PULP MILLS FORESEEN

Industry, Shut Off Abroad, Will Come To South, Is Claim

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 18.—(AP)—The European war likely will result in establishment of additional wood pulp mills in Texas and the south, Walter C. Johnson of Chattanooga, Tenn., secretary-manager of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, said today.

Johnson stopped in Fort Worth en route to Mineral Wells, where, on Monday through Wednesday, between 250 and 300 newspaper men from 14 states are expected to gather for the 38th annual meeting of the association.

The executive pointed out that, because of the war, importation of the essential sulphite and sulphate chemical pulp from Norway and Finland virtually has ceased and that users of paper products are casting about for new sources.

"We can produce the pulp here in the south, and we must," Johnson declared. "One mill at Houston already is turning out the product and four or five other groups are considering the erection of mills in southern Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia."

The venereal disease clinic, veterans' graves registration, vital statistics and historical records survey projects will have a consolidated exhibit in the lobby of the courthouse showing the work of these projects.

It is the desire of the professional and service division of the Work Projects administration, of which these projects are a part, that the public visit them and see the work that is being done. Reasons for the celebration listed by the WPA are:

"Values will accrue directly to the professional and service division of the Work Projects administration in terms of better project operation.

"The bringing together of workers and sponsors in a new way will help to make them truly partners in this great enterprise.

"The appearance of projects will be improved because of our own evaluation and inspection.

"From the visits of the community to our projects will come ideas for new projects, and the further extension of services on projects we now have.

"The week constitutes a report to the taxpayers. Such reports are an obligation of any government agency so that the people can see how and what the agency is accomplishing. Uusually these reports are merely compilations of figures. This report, however, is going to show the actual thing itself, not what somebody has to say about it. People are going to see for themselves.

"People have a right to know what a government agency does so that they may make use of its services to the fullest extent they desire. Thousands and millions of additional people need and would participate in our adult education program, in recreation, art, music, health and other programs we are assisting in if they knew about them.

"Many valuable suggestions for improvement of our program will come from the people who visit our projects. The freshness and sharpness of a first impression may point out improvements those who observe the project each day do not see. We expect, need and desire these suggestions. In a very peculiar and real way our program is the community's business. It needs the thought and planning of all the people to be successful as we wish it to be.

"The week is an expression of the WPA workers and the WPA sponsors practicing the American way of meeting a national situation. No other country has ever had a program just like this. This is the American way.

"The week will show to the people of America a better picture of America's 'unfinished business.' It will demonstrate there is much work still to be done; it will bring home the cheerful thought that there is plenty of worthwhile valuable work for all to do.

"The workers on this program, present and past, are justly proud of their work and accomplishments. They are anxious for a means of showing their friends, neighbors and community the outcome of their work in terms of its community value."

U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY GRADUATES

These two young men of Ruston are among 456 midshipmen listed as candidates for graduation on June 6 from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. William A. J. Lewis (left) is scheduled to be assigned to the flagship California of the Pacific fleet, now on the eastern coast. Alva Freeman Nethken (right) expects to enter service in Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. Both of the men, who are alumni of Louisiana Tech, will spend a two weeks' leave in Ruston after their graduation.

Has Census Taker Seen You?

Have you been counted yet?

If you haven't and don't want to fall into the class of "the little man who wasn't there," you had better let the census taker know who you are, and where you are, and if you are a family man, how many members there are in it.

There's another reason, too. If you are civic minded you'll want to add yourself to the total population of Monroe, just to see now much it has grown in the past 10 years.

J. L. Heath, Jr., Fifth district supervisor for the census, said Saturday that the census enumerators in Monroe have completed their districts, but to have a more complete count within the city limits of Monroe, it is now up to the people to help.

If you have not been enumerated, just clip the form below, fill it out, and then mail it to the Bureau of the Census, 215 Ouachita National Bank building. But before you fill it out, ask everyone in your family if they have already talked things over with the census man.

If they haven't, it won't take you a minute to do your duty for Monroe. Come on, now, let's see how big we really are.

Here's the form to fill out and mail:

So far as I know I have not been enumerated

Alexander Graham Bell's First Telephone

From this crude BEGINNING

. . . the telephone has been made a world-wide medium of voice communication . . . a dependable servant, available at low cost, to people in all walks of life. This remarkable achievement is the result of American initiative, organization and ingenuity.

The 21,500 Southern Bell workers have had an important part in this achievement. It is a source of satisfaction to them to know that they, together with thousands of other Bell System workers, have made it possible for anyone today using a Bell or Bell connected telephone to talk to almost any point in America, many foreign countries, and to ships at sea.

Americans enjoy the best, most dependable and cheapest telephone service in the world. They are assured of its continuance because it is the Company's policy to keep telephone facilities and quality of service ahead of public expectation.

BRITISH REFUSE TO GIVE GROUND

In Desperate Situation, They Are Determined To Hold Nazis

By Drew Middleton

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN BELGIUM, May 18—(AP)—British troops, weary after eight days of almost continuous movement and action, clung stubbornly today to new lines west of Brussels.

As the Nazi war machine crunched forward there were fears that German successes in the Sedan sector, which sent waves of armored cars and tanks bowling into back areas, might dictate a further allied withdrawal.

The British, who 72 hours ago occupied a line on the Dyle river running through Louvain to Wavre, east of Brussels, now are in a better position to meet the German push, despite the allied withdrawal.

There is no tendency to minimize the desperate allied situation here. One comfort to the allies is that the British and French armies virtually are intact and are well-equipped for the defensive warfare dictated by the German tactics.

The RAF was declared to be holding on to advanced bases in France in spite of the severe battering administered during the first week of the blitzkrieg.

Success was credited to British fighters in countering to a large extent waves of bombers and fighters at the head of Adolf Hitler's tank columns south of the Sambre river.

In the 24 hours ending last midnight the British claimed an average of nearly one German machine an hour had been destroyed.

One patrol of six British Hurricanes were said to have engaged 40 Messerschmitt 110's protecting a Nazi bomber formation, and shot down six of the enemy craft.

IN CARS

He got his shirt and socks on successfully but when he tried to pull on his shoes he lost control of the car.

It ran into a field, overturned and was demolished. Yentis, unhurt, promised state patrolmen he "wouldn't use a car for a dressing room again."

Generals Pick Belgium For Battleground; An Old Story, From J. Caesar To A. Hitler

It was no accident that the soldier poet wrote about the poppies of Flanders fields.

Those fields and all the lowland plains have been a battleground for the nations of western and of central Europe since time immemorial.

The reason simply is that it's the best spot on the western front for armies to get at each other. Rough terrain makes the upper Rhineland more difficult.

When Caesar blitzkrieged Gaul 2,000 years ago he called the Belgae the bravest of the tribesmen.

Even then Germanic tribes were pressing against the Gauls on these plains. Later German invaders, upon the breakdown of Roman power, drove through Belgium.

In the middle ages the populous, prosperous lowlands were seized by the dukes of Normandy, and in 1516 they were subjected to the Hapsburg emperor Charles V. Spanish tyranny brought about the revolution that gave the Netherlands freedom, but left Belgium under Spanish or Austrian control until the French revolution.

Meantime Louis XIV sought to give France its "natural boundaries" by expanding to the Rhine. England led a coalition of Austria, Holland and the Germanic states against him, and the grandiose schemes of France's grand monarch were drowned in bloodshed on Flanders fields.

For centuries England had had a special interest in the lowlands because it was there that her wool was manufactured into fine cloth. And about this time it became evident England would never agree voluntarily to the domination of the lowlands by a major power.

So when Napoleon annexed this territory to France in 1801, he too had a war on his hands. The last shot was fired at Waterloo, in Belgium.

Belgium was then united willy-nilly to Holland. Soon she revolted and set up independently. Thereupon Great Britain, Austria, France, Prussia and Russia signed a treaty recognizing her as a "perpetually neutral" state.

That treaty held good in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, but by the time the World war rolled around, German strategists had evolved the Schlieffen plan. It proposed the defeat of France by an end run through the lowlands. Germany carried it out to the extent of overrunning Belgium, but bogged down in the muddy Flanders fields.

Following its World war experience with a scrap of treaty paper, Belgium abandoned guaranteed neutrality in favor of defensive alliances. After Hitler, however, she renounced these treaties in the hope that no power could point a finger at her as lacking in neutrality and good intentions.

But once more blood flows on Flanders field.

CHAPTER XIII

Foot by foot Val moved along the boat deck. A driving rain slanted into her face and almost blinded her. She put her head into the wind and discovered she could make better progress.

The wind tore at her oilskins. She couldn't see three paces in front of her. She grabbed a lifeline and hung on for five minutes while she caught her breath.

A brilliant fork of lightning blazed over the sky and showed her where the companionway was that led to the bridge. She released her grip on the rope and splashed her way through decks covered with water.

An oath escaped from Steve Hansen's lips when she closed the door behind her and stood there dripping, panting, but with a smile of conquest lighting her face.

"What in jehosaphat are you doing up here, and how in the great horn spoon did you ever get here?" Hansen boomed.

"Get a load of that, Charlie," Hansen roared to his helmsman. "If she ain't got guts I don't know who has."

Val grinned. "Never thought I'd make it," she admitted. "We've got as much water on deck as there is in the whole ocean."

She rubbed her hands and peered through the glass. "Thought I'd come up here where there was something doing. This is the first time I've ever been in a storm at sea, y'know, Stevie."

"Well, don't be thinkin' it's any lark," he bristled. "I haven't seen a wind like this in years. You shouldn't have come up here, Val."

"Why not?"

He exploded. "It's no place for a gal, that's why. More'n likely you'll have to stay here till morning. I ain't going to let you make your way back down there alone."

"Quit fussing, Steve. I can take care of myself." She winked at the helmsman and Hansen muttered something beneath his breath.

Hansen's mouth was a tight, grim line as he stared ahead into the gray sheet of driving rain. The seas were mountainous. He didn't like the progress they were making at half speed.

Hansen plugged the speaking tube to the engine room. "Three-quarter speed ahead," he called down. There was no response. The tube was dead.

"Dammit!" Hansen peered out into the storm again. "Guess I spoke too soon, Val. You're going to have to go below. Tube's dead. Tell Chambers we want three-quarter speed. And have him get that tube working again in a jiffy."

"Aye, aye, Cap'n." She fastened her oilskins tighter around her neck. "Be back in short order."

"Take it easy and stay away from the rail," he warned.

She slipped into the teeth of the wind again and started the treacherous trip down. It took her a good 10 minutes.

She could feel the increased throb of the ship's engines as she started back for the bridge. But when a sudden thought struck her she turned back and entered the galley. Wong was just finishing cleaning up.

He watched her put up a pot of coffee. "For Claptain Hansen?" he guessed.

She nodded. A few minutes later she stuffed a couple of paper cups under her oilskins and started off again.

Eddie saw her go up the companionway with the pot. Dangerous business lugging that pot along deck, but let her break her neck if she wanted to, he figured. Nevertheless, he followed her.

Eddie poked his head out into the storm and watched Val's progress as she slithered along the deck. The Northern Belle lurched into a particularly deep trough and a huge wave broke over her bow and hissed down on the girl.

Val froze against a ventilator, clutching the coffee pot in one hand and the life-line in the other.

Val wished then that she hadn't bothered with that pot of coffee. It was getting more unwieldy every second and there was a good chance of scalding herself if she had an accident.

She had almost reached the companionway going above when it happened. No one knew where the other ship came from but suddenly it was there, looming up in front of them like something that was dropped from the murky sky itself.

"Hard aport!" Steve Hansen yelled to the helmsman. "Lively!" he screamed, and then turned to bellow down the tube.

"Full speed ahead. Give it everything you have!"

Hansen yanked the siren cord and let out a long blast of his whistle. He swung his searchlight full upon the other vessel. He knew the other pilot had seen the Northern Belle but he feared it was too late.

"More speed!" he bawled down the tube, and thanked his stars it no longer was dead.

The sudden, sharp maneuver had caught Val Douglas by surprise. She had just loosened her grip from the life-line for a second when the ship started to swing about.

Val's foot hit a puddle of water just when the vessel lurched under the strain of hard aport. She went down, a scream muffled in her throat. She slid for 20 feet as the nose of the Northern Belle dipped deep into the sea. She groped blindly for support and then everything went black as her head slammed against a stanchion.

It had happened so fast Eddie Cavalier found himself almost helpless to move. As it was he had to grab for support himself. And then the other ship was hard on them. The Northern Belle's stern swung wide but not wide enough. There was a dull, glancing shock and then the sirens of both ships were screeching above the thunder and the rain.

Eddie could hear Captain Hansen's voice bawling out over the gale and the startled, muffled cries which came from the other ship out there in the murk.

A gigantic wave broke over the bow and Eddie, horrified, as he raced forward, saw it crashing down upon the girl.

He slipped once, fell to the deck himself, almost blinded by the torrent of rain beating into his face.

The mountain of green-black water roared upon Val, lifted her up and carried her toward the other side of the ship.

The next wave that broke over the rail would sweep her overboard.

Even as the engines of the ship went into reverse to bring the vessel to a stop, the next wall of water crashed against her sides, rose over the bow and slithered down on Val.

In five steps Eddie was there but the rolling rush of water knocked him flat. When he struggled to his knees Val was gone.

NOTHING SMELLS NEW

Practical jokesters make them today from chemicals. A century ago they used herbs, or simply tossed pepper on a hot stove.

Hagerstown boys broke up so many public meetings that way that an indignant city council passed an ordinance in 1859 levying a fine of $1 to $10 on pepper or bomb tossers.

BRITISH REFUSE TO GIVE GROUND

In Desperate Situation, They Are Determined To Hold Nazis

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN BELGIUM, May 18.—(AP)—British troops, weary after eight days of almost continuous movement and action, clung stubbornly today to new lines west of Brussels.

Success was credited to British fighters in countering to a large extent waves of bombers and fighters at the head of Adolf Hitler's tank columns south of the Sambre river.

In the 24 hours ending last midnight the British claimed an average of nearly one German machine an hour had been destroyed.

One patrol of six British Hurricanes were said to have engaged 40 Messerschmitt 110's protecting a Nazi bomber formation, and shot down six of the enemy craft.

IN CARS

He got his shirt and socks on successfully but when he tried to pull on his shoes he lost control of the car.

It ran into a field, overturned and was demolished. Yentis, unhurt, promised state patrolmen he "wouldn't use a car for a dressing room again."

Generals Pick Belgium For Battleground; An Old Story, From J. Caesar To A. Hitler

It was no accident that the soldier poet wrote about the
Those fields and all the lowland plains have been a battleground for the nations of western and of central Europe since time immemorial.

The reason simply is that it's the best spot on the western front for armies to get at each other. Rough terrain makes the upper Rhineland more difficult.

When Caesar blitzkrieged Gaul 2,000 years ago he called the Belgae the bravest of the tribesmen.

Even then Germanic tribes were pressing against the Gauls on these plains. Later German invaders, upon the breakdown of Roman power, drove through Belgium.

In the middle ages the populous, prosperous lowlands were seized by the dukes of Normandy, and in 1516 they were subjected to the Hapsburg emperor Charles V. Spanish tyranny brought about the revolution that gave the Netherlands freedom, but left Belgium under Spanish or Austrian control until the French revolution.

Meantime Louis XIV sought to give France its "natural boundaries" by expanding to the Rhine. England led a coalition of Austria, Holland and the Germanic states against him, and the grandiose schemes of France's grand monarch were drowned in bloodshed on Flanders fields.

For centuries England had had a special interest in the lowlands because it was there that her wool was manufactured into fine cloth. And about this time it became evident England would never agree voluntarily to the domination of the lowlands by a major power.

So when Napoleon annexed this territory to France in 1801, he too had a war on his hands. The last shot was fired at Waterloo, in Belgium.

Belgium was then united willy-nilly to Holland. Soon she revolted and set up independently. Thereupon Great Britain, Austria, France, Prussia and Russia signed a treaty recognizing her as a "perpetually neutral" state.

That treaty held good in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, but by the time the World war rolled around, German strategists had evolved the Schlieffen plan. It proposed the defeat of France by an end run through the lowlands. Germany carried it out to the extent of overrunning Belgium, but bogged down in the muddy Flanders fields.

Following its World war experience with a scrap of treaty paper, Belgium abandoned guaranteed neutrality in favor of defensive alliances. After Hitler, however, she renounced these treaties in the hope that no power could point a finger at her as lacking in neutrality and good intentions.

But once more blood flows on Flanders field.

CHAPTER XIII

Foot by foot Val moved along the boat deck. A driving rain slanted into her face and almost blinded her. She put her head into the wind and discovered she could make better progress.

The wind tore at her oilskins. She couldn't see three paces in front of her. She grabbed a lifeline and hung on for five minutes while she caught her breath.

A brilliant fork of lightning blazed over the sky and showed her where the companionway was that led to the bridge. She released her grip on the rope and splashed her way through decks covered with water.

An oath escaped from Steve Hansen's lips when she closed the door behind her and stood there dripping, panting, but with a smile of conquest lighting her face.

"What in jehosaphat are you doing up here, and how in the great horn spoon did you ever get here?" Hansen boomed.

"Get a load of that, Charlie," Hansen roared to his helmsman. "If she ain't got guts I don't know who has."

Val grinned. "Never thought I'd make it," she admitted. "We've got as much water on deck as there is in the whole ocean."

She rubbed her hands and peered through the glass. "Thought I'd come up here where there was something doing. This is the first time I've ever been in a storm at sea, y'know, Stevie."

"Well, don't be thinkin' it's any lark," he bristled. "I haven't seen a wind like this in years. You shouldn't have come up here, Val."

"Why not?"

He exploded. "It's no place for a gal, that's why. More'n likely you'll have to stay here till morning. I ain't going to let you make your way back down there alone."

"Quit fussing, Steve. I can take care of myself." She winked at the helmsman and Hansen muttered something beneath his breath.

Hansen's mouth was a tight, grim line as he stared ahead into the gray sheet of driving rain. The seas were mountainous. He didn't like the progress they were making at half speed.

Hansen plugged the speaking tube to the engine room. "Three-quarter speed ahead," he called down. There was no response. The tube was dead.

"Dammit!" Hansen peered out into the storm again. "Guess I spoke too soon, Val. You're going to have to go below. Tube's dead. Tell Chambers we want three-quarter speed. And have him get that tube working again in a jiffy."

"Aye, aye, Cap'n." She fastened her oilskins tighter around her neck. "Be back in short order."

"Take it easy and stay away from the rail," he warned.

She slipped into the teeth of the wind again and started the treacherous trip down. It took her a good 10 minutes.

She could feel the increased throb of the ship's engines as she started back for the bridge. But when a sudden thought struck her she turned back and entered the galley. Wong was just finishing cleaning up.

He watched her put up a pot of coffee. "For Claptain Hansen?" he guessed.

She nodded. A few minutes later she stuffed a couple of paper cups under her oilskins and started off again.

Eddie saw her go up the companionway with the pot. Dangerous business lugging that pot along deck, but let her break her neck if she wanted to, he figured. Nevertheless, he followed her.

Eddie poked his head out into the storm and watched Val's progress as she slithered along the deck. The Northern Belle lurched into a particularly deep trough and a huge wave broke over her bow and hissed down on the girl.

Val froze against a ventilator, clutching the coffee pot in one hand and the life-line in the other.

Val wished then that she hadn't bothered with that pot of coffee. It was getting more unwieldy every second and there was a good chance of scalding herself if she had an accident.

She had almost reached the companionway going above when it happen d. No one knew where the other ship came from but suddenly it was there, looming up in front of them like something that was dropped from the murky sky itself.

"Hard aport!" Steve Hansen yelled to the helmsman. "Lively!" he screamed, and then turned to bellow down the tube.

"Full speed ahead. Give it everything you have!"

Hansen yanked the siren cord and let out a long blast of his whistle. He swung his searchlight full upon the other vessel. He knew the other pilot had seen the Northern Belle but he feared it was too late.

"More speed!" he bawled down the tube, and thanked his stars it no longer was dead.

The sudden, sharp maneuver had caught Val Douglas by surprise. She had just loosened her grip from the life-line for a second when the ship started to swing about.

Val's foot hit a puddle of water just when the vessel lurched under the strain of hard aport. She went down, a scream muffled in her throat. She slid for 20 feet as the nose of the Northern Belle dipped deep into the sea. She groped blindly for support and then everything went black as her head slammed against à stanchion.

It had happened so fast Eddie Cavalier found himself almost helpless to move. As it was he had to grab for support himself. And then the other ship was hard on them. The Northern Belle's stern swung wide but not wide enough. There was a dull, glancing shock and then the sirens of both ships were screeching above the thunder and the rain.

Eddie could hear Captain Hansen's voice bawling out over the gale and the startled, muffled cries which came from the other ship out there in the murk.

A gigantic wave broke over the bow and Eddie, horrified, as he raced forward, saw it crashing down upon the girl.

He slipped once, fell to the deck himself, almost blinded by the torrent of rain beating into his face.

The mountain of green-black water roared upon Val, lifted her up and carried her toward the other side of the ship.

The next wave that broke over the rail would sweep her overboard.

Even as the engines of the ship went into reverse to bring the vessel to a stop, the next wall of water crashed against her sides, rose over the bow and slithered down on Val.

In five steps Eddie was there but the rolling rush of water knocked him flat. When he struggled to his knees Val was gone.

NOTHING SMELLS NEW

Practical jokesters make them today from chemicals. A century ago they used herbs, or simply tossed pepper on a hot stove.

Hagerstown boys broke up so many public meetings that way that an indignant city council passed an ordinance in 1859 levying a fine of $1 to $10 on pepper or bomb tossers.

WHY ENVY A STEAK WHEN EATING SPINACH?

Here is good news for many who suffer stomach or ulcer pains due to excess acid. LOVE FINDS A WAY WHEN THIEF VISITS

PASADENA, Calif., May 18.—(AP)—A judge righted a burglar's wrong today, so Hugh McQueen Thompson and Elsie Louise Carlson could be married.

A thief slipped into the Carlson home during a pre-nuptial party last night and stole several purses. One contained the couple's marriage license.

Today they visited the county clerk's office, seeking a duplicate. The clerk was polite but firm. He lacked authority.

Then they went to Superior Judge Frank C. Collier. He ordered the clerk to prepare the new document.

250,000,000 Germans

For the third time in 70 years, the German legions tramp through Sedan.

The first time, Bismarck came in person to dictate terms of surrender to Napoleon III.

The second time, the German wave swept across it in 1914, and retreated from it in 1918 just before armistice halted the war and advancing Americans graciously stepped aside and gave French troops the honor of reoccupying the torn town.

Now comes the third wave, and again the German columns surge onward through Sedan and into France.

During the preliminaries to the present war, Hitler managed to give the impression that he wanted no more trouble with France.

True, he had written in "Mein Kampf" of "a decisive, active settlement with France," and "our eternal struggle with France." But he seemed to imply that he would forego that if France would stand idly by and see all Europe west of the Rhine subjugated to the German yoke. Otherwise, settlement with France by the method of 1870 and 1914.

His policies, Hitler wrote, would be acknowledged correct if, within a century, today's 80,000,000 Germans have become 250,000,000 Germans on the continent of Europe.

So far the record has been one of complete success. Thirty millions of conquered people have passed beneath the German yoke. They have become helots, condemned to a perpetually inferior place by a racial order that considers itself superior.

Conquered Poles have been uprooted and sent to Germany for virtual forced labor, while their fruitful farms are awarded to Wurtemburgers plucked with equal ruthlessness from their ancestral homes and sent to consolidate the Polish conquest.

Thus the picture of a Germanized Europe becomes clearer day by day. A central-European German Reich, inhabited by 250,000,000 Germans of a self-designated "superior" race. A cluster of conquered provinces around its edge, inhabited by "inferior" races, who would be ruled politically and economically from Berlin, allowed some fragments of their own culture, perhaps, but never admitted as equals of Germans, economically, politically, or socially.

Such a Europe, once established, could not fail to influence the rest of the world at every point of contact. It would be as though a vast new planet should suddenly be tossed into the midst of the solar system. Its new gravitational pull would affect the course of every body in the system, setting up new influences, paths and orbits. That is why the United States cannot be indifferent to the fate of Europe.

FARM INCOME

At Washington the government estimates that despite the restrictive effects of the war on agriculture, farm income is a little higher this year than it was last year. This is rather remarkable in view of the fact that the war is costing agriculture a minimum of $10,000,000 a month, according to estimates, and that some products are very low in price.

There has been a 123 per cent rise in cotton exports but aside from that the war has not stimulated agricultural exports from the United States in any category. Even cotton is not expected to hold its advantage much longer. Countries that can buy it for cash are conserving their dollar exchange and will reduce their purchases whenever possible.

Countries such as the Scandinavian nations which were purchasing large quantities of cotton for transshipment are now blockaded. And with American shipping barred from the war zones, the vessels of Norway, Sweden and Denmark eliminated and the Mediterranean area likely to be closed any day, there may be no market for American crop exports except those most desperately needed by the allies.

The export of tobacco since the war started has declined 70 per cent, the export of wheat and flour has fallen off 72 per cent and shipments of fruit abroad are off 24 per cent. There has also been a marked write-down of pork and pork products exports as well.

It is possible that exports of some of these farm commodities will eventually pick up, but probably not soon enough to have much effect on 1940 farm income.

UP TO THE OLD TRICK

And Germany is still employing her long-time practice of making battlefields of other nation's lands. She fought the war of 1870 in France. She fought the first World war in Belgium and France; and as soon as she saw that war was about to be carried into Germany, she called the war off. The allies foolishly let her work it that way. Now Germany is making a battlefield of Scandinavia.

Just for a change, some war of Germany's starting should be carried into the heart of Germany and fought out there.

Shirley Temple is eleven years old, the little darling, and in another year will be old enough to become engaged to George Jessell.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—When you compare the money Uncle Sam has been sending out to the states with the money it has been getting back from them you can begin to see where all those deficits come from.

Loans and grants made to and in the states and territories since the start of 1934, covering everything from farm benefits to relief, highways, public works and old age benefits total just a little more than $42,000,000,000.

In the same period, internal revenue receipts from those states and territories ran to just a little less than $25,000,000,000.

From only six states did the government collect more in taxes than it paid out in loans and grants. In four states it distributed more money than the total assessed value of taxable property. Of the $42,000,000,000 it sent out, nearly 27 were in the form of outright grants; the rest, made up of loans, is (presumably, anyhow) mostly recoverable.

FHA Ire 'Way Up

Federal Housing authority officials are irked because a weekly paper stated FHA is getting stuck with too much property on insured mortgages that went sour. Currently, says FHA, its losses on foreclosures are averaging only 16/100 of one per cent. The insurance fund that covers losses is building up nicely, and is figured capable of standing losses running as high as 10 per cent.

General opinion is that FHA is plenty safe—unless another 1932 comes along. In '32, it is recalled, private lenders got stuck with oodles of real estate on which they'd loaned up to 50 per cent. FHA loans up to 80 and 90.

Although politicians don't see how Wendell Willkie can actually get any important delegate strength, the Willkie camp apparently means business. At any rate, Mr. Willkie is starting to organize his own brain trust.

260 Men Defend Alaska

After years of neglect, the government is suddenly realizing Alaska is, or ought to be, highly important in the nation's defense system.

At this moment, the total United States defense force in Alaska consists of 260 infantrymen stationed at Chilcoot Barracks, near Skagway, and half a dozen naval planes at Sitka. If anyone wants to worry about a "Russian menace," strategists point out that Russia has been fortifying various spots within easy striking distance of Alaska, having recently put a submarine base on Bering island, which is only 260 miles away.

Any hostile force which seized Alaska, it is added, would be within fairly handy bombing range of northwestern United States—and, as Delegate Anthony Dimond of Alaska says, could with a few incendiary bombs take an awful bite out of our vast timber reserves in the state of Washington.

The navy now is building two big air bases, at Sitka and Kodiak, which will probably be ready by fall. Army is putting up a $4,000,000 cold weather experimental air station at Fairbanks, and is asking $12,000,000 for a huge air base at Anchorage. House of representatives killed this item, but the senate may restore it shortly.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, May 18.—Dear Staff: 20th Century-Fox's sudden firing of Shirley Temple (her pay-off amounts to that) looms as a remarkable example of the film industry's lack of business gumption.

I said in my column the other day: "There's nothing wrong with Temple that good pictures won't cure." But high officials of her company, pointing with alarm to failure of her recent films to attain big profits, are blaming everyone but themselves.

The studio habit of hastily discharging or buying-off stars whose pictures aren't piling up vast profits is ridiculous. Time after time such firing has boomeranged. Look at Janet Gaynor's sensational comeback after being let by the same company that is now releasing Shirley. Look at Marlene Dietrich's return to fame.

M.-G.-M. has the sensible point of view. When top stars at that studio begin to slide, L. B. Mayer blames himself and his associates. "We're not giving our star proper support," he says. "Let's get together; let's provide better vehicles!" L. B. and company did that with Joan Crawford and Greta Garbo when, had these actresses been employed by other studios, they'd probably have been "bought off."

Big businessmen in other industries with whom I've talked laugh at Hollywood's "fire 'em" attitude. They laugh because they know that a commodity, built to popularity at great cost in time and money, should be clung to and helped when its tide ebbs. If the product was worth building in the first place, it's worth saving. How would it look for the Coca-Cola company suddenly cease making that drink and turn to lemon sodas, or for Wrigley to stop pouring chewing gum into the mouths of the world and manufacture glue?

Shirley is a popular commodity; her name is a trademark. Maybe thousands of people have lost the habit of seeing her pictures, but she still has millions of fans who would love to see her in good movies. But in bad ones—well, Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in "Parnell" proved that the biggest stars can't salvage poor films.

—JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dead "Big Businessman:" For once we agree with you. You know, of course, that Shirley's studio feebly declares she's at the "awkward age," and gives that as the reason good stories can't be found. Nonsense! There was never a more "awkward aged" girl than Jane Withers two years ago—but stories were found for Janie.

We'll lay a wager: If Shirley makes a picture for Universal under Joe Pasternack, it'll be a wow—and Joe will move further ahead of his producer-rivals who get more publicity but haven't his ability.

But enough of Temple; there's more to tell: For instance, if MGM really wants to know Fred Astaire's whereabouts, he's deep-sea fishing off the coast of Mexico with Randy Scott. Randy, by the way, is burned over local cracks as to why Jon Hall replaced in "Kit Carson." The lowdown is that Scott refused the role because the producers wouldn't promise him a leading lady with a box office name.

The "Gracie Allen for President" campaign is proving a headache. Seems plenty of her listeners no likee making light of such a serious issue. Did you know that the mustache Robert Taylor wears in "Waterloo Bridge" is a fake? He grew a real one but Barbara Stanwyck Taylor hated it, so he shaved it off. That New York producing bug is not dead; Joel McCrea will star in a film to be made by Rowland Brown in the East this summer.

Censor boards in Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland have warned Hollywood they'll ban pictures dealing with the baby adoption racket, which'll be a slap in the face for two studios which had planned such films. Spencer Tracy has 35 feet of the very first motion picture, showing Thomas A. Edison's friend, George Ott, in a sneeze. The film was a gift from Edison's widow, and a valuable museum piece. Hey boss, who's Cary Grant phoning in Honolulu?

Funny about Lucille Ball: Ordered by her studio to put on ten pounds, she mixed diets and took off two. Bing Crosby received word yesterday that war conditions may bar shipment of race horses he purchased in Australia. Rita Hayworth is strutting a revival of the "Alice Blue Gown."

We hear that Jimmy Walker, whose NY radio show is clicking, will vacation here. Also, that the glum expression of John Garfield's phiz is due to the fact that he lost his own dough in the short-lived stage play, "Heavenly Express." Tom Mix has been offered a tent show at the NY World's Fair.

Here's a giggle to finish the day: A few months ago, Elinor Troy, the six-foot show girl, flew East in a chartered plane to wed Tommy Manville. She's returning to Hollywood, the wedding having failed to take place. The "little" lady is making the trip back in a brand new $2,800 roadster—provided by Manville!

Coming back to America is like returning to an adolescent country which has not yet reached the spiritual maturity that comes from much suffering and disappointment.—Rev. Roswell P. Barnes, New York.

The development of our foreign trade, as well as the continued improvement of our national defense, both demand a civil air fleet second to none.—Juan T. Trippe, president, Pan-American Airways.

All I can say is, trust in the future, behold your traditions. Long live the Fatherland!—General Winkelman, Netherlands commander-in-chief, on surrendering.

BARBS

There are those among us who remember the war in Norway. To those just coming in, the plot is the same, only the locale being changed.

A henchman describes Hitler as the greatest of all great men. And like the rest, the fuehrer will probably wind up as a bust.

From Brussels comes the report that parachuting Nazis landed in the royal palace gardens. No mention is made as to how many violets were crushed.

The coast guard finds no icebergs in the Atlantic this season, leaving it to be assumed they have all fallen prey to U-boats.

Add war atrocities: Nazis in Holland order all carrier pigeons killed, presumably to make pot pie for hungry troops just in from the blitzkrieg.

The thing may never come up in traffic court, but we see by the late editions that the Nazi war horse just drove into France's Sedan.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Perhaps it might be a good idea to send Duke university's famous psychologist, Professor J. B. Rhine, over to Europe to try some of his telepathy experiments on Stalin, Hitler and a few others who can make all the difference in the world in the happiness of a large part of mankind. Perhaps Dr. Rhine could read their minds and let us know what to expect. He has certainly done some amazing things in the fascinating and mysterious field of the human mind, as Mr. William R. Hearst pointed out the other day.

Great work is being done in that field. The great Dr. Crile of Cleveland discovered that there is an emanation from the substance of the human brain like a ghostly light. Drs. Sheerington and Adrian of England have been pioneers in exploring the over-lapping domain of electricity and light. But there is so much yet to be discovered, as the late William James pointed out in his book, "Telepathy and the Subliminal Self."

Professor James became interested in the experiments of that strange, half-sinister, half-mediaeval scientist, Charcot, who, in Paris, was carrying on some amazing experiments in hypnotism. Professor James went to Paris and joined in a number of experiments with Charcot, culminating in an uncanny adventure in a cavernous, underground chamber at midnight.

Charcot, a swarthy, burning-eyed, be-whiskered Svengali of a fellow, and Professor James required a room removed from all possible penetration of either sound or light, and this was it. The subject lay down on his back on a table and Charcot, whispering in the dark, and lightly touching the man's forehead and eyelids with his fingers, sank the subject into such a state of deep catalepsy, that he lay rigid as a bar of iron. Presently, James records in his official report, previously submitted to scientific societies, there came from the man's right foot and right hand, a soft, wavering bluish emanation and from his left foot and left hand, a wraith of orange-colored light.

The two scientists had with them a little wooden doll, an East Indian fetich, perhaps six inches long. They saturated this in the ghostly light flowing from the subject's body. Then they groped their way twenty-five or thirty feet to the far end of the long dark cell and, with a pin, they pricked the doll in the right foot. "Stop" shouted the subject. "You are hurting my foot." He cried out again when they pricked the doll's right fingers.

Professor James ventured no theory in explanation of this weird and mysterious business. But then and subsequently—in fact, away back in the days of alchemists—there were many occult, and a few quasi-scientific observations about radiations from the human body. In fact, it is supposed to have given rise to the picturing of halos on the heads of saints. We do not yet know in Hamlet's phrase, what really is "the very coinage" of the human brain, but science patiently pursues its never-ending quest into the mystery of the mind and man's march along the road to immortality.

In the mysterious ritual of hairdo even angels fear to tread, and men—men stand silent as on a peak in Darien. If your hair is turning gray before its time, go to your doctor and ask him about Vitamin B-sub-X. The chemists have been working quite a lot of magic with this derivative of the Vitamin B complex. They have fed it to rodents with silvery coats and promptly the little creatures grew coats as black as coal. Experiments have not been made with human beings as yet, that is to say no attempt has been made to change gray hair back into a youthful shade—but the chemists say that logic would suggest that it can be done.

Gray hair has been attributed to worry, to heredity and to a variety of other causes, but research has actually disclosed that the absence of Vitamin B-sub-X causes the hair to turn gray, and a sufficiency of the element will restore the original color, in experimental animals at least.

For countless ages, hair has been deep in the domain of primitive magic. In Swabia, clipped hair must be placed where neither the sun nor the moon may ever shine upon it. In Poland shorn locks must be buried in a bag under the threshold. In the Solomon islands, any warrior who gets a hair-cut is in terror until his hair is buried in some secluded spot. Should a single lock fall into the hands of an enemy, the shorn warrior would be just a push-over. Moss-covered centuries meld with the tumultuous present.

We are the "sum of all our yesterdays," and excavators, delving and digging in the deep crypts of medicine and law, find the same weird beginnings of much that now seems simple and rational. The truth is, one could lump medicine law and hairdressing together away back near the starting post. And, in parting, don't forget that one single silken hair from a frail flapper's head has exactly one-half the strength of structural steel. Maybe the savages knew their stuff when they picked hair as the symbol of strength. Listen carefully and even now you can hear the throb of jungle drums among the skyscrapers.

• LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

By Ernest R. And Gladys H. Groves
(Noted Authorities on Marriage Relations)

DARE TO QUESTION YOUR OWN LOVE AND THAT OF YOUR LOVER

"Is this love?" the young girls ask, all eager and earnest. "I am crazy about him and he feels that way about me. But how can we tell if it's the real thing?"

"This is love," the older boys say, definite and serious. "But how do we know if it will last?"

Some would scorn those who "do not know their own mind." Many believe that, if love is real and lasting, it brings its own certainty with it. "Being sure is being right," they would say, and, "to doubt is to deny there is any love."

Yet only unthinking people, or those so optimistic they run to meet Ol' Man Trouble and welcome him as a friend, can never doubt. The surest of their love might seem to be the ones who jump into marriage after knowing each other three days, three weeks or three months or so. Yet these snap romances are notoriously short-lived. "We married in a hurry, and then we hated in a hurry," is often the secret verdict of those so "sure" of their love that they rushed into marriage.

Actually, those who are more truly sure do not try to prove their love by letting themselves be stampeded into marriage. They dare to question their own love and that of the lover.

The difference between a passing love, or infatuation, and a lasting love that grows deeper with time, cannot be told at the first breath of passion or passion-with-love. Even if we could separate physical desire from personality craving, it would never be easy to tell in advance whether any particular John and Mary know each other well enough to be able to count on staying in love.

They may not even know themselves. Mary may develop new interests, a different kind of attractiveness that means nothing to John; or he may become so unlike what he now is that to Mary he is practically a stranger. Only by letting their love grow slowly, while they test out their own possibilities of growth, can John and Mary find out if "This is love," and if it will last.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

Play Affects Child's Behavior

Play is the business of a child's life. A most serious business for him and he goes about it in just that spirit. Often children play for hours without a sound of laughter to break the tension. When they build a house they build in earnest, and to them their work looks good. When they play tag they try hard to escape being "it," and feel badly enough when they are caught. When they play a gun game they are just as earnest and they are as rought and hard as they know how to be. The spirit of them is deadly earnest.

I believe that a child's play has a direct influence on his thinking and his behavior. If a child plays a rough-and-tumble game, shouting, "Bang, bang, you're dead," and sticking a toy pistol into his playmate's face, he is not learning to be a considerate, kindly, friendly sort of person. He is not learning to respect other people's feelings and rights. That, in my opinion, is not good training.

Guns Don't Make 'He Men'

There is no excuse for those who give little children toy guns in the hope of making them "he men." That's a silly term. You can't "he" a man any more than he has been "he'd" by nature, but you certainly can make him a more intelligent man by offering the experiences that elevate his thinking. Such games as G-men, Bandits, Cops and Robbers are not likely to do that.

Unfortunately we have crime in the world. Unfortunately we have to train men and women to defend society against such criminals who work against the general good. But that is no child's play. It is the serious and most unpleasant duty of experienced, thoroughly-trained people.

Beauty Versus Sordiness

There seems to be little sense in the idea so prevalent today in art and literature and children's games that all that is sordid, mean ugly, nasty in human existence is to be praised. Books filled with filthy words; stories about dirty, miserable, helpless people; pictures of all kinds of ugly things, sloppy of line and composition—these are offered as art. Added to them are these children's game that are played with guns, uniforms and clubs. It just doesn't make sense. We will have to do better for the children. There is beauty enough to go around and they ought to be shown it in art, literature, music and games.

Into the basket with the "he men" idea I would put the ugly things of the art field. I would rather see a "pretty picture, read a "pretty" story, listen to a simple melody, than have any part of these "strong, virile, modern," things masquerading for a little time as art.

Don't be frightened by those who look down their noses at the simple beauty of life and its works. Don't listen to the unthinking ones who talk about "he men" in relation to children's play. I could name a long list of fine men who knew gentleness and loved peace and cherished beauty. And so can you.

To keep peace in the family, and maintain justice between brothers and sisters, is a difficult task. Be guided by Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Send for it enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—James F. Grady, a quiet-voiced fellow with wavy, pepper-and-salt hair, has started a revolution that's spreading to every government department. Before it's over, it probably will create more good will than all the pork barrel, relief and federal aid programs ever conceived.

What he's doing is showing the federal agencies how to streamline their correspondence; how to take out stuffed-shirt expressions, delete the $5 words and turn out letters that sound like a pat on the back rather than the pompous high-handedness of some minor official who's so self-important he doesn't realize the taxpayer butters his bread.

Scarcely A Day

If you think this isn't important, ask your congressman. There are 2,500,000 pieces of government mail pouring out of Washington every day and it's estimated that 1,000,000 of these are personal letters. There isn't a day that government officials don't get complaints.

Often, it isn't the employe's fault, as in the case of the home owner who went into hiding when told his loan was to be reamortized and nearly fainted from relief when he found he was to be given 20 years to repay instead of 10.

After three years of working with government agents, Grady finds that even before any instructions in letter-writing have been given, their letters stack up favorably with those of most private industries.

Yet, in one department alone, he found examples of letters that were contradictory, insulting, commanding, impertinent, weakly apologetic, arbitrary, offensive, insincere, grudging, critical, petulant and indifferent.

Hoopskirts First

One of the first things the letter writers learn is to get rid of the "hoopskirts": "Your letter was duly received. . . . We beg to advise that. . . . As of even date herewith. . . . Your letter of the 15th instant, ultimo, proximo. . . . I beg to hand you herewith. . . ." and so on and so on.

A by-product of Grady's program has been economy, but he doesn't emphasize that. In one agency a survey disclosed that letters cost 75 cents apiece to prepare and mail. If this average holds for the 1,000,000 a day that go out, that's $750,000 a day for Uncle Sam's Washington letters.

Grady became an expert on epistles by accident. An administrator in a California college, he was asked to assist in organization of the Land Bank office at Berkeley when it mushroomed almost overnight from 50 to 1,400 employes. In coordinating the work, he found employes needed most some instruction in writing effective letters. Out of the conferences came Grady's plans for training and supervision. The Land Bank governor asked Grady to come to Washington as a special assistant. That was three years ago.

Since then, the demand for Grady has been far in excess of the supply. He has worked in the field for the Land Bank, in Farm Security, in the census bureau, weather bureau and now is launched on circuit of other agriculture department agencies, startwith the soil conservation division. He has lecture courses at the American university. And he is co-author with Milton Hall of a book called "Writing Effective Government Letters."

If you get a letter from the government that sounds as if it came from an official in a Victorian counting house, or makes you wonder why you have to pay taxes for salaries for smart-alecky nincompoops, just be patient. The Grady revolution will get 'em yet.

STAMP NEWS

UNITED STATES POSTAGE

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, the man who gave America its marches, is honored on the 2-cent stamp, above, released at Washington, D. C., May 3. The stamp is the second of the composers group of the U. S. Famous Americans series.

The "March King's" music is 100 per cent American, unmarred by jungle rhythms or European lightness. It is strong, vigorous, melodic. Although Sousa composed 10 operas, 15 orchestral suites, 100 songs, a cantata and 100 miscellaneous numbers, he is remembered chiefly for his 142 marches.

Sousa's life spanned three major American wars. He was a boy when the Grand Review of the Union Army was held in Washington after the Civil War. His band headed the Dewey parade in New York in 1898. And he won the rank of lieutenant-commander for his work at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station during the World War.

He was crashing cymbals in the U. S. Marine Band at 13, directing it at 26. He served under five Presidents before resigning to form his own band.

His best known compositions include "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Washington Post," "El Capitan," and "High School Cadets." He wrote two novels, a children's story, invented a musical instrument, the sousaphone.

250,000,000 Germans

For the third time in 70 years, the German legions tramp through Sedan.

The first time, Bismarck came in person to dictate terms of surrender to Napoleon III.

The second time, the German wave swept across it in 1914, and retreated from it in 1918 just before armistice halted the war and advancing Americans graciously stepped aside and gave French troops the honor of reoccupying the torn town.

Now comes the third wave, and again the German columns surge onward through Sedan and into France.

During the preliminaries to the present war, Hitler managed to give the impression that he wanted no more trouble with France.

True, he had written in "Mein Kampf" of "a decisive, active settlement with France," and "our eternal struggle with France." But he seemed to imply that he would forego that if France would stand idly by and see all Europe west of the Rhine subjugated to the German yoke. Otherwise, settlement with France by the method of 1870 and 1914.

His policies, Hitler wrote, would be acknowledged correct if, within a century, today's 80,000,000 Germans have become 250,000,000 Germans on the continent of Europe.

So far the record has been one of complete success. Thirty millions of conquered people have passed beneath the German yoke. They have become helots, condemned to a perpetually inferior place by a racial order that considers itself superior.

Conquered Poles have been uprooted and sent to Germany for virtual forced labor, while their fruitful farms are awarded to Wurtemburgers plucked with equal ruthlessness from their ancestral homes and sent to consolidate the Polish conquest.

Thus the picture of a Germanized Europe becomes clearer day by day. A central-European German Reich, inhabited by 250,000,000 Germans of a self-designated "superior" race. A cluster of conquered provinces around its edge, inhabited by "inferior" races, who would be ruled politically and economically from Berlin, allowed some fragments of their own culture, perhaps, but never admitted as equals of Germans, economically, politically, or socially.

Such a Europe, once established, could not fail to influence the rest of the world at every point of contact. It would be as though a vast new planet should suddenly be tossed into the midst of the solar system. Its new gravitational pull would affect the course of every body in the system, setting up new influences, paths and orbits. That is why the United States cannot be indifferent to the fate of Europe.

FARM INCOME

At Washington the government estimates that despite the restrictive effects of the war on agriculture, farm income is a little higher this year than it was last year. This is rather remarkable in view of the fact that the war is costing agriculture a minimum of $10,000,000 a month, according to estimates, and that some products are very low in price.

There has been a 123 per cent rise in cotton exports but aside from that the war has not stimulated agricultural exports from the United States in any category. Even cotton is not expected to hold its advantage much longer. Countries that can buy it for cash are conserving their dollar exchange and will reduce their purchases whenever possible.

Countries such as the Scandinavian nations which were purchasing large quantities of cotton for transshipment are now blockaded. And with American shipping barred from the war zones, the vessels of Norway, Sweden and Denmark eliminated and the Mediterranean area likely to be closed any day, there may be no market for American crop exports except those most desperately needed by the allies.

The export of tobacco since the war started has declined 70 per cent, the export of wheat and flour has fallen off 72 per cent and shipments of fruit abroad are off 24 per cent. There has also been a marked write-down of pork and pork products exports as well.

It is possible that exports of some of these farm commodities will eventually pick up, but probably not soon enough to have much effect on 1940 farm income.

UP TO THE OLD TRICK

And Germany is still employing her long-time practice of making battlefields of other nation's lands. She fought the war of 1870 in France. She fought the first World war in Belgium and France; and as soon as she saw that war was about to be carried into Germany, she called the war off. The allies foolishly let her work it that way. Now Germany is making a battlefield of Scandinavia.

Just for a change, some war of Germany's starting should be carried into the heart of Germany and fought out there.

Shirley Temple is eleven years old, the little darling, and in another year will be old enough to become engaged to George Jessell.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—When you compare the money Uncle Sam has been sending out to the states with the money he has been getting back from them you can begin to see where all those deficits come from.

Loans and grants made to and in the states and territories since the start of 1934, covering everything from farm benefits to relief, highways, public works and old age benefits total just a little more than $42,000,000,000.

In the same period, internal revenue receipts from those states and territories ran to just a little less than $25,000,000,000.

From only six states did the government collect more in taxes than it paid out in loans and grants. In four states it distributed more money than the total assessed value of taxable property. Of the $42,000,000,000 it sent out, nearly 27 were in the form of outright grants; the rest, made up of loans, is (presumably, anyhow) mostly recoverable.

FHA Ire 'Way Up

Federal Housing authority officials are irked because a weekly paper stated FHA is getting stuck with too much property on insured mortgages that went sour. Currently, says FHA, its losses on foreclosures are averaging only 16/100 of one per cent. The insurance fund that covers losses is building up nicely, and is figured capable of standing losses running as high as 10 per cent

General opinion is that FHA is plenty safe—unless another 1932 comes along. In '32, it is recalled, private lenders got stuck with oodles of real estate on which they'd loaned up to 50 per cent. FHA loans up to 80 and 90.

Although politicians don't see how Wendell Willkie can actually get any important delegate strength, the Willkie camp apparently means business. At any rate, Mr. Willkie is starting to organize his own brain trust.

260 Men Defend Alaska

After years of neglect, the government is suddenly realizing Alaska is, or ought to be, highly important in the nation's defense system.

At this moment, the total United States defense force in Alaska consists of 260 infantrymen stationed at Chilcoot Barracks, near Skagway, and half a dozen naval planes at Sitka. If anyone wants to worry about a "Russian menace," strategists point out that Russia has been fortifying various spots within easy striking distance of Alaska, having recently put a submarine base on Bering island, which is only 260 miles away.

Any hostile force which seized Alaska, it is added, would be within fairly handy bombing range of northwestern United States—and, as Delegate Anthony Dimond of Alaska says, could with a few incendiary bombs take an awful bite out of our vast timber reserves in the state of Washington.

The navy now is building two big air bases, at Sitka and Kodiak, which will probably be ready by fall. Army is putting up a $4,000,000 cold weather experimental air station at Fairbanks, and is asking $12,000,000 for a huge air base at Anchorage. House of representatives killed this, item, but the senate may restore it shortly.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, May 18.—Dear Staff: 20th Century-Fox's sudden firing of Shirley Temple (her pay-off amounts to that) looms as a remarkable example of the film industry's lack of business gumption.

I said in my column the other day: "There's nothing wrong with Temple that good pictures won't cure." But high officials of her company, pointing with alarm to failure of her recent films to attain big profits, are blaming everyone but themselves.

The studio habit of hastily discharging or buying-off stars whose pictures aren't piling up vast profits is ridiculous. Time after time such firing has boomeranged. Look at Janet Gaynor's sensational comeback after being let by the same company that is now releasing Shirley. Look at Marlene Dietrich's return to fame.

M.-G.-M. has the sensible point of view. When top stars at that studio begin to slide, L. B. Mayer blames himself and his associates. "We're not giving our star proper support," he says. "Let's get together; let's provide better vehicles!" L. B. and company did that with Joan Crawford and Greta Garbo when, had these actresses been employed by other studios, they'd probably have been "bought off."

Big businessmen in other industries with whom I've talked laugh at Hollywood's "fire 'em" attitude. They laugh because they know that a commodity, built to popularity at great cost in time and money, should be clung to and helped when its tide ebbs. If the product was worth building in the first place, it's worth saving. How would it look for the Coca-Cola company suddenly cease making that drink and turn to lemon sodas, or for Wrigley to stop pouring chewing gum into the mouths of the world and manufacture glue?

Shirley is a popular commodity; her name is a trademark. Maybe thousands of people have lost the habit of seeing her pictures,, but she still has millions of fans who would love to see her in good movies. But in bad ones—well, Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in "Parnell" proved that the biggest stars can't salvage poor films.

—JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dead "Big Businessman:" For once we agree with you. You know, of course, that Shirley's studio feebly declares she's at the "awkward age," and gives that as the reason good stories can't be found. Nonsense! There was never a more "awkward aged" girl than Jane Withers two years ago—but stories were found for Janie.

We'll lay a wager: If Shirley makes a picture for Universal under Joe Pasternack, it'll be a wow—and Joe will move further ahead of his producer-rivals who get more publicity but haven't his ability.

But enough of Temple; there's more to tell: For instance, if MGM really wants to know Fred Astaire's whereabouts, he's deep-sea fishing off the coast of Mexico with Randy Scott. Randy, by the way, is burned over local cracks as to why Jon Hall replaced in "Kit Carson." The lowdown is that Scott refused the role because the producers wouldn't promise him a leading lady with a box office name.

The "Gracie Allen for President" campaign is proving a headache. Seems plenty of her listeners no likee making light of such a serious issue. Did you know that the mustache Robert Taylor wears in "Waterloo Bridge" is a fake? He grew a real one but Barbara Stanwyck Taylor hated it, so he shaved it off. That New York producing bug is not dead; Joel McCrea will star in a film to be made by Rowland Brown in the East this summer.

Censor boards in Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland have warned Hollywood they'll ban pictures dealing with the baby adoption racket, which'll be a slap in the face for two studios which had planned such films. Spencer Tracy has 35 feet of the very first motion picture, showing Thomas A. Edison's friend, George Ott, in a sneeze. The film was a gift from Edison's widow, and a valuable museum piece. Hey boss, who's Cary Grant phoning in Honolulu?

Funny about Lucille Ball: Ordered by her studio to put on ten pounds, she mixed diets and took off two. Bing Crosby received word yesterday that war conditions may bar shipment of race horses he purchased in Australia. Rita Hayworth is strutting a revival of the "Alice Blue Gown."

We hear that Jimmy Walker, whose NY radio show is clicking, will vacation here. Also, that the glum expression of John Garfield's phiz is due to the fact that he lost his own dough in the short-lived stage play, "Heavenly Express." Tom Mix has been offered a tent show at the NY World's Fair.

Here's a giggle to finish the day: A few months ago, Elinor Troy, the six-foot show girl, flew East in a chartered plane to wed Tommy Manville. She's returning to Hollywood, the wedding having failed to take place. The "little" lady is making the trip back in a brand new $2,800 roadster—provided by Manville!

From Brussels comes the report that parachuting Nazis landed in the royal palace gardens. No mention is made as to how many violets were crushed.

The coast guard finds no icebergs in the Atlantic this season, leaving it to be assumed they have all fallen prey to U-boats.

Add war atrocities: Nazis in Holland order all carrier pigeons killed, presumably to make pot pie for hungry troops just in from the blitzkrieg.

The thing may never come up in traffic court, but we see by the late editions that the Nazi war horse just drove into France's Sedan.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Perhaps it might be a good idea to send Duke university's famous psychologist, Professor J. B. Rhine, over to Europe to try some of his telepathy experiments on Stalin, Hitler and a few others who can make all the difference in the world in the happiness of a large part of mankind. Perhaps Dr. Rhine could read their minds and let us know what to expect. He has certainly done some amazing things in the fascinating and mysterious field of the human mind, as Mr. William R. Hearst pointed out the other day.

Great work is being done in that field. The great Dr. Crile of Cleveland discovered that there is an emanation from the substance of the human brain like a ghostly light. Drs. Sheerington and Adrian of England have been pioneers in exploring the over-lapping domain of electricity and light. But there is so much yet to be discovered, as the late William James pointed out in his book, "Telepathy and the Subliminal Self."

Professor James became interested in the experiments of that strange, half-sinister, half-mediaeval scientist, Charcot, who, in Paris, was carrying on some amazing experiments in hypnotism. Professor James went to Paris and joined in a number of experiments with Charcot, culminating in an uncanny adventure in a cavernous, underground chamber at midnight.

Charcot, a swarthy, burning-eyed, be-whiskered Svengali of a fellow, and Professor James required a room removed from all possible penetration of either sound or light, and this was it. The subject lay down on his back on a table and Charcot, whispering in the dark, and lightly touching the man's forehead and eyelids with his fingers, sank the subject into such a state of deep catalepsy, that he lay rigid as a bar of iron. Presently, James records in his official report, previously submitted to scientific societies, there came from the man's right foot and right hand, a soft, wavering bluish emanation and from his left foot and left hand, a wraith of orange-colored light.

The two scientists had with them a little wooden doll, an East Indian fetich, perhaps six inches long. They saturated this in the ghostly light flowing from the subject's body. Then they groped their way twenty-five or thirty feet to the far end of the long dark cell and, with a pin, they pricked the doll in the right foot. "Stop" shouted the subject. "You are hurting my foot." He cried out again when they pricked the doll's right fingers.

Professor James ventured no theory in explanation of this weird and mysterious business. But then and subsequently—in fact, away back in the days of alchemists—there were many occult, and a few quasi-scientific observations about radiations from the human body. In fact, it is supposed to have given rise to the picturing of halos on the heads of saints. We do not yet know in Hamlet's phrase, what really is "the very coinage" of the human brain, but science patiently pursues its never-ending quest into the mystery of the mind and man's march along the road to immortality.

In the mysterious ritual of hairdo even angels fear to tread, and men—men stand silent as on a peak in Darien. If your hair is turning gray before its time, go to your doctor and ask him about Vitamin B-sub-X. The chemists have been working quite a lot of magic with this derivative of the Vitamin B complex. They have fed it to rodents with silvery coats and promptly the little creatures grew coats as black as coal. Experiments have not been made with human beings as yet; that is to say no attempt has been made to change gray hair back into a youthful shade—but the chemists say that logic would suggest that it can be done.

Gray hair has been attributed to worry, to heredity and to a variety of other causes, but research has actually disclosed that the absence of Vitamin B-sub-X causes the hair to turn gray, and a sufficiency of the element will restore the original color, in experimental animals at least.

For countless ages, hair has been deep in the domain of primitive magic. In Swabia, clipped hair must be placed where neither the sun nor the moon may ever shine upon it. In Poland shorn locks must be buried in a bag under the threshold. In the Solomon islands, any warrior who gets a hair-cut is in terror until his hair is buried in some secluded spot. Should a single lock fall into the hands of an enemy, the shorn warrior would be just a push-over. Moss-covered centuries meld with the tumultuous present.

We are the "sum of all our yesterdays," and excavators, delving and digging in the deep crypts of medicine and law, find the same weird beginnings of much that now seems simple and rational. The truth is, one could lump medicine law and hairdressing together away back near the starting post. And, in parting, don't forget that one single silken hair from a frail flapper's head has exactly one-half the strength of structural steel. Maybe the savages knew their stuff when they picked hair as the symbol of strength. Listen carefully and even now you can hear the throb of jungle drums among the skyscrapers.

• LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

By Ernest R. And Gladys H. Groves
(Noted Authorities on Marriage Relations)

DARE TO QUESTION YOUR OWN LOVE AND THAT OF YOUR LOVER

"Is this love?" the young girls ask, all eager and earnest. "I am crazy about him and he feels that way about me. But how can we tell if it's the real thing?"

"This is love," the older boys say, definite and serious. "But how do we know if it will last?"

Some would scorn those who "do not know their own mind." Many believe that, if love is real and lasting, it brings its own certainty with it. "Being sure is being right," they would say, and, "to doubt is to deny there is any love."

Yet only unthinking people, or those so optimistic they run to meet Ol' Man Trouble and welcome him as a friend, can never doubt. The surest of their love might seem to be the ones who jump into marriage after knowing each other three days, three weeks or three months or so. Yet these snap romances are notoriously short-lived. "We married in a hurry, and then we hated in a hurry," is often the secret verdict of those so "sure" of their love that they rushed into marriage.

Actually, those who are more truly sure do not try to prove their love by letting themselves be stampeded into marriage. They dare to question their own love and that of the lover.

The difference between a passing love, or infatuation, and a lasting love that grows deeper with time, cannot be told at the first breath of passion or passion-with-love. Even if we could separate physical desire from personality craving, it would never be easy to tell in advance whether any particular John and Mary know each other well enough to be able to count on staying in love.

They may not even know themselves. Mary may develop new interests, a different kind of attractiveness that means nothing to John; or he may become so unlike what he now is that to Mary he is practically a stranger. Only by letting their love grow slowly, while they test out their own possibilities of growth, can John and Mary find out if "This is love," and if it will last.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

Play Affects Child's Behavior

Play is the business of a child's life. A most serious business for him and he goes about it in just that spirit. Often children play for hours without a sound of laughter to break the tension. When they build a house they build in earnest, and to them their work looks good. When they play tag they try hard to escape being "it," and feel badly enough when they are caught. When they play a gun game they are just as earnest and they are as rought and hard as they know how to be. The spirit of them is deadly earnest,

I believe that a child's play has a direct influence on his thinking and his behavior. If a child plays a rough-and-tumble game, shouting, "Bang, bang, you're dead," and sticking a toy pistol into his playmate's face, he is not learning to be a considerate, kindly, friendly sort of person. He is not learning to respect other people's feelings and rights. That, in my opinion, is not good training.

Guns Don't Make 'He Men'

There is no excuse for those who give little children toy guns in the hope of making them "he men." That's a silly term. You can't "he" a man any more than he has been "he'd" by nature, but you certainly can make him a more intelligent man by offering the experiences that elevate his thinking. Such games as G-men, Bandits, Cops and Robbers are not likely to do that.

Unfortunately we have crime in the world. Unfortunately we have to train men and women to defend society against such criminals who work against the general good. But that is no child's play. It is the serious and most unpleasant duty of experienced, thoroughly-trained people.

Beauty Versus Sordiness

There seems to be little sense in the idea so prevalent today in art and literature and children's games that all that is sordid, mean ugly, nasty in human existence is to be praised. Books filled with filthy words; stories about dirty, miserable, helpless people; pictures of all kinds of ugly things, sloppy of line and composition—these are offered as art. Added to them are these children's game that are played with guns, uniforms and clubs. It just doesn't make sense. We will have to do better for the children. There is beauty enough to go around and they ought to be shown it in art, literature, music and games.

Into the basket with the "he men" idea I would put the ugly things of the art field. I would rather see a "pretty picture, read a "pretty" story, listen to a simple melody, than have any part of these "strong, virile, modern," things masquerading for a little time as art.

Don't be frightened by those who look down their noses at the simple beauty of life and its works. Don't listen to the unthinking ones who talk about "he men" in relation to children's play. I could name a long list of fine men who knew gentleness and loved peace and cherished beauty. And so can you.

To keep peace in the family, and maintain justice between brothers and sisters, is a difficult task. Be guided by Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Send for it enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—James F. Grady, a quiet-voiced fellow with wavy, pepper-and-salt hair, has started a revolution that's spreading to every government department. Before it's over, it probably will create more good will than all the pork barrel, relief and federal aid programs ever conceived.

What he's doing is showing the federal agencies how to streamline their correspondence; how to take out stuffed-shirt expressions, delete the $5 words and turn out letters that sound like a pat on the back rather than the pompous high-handedness of some minor official who's so self-important he doesn't realize the taxpayer butters his bread.

Scarcely A Day

If you think this isn't important, ask your congressman. There are 2,300,000 pieces of government mail pouring out of Washington every day and it's estimated that 1,000,000 of these are personal letters. There isn't a day that government officials don't get complaints.

Often, it isn't the employe's fault, as in the case of the home owner who went into hiding when told his loan was to be reamortized and nearly fainted from relief when he found he was to be given 20 years to repay instead of 10.

After three years of working with government agents, Grady finds that even before any instructions in letter-writing have been given, their letters stack up favorably with those of most private industries.

Yet, in one department alone, he found examples of letters that were contradictory, insulting, commanding, impertinent, weakly apologetic, arbitrary, offensive, insincere, grudging, critical, petulant and indifferent.

Hoopskirts First

One of the first things the letter writers learn is to get rid of the "hoopskirts": "Your letter was duly received. . . . We beg to advise that. . . . As of even date herewith. . . . Your letter of the 15th instant, ultimo, proximo. . . . I beg to hand you herewith. . . ." and so on and so on.

A by-product of Grady's program has been economy, but he doesn't emphasize that. In one agency a survey disclosed that letters cost 75 cents apiece to prepare and mail. If this average holds for the 1,000,000 a day that go out, that's $750,000 a day for Uncle Sam's Washington letters.

Grady became an expert on epistles by accident. An administrator in a California college, he was asked to assist in organization of the Land Bank office at Berkeley when it mushroomed almost overnight from 50 to 1,400 employes. In coordinating the work, he found employes needed most some instruction in writing effective letters. Out of the conferences came Grady's plans for training and supervision. The Land Bank governor asked Grady to come to Washington as a special assistant. That was three years ago.

Since then, the demand for Grady has been far in excess of the supply. He has worked in the field for the Land Bank, in Farm Security, in the census bureau, weather bureau and now is launched on circuit of other agriculture department agencies, start-with the soil conservation division. He has lecture courses at the American university. And he is co-author with Milton Hall of a book called "Writing Effective Government Letters."

If you get a letter from the government that sounds as if it came from an official in a Victorian counting house, or makes you wonder why you have to pay taxes for salaries for smart-alecky nincompoops, just be patient. The Grady revolution will get 'em yet.

LARGEST ANIMAL IS TRACED TO TEXAS AREA

AUSTIN, Tex., May 18.—(AP)—Discovery of the world's largest dinosaur track, a 54-inch imprint, was reported today by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of a statewide WPA-University of Texas paleontological survey.

The imprint is that of the largest of the dinosaurs, the herb-eating sauropod or brachiosauras, a four-legged creature which weighted about 50 tons, Dr. Sellards said.

Near Glen Rose on the Paluxy river the track has been dyked to prevent destruction by a possible flash flood. flood.

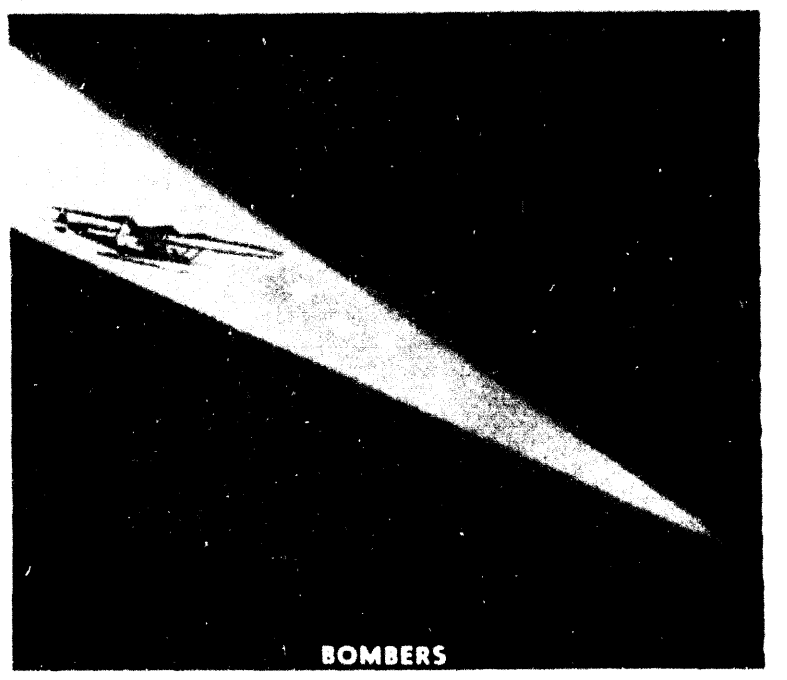
PROPAGANDA

Germany's invasions follow much the same pattern. Propagandists headed by Propaganda Minister Goebbels (above) help prepare for them, assert they were brought on by threats to German interests.



BOMBERS

Zero hour, between midnight and dawn, brings out swarms of bombers which try to paralyze opposition by striking at communication lines. A major objective during the first hours of the invasion of Holland was the Rotterdam airport. Usually the defense has been weakened by activities of Nazi agents or sympathizers. Excuse for action against lowlands was that the allies had planned to attack Germany through them.

Are the dictators of Europe setting the stage for the coming anti-Christ? A large number who did not hear this sermon a few Sunday nights ago, as well as many who did, have requested that it be repeated. The pastor has decided to repeat it this morning at 11 o'clock. The sermon is not available in manuscript form, hence cannot be supplied to those requesting it. Come with note-book and pencil and take down the Scripture reference and study them at home. The Bible is the book of the hour, as it has always been. The "sure word of prophecy" is shining as a light in a dark place. All other lights are failing and many have gone out completely.

Mr. Black has returned from a trip to Oxford, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn. The choir will bring special music numbers. A record attendance in Sunday school, the B. T. U. and Brotherhoods is expected. You are always welcome to all our services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Auburn Avenue And North Second

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 19, 1940. The golden text is: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (I Cor. 15:53).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life" (I John 2).

The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The human thought must free itself from self-imposed materiality and bondage. The science of being reveals man and immortality as based on spirit." (p. 191).

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth and Glenmar Sts.
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

This Sunday is Trinity Sunday. On Whitsunday—last Sunday we celebrated the last act in the drama of redemption. Trinity completes the cycles of festivals of the Christian year that began with Christmas. The cry of the ages has been answered. God bowed the heavens and came down; He that sat between the Cherubin showed Himself. Jesus of Nazareth showed us the Father; He showed us what God is like, and the revelation that He made of God from Bethlehem to Calvary is—God is Love. On Easter day he showed us love triumphant over sin and death and on Ascension Day He carried our human nature to the right hand of God, and through it on Whitsunday Day the Holy Spirit descended accomplishing the eternal purpose of God—the union of man with God in the mystical body of Christ—the Holy Catholic church—the new Israel.

Services on Trinity Sunday are as follows: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a. m., Church school at 9:30 a. m., and a choral Eucharist with sermon at 10:45 a. m. Evensong will be said and sermon preached at 4 p. m. in St. David's, Rayville. The only service during the week is on Thrusday at 9 a. m. It is the feast of Corpus Christi. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated.

The church is open daily from 7:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate. You are welcome.

"It is said that some years ago, when the statue of George Peabody, erected in one of the thoroughfares of London, was unveiled, the sculptor Story was asked to speak. Twice he touched the statue with his hand, and twice he said, 'That is my speech' That is my speech!'"

What a suggestion to Christians! Even so should they allow actions, their consecrated lives, speak of the Saviour they profess.

Public worship of the day begins with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Message delivered at 11 a.m. The subject will be "The Second Mile." Christian Endeavor at 6:45. PIANO TOURNEY WILL BE HELD HERE

Miss Elizabeth Gest Is Named Judge Of The Concerts

The Monroe unit of the National Piano Playing tournament will be held May 23-25 in the music building at Northeast Junior college instead of at the Methodist church annex as previously anounced, Mrs. Rowena Goss, general chiarman, said Saturday.

Miss Elizabeth Gest of Philadelphia, Pa., has been named judge in the contest. A pianist-teacher of wide reputation, Miss Gest has studied at Peabody Institute in Baltimore and in New York and Philadelphia.

The judge of the local tournament will arrive early this week. A lecturer of note, Miss Gest has addressed groups at New York university, Julliard School of Music in New York, Villanova colege, and the Southern Music Educators conference.

Miss Gest will lecture here in the fine arts building at the junior college Thursday at 7:15 p.m. on "Types of Pupils and the Problems They Present."

Several hundred student pianists of Monroe and a score of surrounding towns have already enrolled to play for Miss Gest in their efforts to win places upon the district, state, or national honor rolls of piano pupils of the United States this year. The tournament is being sponsored by the Monroe Chapter of the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

LARGEST ANIMAL IS TRACED TO TEXAS AREA

AUSTIN, Tex., May 18.—(AP)—Discovery of the world's largest dinosaur track, a 54-inch imprint, was reported today by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of a statewide WPA-University of Texas paleontological survey.

The imprint is that of the largest of the dinosaurs, the herb-eating sauropod or brachiosauras, a four-legged creature which weighted about 50 tons, Dr. Sellards said.

Near Glen Rose on the Paluxy river, the track has been dyked to prevent destruction by a possible flash flood. flood.

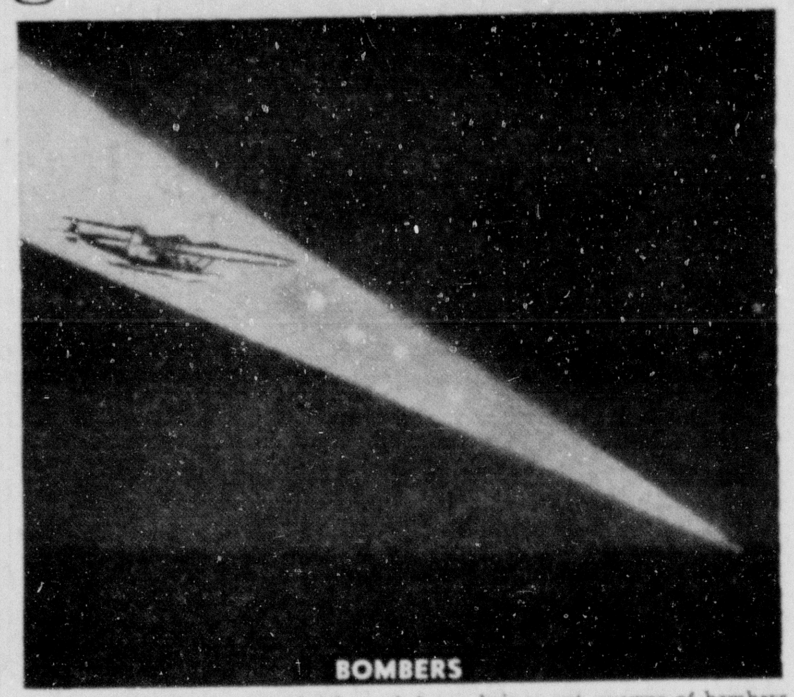
Blitzkrieg Means Lightning That Strikes In The Night

PROPAGANDA

Germany's invasions follow much the same pattern. Propagandists headed by Propaganda Minister Goebbels (above) help prepare for them, assert they were brought on by threats to German interests.



BOMBERS

Zero hour, between midnight and dawn, brings out swarms of bombers, which try to paralyze opposition by striking at communication lines. A major objective during the first hours of the invasion of Holland was the Rotterdam airport. Usually the defense has been weakened by activities of Nazi agents or sympathizers. Excuse for action against lowlands was that the allies had planned to attack Germany through them.

AIR SOLDIERS

Advance agents of army drop from skies to take strategic points—or are landed in transport planes if airports have been won. Dutch charged that sky soldiers wore Dutch army uniforms.

WHEELED BATTALIONS

Timed with traditional German precision, land forces strike in motorized columns. These roar ahead swiftly to catch defenders by surprise, to reinforce the advance agents, and to mop up opposition. While Nazi air soldiers were battling far in the interior of Holland, the land forces tried to clear a way to them by striking across the border at various points. To be successful, these forces have to break through fortified lines.

Are the dictators of Europe setting the stage for the coming anti-Christ? The sermon is not available in manuscript form, hence cannot be supplied to those requesting it. Come with note-book and pencil and take down the Scripture reference and study them at home. The Bible is the book of the hour, as it has always been. The "sure word of prophecy" is shining as a light in a dark place. All other lights are failing and many have gone out completely.

Mr. Black has returned from a trip to Oxford, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn. The choir will bring special music numbers. A record attendance in Sunday school, the B. T. U. and Brotherhoods is expected. You are always welcome to all our services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Auburn Avenue And North Second

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subjest of the lesson sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 19, 1940. The golden text is: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (I Cor. 15:53).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life" (I John 2).

The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The human thought must free itself from self-imposed materiality and bondage. The science of being reveals man and immortality as based on spirit." (p. 191).

GRACE CHURCH

Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

This Sunday is Trinity Sunday. On Whitsunday—last Sunday we celebrated the last act in the drama of redemption. Trinity completes the cycles of festivals of the Christian year that began with Christmas. The cry of the ages has been answered. God bowed the heavens and came down; He that sat between the Cherubin showed Himself. Jesus of Nazareth showed us the Father; He showed us what God is like, and the revelation that He made of God from Bethlehem to Calvary is—God is Love. On Easter day he showed us love triumphant over sin and death and on Ascension Day He carried our human nature to the right hand of God, and through it on Whitsunday Day the Holy Spirit descended accomplishing the eternal purpose of God—the union of man with God in the mystical body of Christ—the Holy Catholic church—the new Israel.

Services on Trinity Sunday are as follows: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a. m., Church school at 9:30 a. m., and a choral Eucharist with sermon at 10:45 a. m. Evensong will be said and sermon preached at 4 p. m. in St. David's, Rayville. The only service during the week is on Thursday at 9 a. m. It is the feast of Corpus Christi. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated.

The church is open daily from 7:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate. You are welcome.

What a suggestion to Christians! Even so should they allow actions, their consecrated lives, speak of the Saviour they profess.

Public worship of the day begins with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Message delivered at 11 a.m. The subject will be "The Second Mile." Christian Endeavor at 6:45. GERMANS ENGULF ANTWERP REGION

the city itself, with one-fourth of their 16 raiders reported shot down.

The British Royal Air force announced bombings of German oil supplies with heavy damage in Bergen, Norway, Bremen and Hamburg, Germany.

The angered Germans said the British killed 25 persons in Hamburg and 11 in Bremen in raids on non-military objectives. DNB, official German news agency, stated that these deaths would not go unavenged.

The British reported success also in aerial bombing of German columns west of Namur, Belgium, including destruction of bridges, railways and flying fields.

The stout-fighting Belgians said the forts at Namur and Liege were holding out even though the Germans already had passed them and captured Brussels and Antwerp.

Although the French told of still violent German assaults all day Saturday, they theorized that some of the great fire-throwing German tanks which lead the charge had dropped back for refueling.

Some inkling that perhaps the Germans were preparing to draw on their second wind was given in a German report that "pacification" of The Netherlands, nearing completion, would release another 800,000 Nazi troops for the surge into France.

The British military spokesman who contended the Saturday situation certainly was no worse than Friday, while acknowledging that the Allies still were falling back, said the British and Belgian withdrawal in Belgium was taken to conform to the German advance in France.

Unaware of this strategy, the troops in Belgium were indignant at being ordered back, he said.

The military situation, although too fluid for exact definition, shaped up like this:

Belgium—Allies apparently determined to hang on in East and West Flanders; Germans in control elsewhere except for comparatively isolated opposition from the Liege and Namur forts; Antwerp occupied after cracking of its ring of forts in two places.

France—Germany driving into the triangle formed by the Aisne and Oise rivers, swinging westward and southward into France on the route toward Paris, possibly intent on a hydra-headed attack aimed at taking both Paris and the channel ports.

Netherlands—Nature of remaining resistance uncertain but confined to Zeeland province, probably slight as Germans announce seizure of Walcheren, Schouwen and South Beveland islands, all in Zeeland and north of Antwerp.

Although the Germans were elated at their capture of Antwerp in nine days, compared with the 66 required by the Kaiser's army in 1914, they still were not near the farthest points of German advance in the World War.

To duplicate that penetration, they would have to cut a gigantic slice from just south of Nieuport, Belgium, on the North sea, through Amiens, France, to the very suburbs of Paris near St. Denis and thence eastward across the Marne to the vicinity of Nancy.

Amid the glowing accounts of the war, the Nazi press turned beckoning eyes on Italy, the axis partner which so far has remained non-belligerent, and the Italian press was openly joyous in detailing German successes.

Some Italians kept watch on the Balkan situation as the influential Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, who often reflects Premier Mussolini's opinions, called attention to the "natural naval bases" on the Adriatic from Yugoslavia to Greece, and said today's safety depended on conditions on that shore.

NAZIS SWING WEST

PARIS, May 18.—(AP)—Speeding German columns swung west across France tonight toward the Oise valley—the road to Paris—meeting stiffened resistance from Frenchmen fighting under a new government headed by Premier Paul Reynaud and Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, World war "victor of Verdun."

The French high command's night communique said the Germans were "attacking in a westerly direction with powerful resources, despite considerable losses."

This was at the end of nine days of the battle in Belgium and northern France which fighters and war correspondents say is like nothing ever witnessed in history.

Today the Germans advanced to Guise, about 14 miles west of Vervins, and to Landrecies, about 12 miles west of Avesnes and some 85 miles east of the English channel.

Avesnes heretofore had been the western edge of the salient into the northern French plains, its lower edges well within 100 miles of Paris.

Far ahead of the main German forces, advanced units struck in all directions. Six German motorcycle soldiers who reached Laon, 25 miles south of Guise, were captured.

Other light units were reported to have reached Saint Quentin, 15 miles west of Guise. (It was in this vicinity, in a railroad car in the forest of Compiegne, that the World war armistice was agreed upon.)

German parachute soldiers roamed behind the French lines, but "these can have no effect on the general development of operations," declared a French war ministry spokesman.

The German objective in turning to the west appeared to be: First, to try to cut off the main French armies from the allied forces in Belgium; and, second, to reach the Oise valley.

The sectors of Guise and Landrecies lie about 20 miles within France from the Belgian border, near the headquarters of the Oise river and roughly 100 miles northeast of Paris.

Farther east, at the point of the triangle they have driven into France, the Germans were reported to have reached the Aisne in the Rethel sector, 30 miles south of the Belgian border where the French took their stand.

Most of the fury of the battle on the western front was concentrated in the Guise and Landrecies sectors. To the northwest in Belgium, where Brussels and Antwerp have been abandoned, and to the east on the Maginot line where German assaults have been repulsed, tonight's communique said: "Nothing of importance to report."

German bombers visited the Paris region this afternoon at the very moment Premier Reynaud was dropping a bombshell of his own with announcement of a cabinet shakeup, making himself war minister as well as premier, naming Marshal Petain vice-premier and George Mandel, former minister of colonies, minister of the interior.

The German squadron of 16 planes was reported to have bombed communication centers outside the capital, but lost four of their number in the attack.

A fleet of up to 3,000 German tanks, some of them 80-ton mammoths compared to the biggest French land battleships of 70 tons, battered the French lines around the pocket bulging into France's northern plains, while the Nazi air force blackened the skies.

Against these forces the French wheeled their mobile artillery, especially 75 milimeter guns, into action and massed their infantry, both outweighing the parallel German arms in numbers.

The battle was reported especially heavy tonight from the Sambre to the Aisne river on the west side of the pocket.

A war ministry at the southern extremity, he said, reached down to the Aisne river (there four words were censored).

The spokesman estimated that at least half of Germany's entire mechanized army had been thrown into the battle in northern France.

Only the formidable French 75's were able to penetrate the heavy armor of the biggest Nazi tanks and the French were said to be firing point blank at them with good effect.

Accompanied by masses of planes and followed by lighter units and infantry, great numbers of the German tanks struck through the Vervins region toward the Oise and through the Avesnes region toward the Sambre.

The main Nazi effort appeared to be in the Verins vicinity. The French there were pouring tons of artillery shells against the enemy tanks and were said to have brought up enough of their own tanks to match the Germans.

The French said the experience of the last few days had taught them how to deal with German tank thrusts.

JONES MAY SAVE STATE'S MILLIONS

organization of the state mineral board, the state would have benefitted in a much greater degree than was actually the case.

All of Louisiana is deemed a potential oil field. Many of its large navigable lakes and streams are already under lease. But, there yet remain to be developed Sabine lake, Cameron parish; White lake, Vermilion; Terrebonne bay, Terrebonne; Lake Raccourci, Lafourche; Barataria bay, Plaquemines; Caminada Bay, Lafourche and Jefferson; Bay Adams, Plaquemines; Lake Borgne, St. Bernard (in part Mississippi sound, (in part); Lake Kaouatchie, St. Charles; Lake Des Allemands, St. John; Grand lake, Iberia and St. Martin; Six Mile lake, St. Mary and St. Martin, (in part), and Lake Arthur, Jefferson Davis, Vermilion and Cameron.

Rivers and bayous in the coastal region are still open. This includes the Mississippi river, which has in its approximately 300 miles of length in Louisiana, only three small leases, covering about 18 miles, recorded against it. Oil prospectors along the bank of this stream use what is known as the directional method of drilling. The wells are drilled on shore and bottomed under the river.

Among the lakes already under lease are Lake Ponchartrain, Lake Maurepas and Lake Caddo. The state mineral board has a gentleman's agreement with the city of Shreveport not to lease for oil exploration the source of that city's water supply—Cross lake.

The biennial report of the state mineral board, just made public, shows that much better conditions inured to the state from a change in the manner of making mineral leases from the methods followed prior to creation of the board. Charles G. Laskey, Shreveport, independent oil operator, is chairman of the board. During the administrations of Governors Oscar K. Allen and James A. Noe, no limit was placed on the size of public areas leased for mineral exploitation. Leases ran as high as 400,000 and even 500,000 acres. The legal limit is now 10,000 acres and actual leases are for much smaller areas.

The average rental per acre is now $2.11; under the old system it was 10 cents. One lease signed by Governor Allen on January 23, 1936, covering 500,000 acres, brought a cash bonus of $50,000, another covering 400,000 acres, signed by Governor Allen on July 3, 1935, brought a $32,750 bonus, and another for 250,000 acres, signed by Governor James A. Noe, on February 7, 1936, brought a bonus of $75,000. Thus leases embracing 1,150,000 acres, brought the state $147,750, whereas the state mineral board required 103 leases to lease 246,746 acres in 1938 and 1939, and from them the state received in bonuses $1,041,099.68.

During his administration, Governor Huey P. Long made three mineral leases involving 70,049 acres for which the state received a bonus of $115,639.10. Governor Allen signed 31 leases involving a total acreage of 1,028,836. Governor James A. Noe, in office three months, approved 18 public mineral leases, involving 417,340 acres.

In actual practice, the lease system of the Allen and Noe administration called for large areas and small bonuses, whereas under the mineral board, as shown by its biennial report, it provided for small areas and large bonuses. Besides a three-year limit has been substituted for the old system of long leases, which prevents state mineral lands from being held for a long period of time without development.

Lease 318. Assigned to W. T. Burton by Governor Allen on July 5, 1935, covering in their entirety Lake Pontchartrain, Lake Maurepas and Lake Catherine, besides a one-mile strip around each of the three lakes; transferred by Burton to the Texas company and the Win or Lose Oil company, and retransferred by these concerns back to Burton; now being drilled.

Lease 188. Now being operated by the Texas company. Originally assigned to the Louisiana Land and Exploration company, includes Caillou bay and a part of Timbilier bay, extending gulfward to the limit of the state's domain. Producing from two salt domes, known as Caillou island and Lake Pelto domes. This lease is 12 years old and mineral board officials claim that those operating it have never exercised the right of selection, which they should have done long ago. This right, which is covered by a limited period of years, permits the lessee, after a certain fixed time, to select areas to be exploited and turn the remainder of the leased tract back to the state.

Lease 340, awarded by Governor James A. Noe to W. T. Burton on February 7, 1936. There is one producing well on this lease, which covers the maritime belt of Vermilion, Iberia, Terrebonne and St. Mary parishes. Some small portions of this maritime belt are covered by other leases, but these are also held by the Texas company, to whom Burton transferred Lease No. 340, embracing 250,000 acres. Burton retained a 1/24 override and subsequently split this override with the Win or Lose Oil company on the basis of 1/32 to the company and 1/96 to himself. No. 340 is a producing lease.

Lease 335, comprising 500,000 acres, executed to W. T. Burton by Governor Oscar A. Allen. This lease covers part of Orleans parish and covers all water bottoms in Plaquemines and St. Bernard except those covered in Lease 195, executed to the Gulf Refining company. It includes Chandeleur sound and Mississippi sound to the east end of the state domain. It includes a number of small islands and bays. Governor Allen issued the lease to W. T. Burton on January 23, 1936. The consideration was $50,000 cash, one-eighth royalty and $100,000 out of the first 1/123. The Shell company bid for this lease a $75,000 bonus and $1,100,000 out of the first 1/96 produced and marketed. Burton transferred the lease to the Texas company, retaining an overriding royalty of 1/24. This royalty he split on February 8, 1936, between himself and the Win or Lose Oil company, on the basis of ¾ to the company and ¼ to himself. This lease is drilling.

The mineral board contemplates bringing suit against a number of those who leased lands prior to the board's creation, largely on the ground of arrested development. Lease No. 340, for instance, although over four years old, is held by a single producing well. It comprises 250,000 acres and covers the shore line of four parishes. The board expects to recover much oil land for the state.

Its activities, however, do not include suits for revocation of leases acquired through political favoritism and at the expense of the state. Action along this line will have to come from legislative authority.

Officials of the board feel that millions of dollars may be obtained by the state through business-like and non-political exploitation of its mineral resources. This suggestion presents one way, as was said in the beginning, of replenishing the state's badly drained coffers.

PLANE DELIVERIES WILL BE SPEEDED

Meanwhile the house naval affairs committee tackled the question of relaxing legislative restrictions on shipbuilders to hasten naval construction.

Tentatively the committee approved legislation giving the president broad powers to ignore wage and hour regulations, profit limitations and other federal laws in order to hurry construction of fighting ships and planes for the navy.

Bernard M. Baruch, financier and chairman of the war industries board during the World War, lunched with Mr. Roosevelt but told newsmen afterward he had heard of no plan to establish a board like the one which he formerly headed.

In a statement issued here, Frank Gannett, New York publisher and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, called upon the president to reconvene the war resources board composed of business men assembled last year to study American preparedness and to make public a report on the board's studies.

Declaring New Dealers had succeeded in having this report suppressed, Gannett said:

"That report outlined a plan for insuring the most efficient and safest coordination of industrial resources with the least wastage of money and material and with no politics. I understand that it recommended industrial mobilization directed by a board of citizens, of men experienced in industrial affairs and not under political control and supervision by various departments and bureaus which have produced so much chaos in Washington. It is understood also that the special powers granted to this board would extend only through war time or war emergency. The present powers of the president and his associates would not be increased."

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, headed the war resources board.

The conference of industrial leaders with government officials here Monday, at which airmen said means of speeding up plane deliveries to the Allies would be among the subjects discussed, was called yesterday by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war. He called representatives of more than 40 principal manufacturers of planes and engines together to devise means of putting into effect quickly Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation that the nation's productive capacity be expanded to 50,000 planes a year.

How the NEWS gets into PRINT

As we enter the composing room, a sensational last-minute news story is being distributed among several linotype operators, to save time in setting. Let's watch one of them! With his copy before him, he is "typing" the story on the keyboard of a machine something like a giant typewriter. The speed with which the words become lines of type, is amazing! Startling too, is the speed with which the make-up men assemble the complete story, and lock the columns of metal into a waiting front-page form.

The moment the make-up editor says "Let it go," the form is wheeled to the matrix machine, where a cardboard-like mat or pattern is made from the page, under tremendous pressure. In the stereotyping room, the mat is baked and curved, then fitted into an automatic casting machine. A few seconds later, out comes a semi-circular printing plate of gleaming metal, to be trimmed, cooled and hurried to the press.

Here, we find the largest and most spectacular machine in the newspaper plant—a battery of high speed presses! Swiftly, men lock the last plate in the printing cylinder! A bell rings, a light flashes, and the monster is in motion, gathering speed with every revolution. Louder and louder grow the rumble and roar of the mighty machine; faster and faster the finished papers tumble out at the delivery end—printed, folded, cut, counted, and ready to be rushed to carriers and readers.

The story which flashed from the telegraph wires only a few minutes ago in the editorial rooms, is now FRONT PAGE NEWS on thousands of copies being delivered to waiting subscribers.

GERMANS ENGULF ANTWERP REGION

the city itself, with one-fourth of their 16 raiders reported shot down.

The British Royal Air force announced bombings of German oil supplies with heavy damage in Bergen, Norway; Bremen and Hamburg, Germany.

The angered Germans said the British killed 29 civilians in Hamburg and 11 in Bremen in raids on non-military objectives. DNB, official German news agency, hinted that these deaths would not go unavenged.

The British reported success also in aerial bombing of German columns west of Namur, Belgium, including destruction of bridges, railways and flying fields.

The still-fighting Belgians said the forts at Namur and Liege were holding out, even though the Germans already had passed them and captured Brussels and Antwerp.

Although the French told of still violent German assaults all day Saturday, they theorized that some of the great flame-throwing German tanks which lead the charge had dropped back for refueling.

Some inkling that perhaps the Germans were preparing to draw on their second wind was given in a German report that "pacification" of The Netherlands, nearing completion, would release another 800,000 Nazi troops for the surge into France.

The British military spokesman, who contended the Saturday situation certainly was no worse than Friday, while acknowledging that the Allies still were falling back, said the British and Belgian withdrawal in Belgium was taken to conform to the German advance in France.

Unaware of this strategy, the troops in Belgium were indignant at being ordered back, he said.

The military situation, although too fluid for exact definition, shaped up like this:

Belgium—Allies apparently determined to hang on in East and West Flanders; Germans in control elsewhere except for comparatively isolated opposition from the Liege and Namur forts; Antwerp occupied after cracking of its ring of forts in two places.

France—Germany driving into the triangle formed by the Aisne and Oise rivers, swinging westward and southward into France on the route toward Paris, possibly intent on a hydra-headed attack aimed at taking both Paris and the channel ports.

Netherlands—Nature of remaining resistance uncertain but confined to Zeeland province, probably slight as Germans announce seizure of Walcheren, Schouwen and South Beveland islands, all in Zeeland and north of Antwerp.

Although the Germans were elated at their capture of Antwerp in nine days, compared with the 66 required by the Kaiser's army in 1914, they still were not near the farthest points of German advance in the World War.

To duplicate that penetration, they would have to cut a gigantic slice from just south of Nieuport, Belgium, on the North sea, through Amiens, France, to the very suburbs of Paris near St. Denis and thence eastward across the Marne to the vicinity of Nancy.

Amid the glowing accounts of the war, the Nazi press turned beckoning eyes on Italy, the axis partner which so far has remained non-belligerent, and the Italian press was openly joyous in detailing German successes.

Some Italians kept watch on the Balkan situation as the influential Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, who often reflects Premier Mussolini's opinions, called attention to the "natural naval bases" on the Adriatic from Yugoslavia to Greece, and said today's safety depended on conditions on that shore.

NAZIS SWING WEST

PARIS, May 18.—(AP)—Speeding German columns swung west across France tonight toward the Oise valley—the road to Paris—meeting stiffened resistance from Frenchmen fighting under a new government headed by Premier Paul Reynaud and Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, World war "victor of Verdun."

The French high command's night communique said the Germans were "attacking in a westerly direction with powerful resources, despite considerable losses."

This was at the end of nine days of the battle in Belgium and northern France which fighters and war correspondents say is like nothing ever witnessed in history.

Today the Germans advanced to Guise, about 14 miles west of Vervins, and to Landrecies, about 12 miles west of Avesnes and some 85 miles east of the English channel.

Avesnes heretofore had been the western edge of the salient into the northern French plains, its lower edges well within 100 miles of Paris.

Far ahead of the main German forces, advanced units struck in all directions. Six German motorcycle soldiers who reached Laon, 25 miles south of Guise, were captured.

Other light units were reported to have reached Saint Quentin, 15 miles west of Guise. (It was in this vicinity, in a railroad car in the forest of Compiegne, that the World war armistice was agreed upon.)

German parachute soldiers roamed behind the French lines, but "these can have no effect on the general development of operations," declared a French war ministry spokesman.

The German objective in turning to the west appeared to be: First, to try to cut off the main French armies from the allied forces in Belgium; and, second, to reach the Oise valley.

The sectors of Guise and Landrecies lie about 20 miles within France from the Belgian border, near the headquarters of the Oise river and roughly 100 miles northeast of Paris.

Farther east, at the point of the triangle they have driven into France, the Germans were reported to have reached the Aisne in the Rethel sector, 30 miles south of the Belgian border where the French took their stand.

Most of the fury of the battle on the western front was concentrated in the Guise and Landrecies sectors. To the northwest in Belgium, where Brussels and Antwerp have been abandoned, and to the east on the Maginot line where German assaults have been repulsed, tonight's communique said: "Nothing of importance to report."

German bombers visited the Paris region this afternoon at the very moment Premier Reynaud was dropping a bombshell of his own with announcement of a cabinet shakeup, making himself war minister as well as premier, naming Marshal Petain vice-premier and George Mandel, former minister of colonies, minister of the interior.

The German squadron of 16 planes was reported to have bombed communication centers outside the capital, but lost four of their number in the attack.

A fleet of up to 3,000 German tanks, some of them 80-ton mammoths compared to the biggest French land battleships of 70 tons, battered the French lines around the pocket bulging into France's northern plains, while the Nazi air force blackened the skies.

Against these forces the French wheeled their mobile artillery, especially 75 milimeter guns, into action and massed their infantry, both outweighing the parallel German arms in numbers.

The battle was reported especially heavy tonight from the Sambre to the Aisne river on the west side of the pocket.

A war ministry at the southern extremity, he said, reached down to the Aisne river (here four words were censored).

The spokesman estimated that at least half of Germany's entire mechanized army had been thrown into the battle in northern France.

Only the formidable French 75's were able to penetrate the heavy armor of the biggest Nazi tanks—and the French were said to be firing point blank at them with good effect.

Accompanied by masses of planes and followed by lighter units and infantry, great numbers of the German tanks struck through the Vervins region toward the Oise and through the Avesnes region toward the Sambre.

The main Nazi effort appeared to be in the Verins vicinity. The French there were pouring tons of artillery shells against the enemy tanks and were said to have brought up enough of their own tanks to match the Germans.

The French said the experience of the last few days had taught them how to deal with German tank thrusts.

organization of the state mineral board, the state would have benefitted in a much greater degree than was actually the case.

All of Louisiana is deemed a potential oil field. Many of its large navigable lakes and streams are already under lease. But, there yet remain to be developed Sabine lake, Cameron parish; White lake, Vermilion; Terrebonne bay, Terrebonne; Lake Raccourci, Lafourche; Barataria bay, Plaquemines; Caminada Bay, Lafourche and Jefferson; Bay Adams, Plaquemines; Lake Borgne, St. Bernard (in part); Mississippi sound, (in part); Lake Kilaouatchie, St. Charles; Lake Des Allemands, St. John; Grand lake, Iberia and St. Martin; Six Mile lake, St. Mary and St. Martin, (in part), and Lake Arthur, Jefferson Davis, Vermilion and Cameron.

Rivers and bayous in the coastal region are still open. This includes the Mississippi river, which has in its approximately 300 miles of length in Louisiana, only three small leases, covering about 18 miles, recorded against it. Oil prospectors along the bank of this stream use what is known as the directional method of drilling. The wells are drilled on shore and bottomed under the river.

Among the lakes already under lease are Lake Ponchartrain, Lake Maurepas and Lake Caddo. The state mineral board has a gentleman's agreement with the city of Shreveport not to lease for oil exploration the source of that city's water supply—Cross lake.

The biennial report of the state mineral board, just made public, shows that much better conditions inured to the state from a change in the manner of making mineral leases from the methods followed prior to creation of the board. Charles G. Laskey, Shreveport, independent oil operator, is chairman of the board. During the administrations of Governors Oscar K. Allen and James A. Noe, no limit was placed on the size of public areas leased for mineral exploitation. Leases ran as high as 400,000 and even 500,000 acres. The legal limit is now 10,000 acres and actual leases are for much smaller areas.

The average rental per acre is now $2.11; under the old system it was 10 cents. One lease signed by Governor Allen on January 23, 1936, covering 500,000 acres, brought a cash bonus of $50,000; another covering 400,000 acres, signed by Governor Allen on July 3, 1935, brought a $32,750 bonus, and another for 250,000 acres, signed by Governor James A. Noe, on February 7, 1936, brought a bonus of $75,000. Thus leases embracing 1,150,000 acres, brought the state $147,750, whereas the state mineral board required 103 leases to lease 246,746 acres in 1938 and 1939, and from them the state received in bonuses $1,041,099.68.

During his administration, Governor Huey P. Long made three mineral leases involving 70,049 acres for which the state received a bonus of $115,639.10. Governor Allen signed 34 leases involving a total acreage of 1,028,836. Governor James A. Noe, in office three months, approved 18 public mineral leases, involving 417,340 acres.

In actual practice, the lease system of the Allen and Noe administration called for large areas and small bonuses, whereas under the mineral board, as shown by its biennial report, it provided for small areas and large bonuses. Besides a three-year limit has been substituted for the old system of long leases, which prevents state mineral lands from being held for a long period of time without development.

Lease 318. Assigned to W. T. Burton by Governor Allen on July 3, 1935, covering in their entirety Lake Pontchartrain, Lake Maurepas and Lake Catherine, besides a one-mile strip around each of the three lakes; transferred by Burton to the Texas company and the Win or Lose Oil company, and retransferred by these concerns back to Burton; now being drilled.

Lease 188. Now being operated by the Texas company. Originally assigned to the Louisiana Land and Exploration company, includes Caillou bay and a part of Timbilier bay, extending gulfward to the limit of the state's domain. Producing from two salt domes, known as Caillou island and Lake Pelto domes. This lease is 12 years old and mineral board officials claim that those operating it have never exercised the right of selection, which they should have done long ago. This right, which is covered by a limited period of years, permits the lessee, after a certain fixed time, to select areas to be exploited and turn the remainder of the leased tract back to the state.

Lease 340, awarded by Governor James A. Noe to W. T. Burton on February 7, 1936. There is one producing well on this lease, which covers the maritime belt of Vermilion, Iberia, Terrebonne and St. Mary parishes. Some small portions of this maritime belt are covered by other leases, but these are also held by the Texas company, to whom Burton transferred Lease No. 340, embracing 250,000 acres. Burton retained a 1/24 override and subsequently split this override with the Win or Lose Oil company on the basis of 1/32 to the company and 1/96 to himself. No. 340 is a producing lease.

Lease 335, comprising 500,000 acres, executed to W. T. Burton by Governor Oscar A. Allen. This lease covers part of Orleans parish and covers all water bottoms in Plaquemines and St. Bernard except those covered in Lease 195, executed to the Gulf Refining company. It includes Chandeleur sound and Mississippi sound to the east end of the state domain. It includes a number of small islands and bays. Governor Allen issued the lease to W. T. Burton on January 23, 1936. The consideration was $50,000 cash, one-eighth royalty and $100,000 out of the first 1/123. The Shell company bid for this lease a $75,000 bonus and $1,100,000 out of the first 1/96 produced and marketed. Burton transferred the lease to the Texas company, retaining an overriding royalty of 1/24. This royalty he split on February 8, 1936, between himself and the Win or Lose Oil company, on the basis of ¾ to the company and ¼ to himself. This lease is drilling.

The mineral board contemplates bringing suit against a number of those who leased lands prior to the board's creation, largely on the ground of arrested development. Lease No. 340, for instance, although over four years old, is held by a single producing well. It comprises 250,000 acres and covers the shore line of four parishes. The board expects to recover much oil land for the state.

Its activities, however, do not include suits for revocation of leases acquired through political favoritism and at the expense of the state. Action along this line will have to come from legislative authority.

Officials of the board feel that millions of dollars may be obtained by the state through business-like and non-political exploitation of its mineral resources. This suggestion presents one way, as was said in the beginning, of replenishing the state's badly drained coffers.

There are more than 200 tributaries of the Amazon river.

Meanwhile the house naval affairs committee tackled the question of relaying legislative restrictions on shipbuilders to hasten naval construction.

Tentatively, the committee approved legislation giving the president broad powers to ignore wage and hour regulations, profit limitations and other federal laws in order to hurry construction of fighting ships and planes for the navy.

Bernard M. Baruch, financier and chairman of the war industries board during the World War, lunched with Mr. Roosevelt but told newsmen afterward he had heard of no plan to establish a board like the one which he formerly headed.

In a statement issued here, Frank Gannett, New York publisher and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, called upon the president to reconvene the war resources board—composed of business men assembled last year to study American preparedness—and to make public a report on the board's studies.

Declaring New Dealers had succeeded in having this report suppressed, Gannett said:

"That report outlined a plan for insuring the most efficient and safest coordination of industrial resources with the least wastage of money and material and with no politics. I understand that it recommended industrial mobilization directed by a board of citizens, of men experienced in industrial affairs and not under political control and supervision by various departments and bureaus which have produced so much chaos in Washington. It is understood also that the special powers granted to this board would extend only through war time or war emergency. The present powers of the president and his associates would not be increased."

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, headed the war resources board.

The conference of industrial leaders with government officials here Monday, at which airmen said means of speeding up plane deliveries to the Allies would be among the subjects discussed, was called yesterday by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war. He called representatives of more than 40 principal manufacturers of planes and engines together to devise means of putting into effect quickly Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation that the nation's productive capacity be expanded to 50,000 planes a year.

STUDENTS COMPETE IN AD CONTEST SPONSORED BY MONROE MERCHANTS

Four Monroe high school seniors will, in the aggregate, be $40 richer next Sunday. For that is the total in cash prizes offered by the News-Star—World Publishing corporation in the student advertising contest being sponsored by the Monroe Morning World. The winner will get $20. Ten dollars will go to the student who finishes second, $7.50 to the one finishing third and $2.50 to the one finishing fourth.

Ten high school seniors are participating in the contest and the readers of the Monroe Morning World will be the judges. It will be their votes that determine who will receive the awards. The ballots will be tabulated by a committee headed by George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe.

In this section will be found 10 advertisements sponsored by these students. Beside each is a picture of the student. The readers of the Monroe Morning World are urged to scan these advertisements, select the one they think most effective and vote for the student who represents that advertisement. A coupon for voting will be found in this section, as will the rules governing the contest.

Each coupon will count as one vote. Voters may cast only one ballot.

After clipping the coupon and filling it out, the reader is asked to either bring or mail it to the News-Star—World office, where a ballot box will be maintained. The contest will come to a close at 6 p.m. Friday. At that hour the ballot box will be sealed and turned over to Mr. Holland. If a coupon is mailed, it should be posted so as to arrive at the office of the News-Star—World before 6 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Holland, as chairman of the tabulation committee, will choose such assistants as he deems necessary. The results of the contest will be announced in the Monroe Morning World of May 26.

It is earnestly requested of readers that they make a close study of the advertisements—all 10 of them—before clipping the coupon and filling it in with the name of the student whose advertisement they selected as representative of the best submitted in the contest. There will be several things to consider, among them the attractiveness and display of the advertisement and the text contained therein. Advertisements are inserted to convey a message to the reader. This should be forcefully brought out, in a clear, concise manner.

The "lay out," that is the style of arrangement of the text of the advertisements, has been followed closely by the compositors in the "setting" of the advertisements in this section. Ask yourself this question: "Does this or that particular advertisement attract my attention, and once it has, does the reading matter pertaining to the article advertised hold my attention?"

NEW BUS SERVICE WILL BE OPENED

Transportation Of Students To Summer Classes Announced Here

Students of Louisiana Tech who live in Monroe and Calhoun will have a new transportation service beginning with the opening of summer school June 3.

A. A. Phillips, who is starting the new bus service, will plan a convenient city route to pick up local customers, and will take on passengers on Highway 80 in Calhoun.

Four Monroe high school seniors will, in the aggregate, be $40 richer next Sunday. For that is the total in cash prizes offered by the News-Star—World Publishing corporation in the student advertising contest being sponsored by the Monroe Morning World. The winner will get $20. Ten dollars will go to the student who finishes second, $7.50 to the one finishing third and $2.50 to the one finishing fourth.

Ten high school seniors are participating in the contest and the readers of the Monroe Morning World will be the judges. It will be their votes that determine who will receive the awards. The ballots will be tabulated by a committee headed by George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe.

In this section will be found 10 advertisements sponsored by these students. Beside each is a picture of the student. The readers of the Monroe Morning World are urged to scan these advertisements, select the one they think most effective and vote for the student who represents that advertisement. A coupon for voting will be found in this section, as will the rules governing the contest.

Each coupon will count as one vote. Voters may cast only one ballot.

After clipping the coupon and filling it out, the reader is asked to either bring or mail it to the News-Star—World office, where a ballot box will be maintained. The contest will come to a close at 6 p.m. Friday. At that hour the ballot box will be sealed and turned over to Mr. Holland. If a coupon is mailed, it should be posted so as to arrive at the office of the News-Star—World before 6 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Holland, as chairman of the tabulation committee, will choose such assistants as he deems necessary. The results of the contest will be announced in the Monroe Morning World of May 26.

It is earnestly requested of readers that they make a close study of the advertisements—all 10 of them—before clipping the coupon and filling it in with the name of the student whose advertisement they selected as representative of the best submitted in the contest. There will be several things to consider, among them the attractiveness and display of the advertisement and the text contained therein. Advertisements are inserted to convey a message to the reader. This should be forcefully brought out, in a clear, concise manner.

The "lay out," that is the style of arrangement of the text of the advertisements, has been followed closely by the compositors in the "setting" of the advertisements in this section. Ask yourself this question: "Does this or that particular advertisement attract my attention, and once it has, does the reading matter pertaining to the article advertised hold my attention?"

Ouachita Seniors Taking Part In Annual Contest

Ten high school seniors—from Ouachita Parish High school—have, through an advertising writnig contest sponsored by the Monroe Morning World, gained a keener insight into the merchandising problems of local business establishments. Even the so-called losers in the contest will have gained invaluable experience as a result of their participation.

The seniors selected for the contest are leaders scholastically or in student activities at their several institutions. Participation in the contest gives public recognition of that fact.

But not only are they honored by the publication of their pictures, together with a statement of the part they played in the preparation of this section of the paper, they have been given an opportunity to "try themselves out" for a brief moment in the world of business.

They have, no doubt, as a result of the first phase of the contest (handling of advertisements for this section), gained a measure of self-reliance and determination, a sense of satisfaction with a job well done. They have come in contact with men and women they may never otherwise have met. They have stirred mutual interests.

The students have done their part—and done so excellently. The Monroe Morning World has done its part by making the section available and providing cash prizes totaling $40. And the advertisers have done their part by providing the advertisements—for the students to handle.

Now the readers are asked to do their part—to complete the contest. Read each of the 10 advertisements carefully. Select the one that strikes you as best—best in appearance, best in conveying the firm's message and best in arresting attention. Then vote for the student who wrote the advertisemement, using the coupon carried in this section for the purpose.

You, too, will gain by participation in the contest. It will teach you to read advertisements more carefully. And care in reading advertisements always pays dividends.

WILDNESS OF HELENA PITCHERS HELPS SOX WIN

MONROE NEAR TIE FOR SECOND PLACE WITH PRESENT FOE

Locals Will Play Two Games Today; Maxfield, Perry Pitchers

HELENA, Ark., May 18.—(Special)—Monroe's White Sox took advantage of the first inning wildness here today of the Seaporter hurlers to tally three runs, which proved to be their margin of victory, the final score being 8 to 5.

Monroe pulled up into a virtual tie with the Seaporters for second place by virtue of the win. Helena is six percentage points in the lead, having won 14 while losing 11. The White Sox have 15 wins and 12 losses.

The White Sox tallied in the first frame, when Dick Nash had trouble locating the plate. Eagar walked and Bob Burt was hit by a pitched ball. Bob Hill flied to center and Eagar went to third. On an attempted double steal, Eagar was out at the plate and Burt went to second. Englehorn walked and then Manager Doug Taitt came through with a single to score Burt and send Englehorn to third. Doug then stole second without a play being made for him. Medak walked, filling the bases and Dick Weller relieved Dick Nash on the hill for Helena. He walked in two scores by giving bases on balls to Guy Pruitt and Bobby Schang. Jim Brister popped to Boden in front of the plate to retire the side.

Monroe made it 4 to 0 in their half of the third. Dale Englehorn led off with a single to short. Doug Taitt hit into a fast double play, Weller to Lucas to Clancy. Pete Medak got a free trip and Pruitt singled, sending Medak to second. Schang singled, scoring Medak and sending Pruitt to third. Speas threw the ball wide of third and Schang went to second. Brister flied to left for the third out.

Helena scored two runs in their half of the third, on three hits and a hit batsman. After Weller had struck out, Lucas put one under the center-field fence and was given a double. Searilla was hit by a pitched ball. Jimmy Ashworth fanned and Al Leary singled, scoring Lucas, Searilla stopping at second. Clancy got his second of four hits, a single, to score Searilla and Leary went to third. Speas was out, Burt to Medak, to end the frame.

The Seaporters tied it up in the fourth. Arico opened the inning with a bunt, which he beat out for a hit. Boden laced a triple to right field, scoring Arico. Weller fanned and Lucas popped to Eagar. Searilla singled, scoring Boden. Ashworth singled, Searilla stopping at second. Leary flied to Englehorn in left.

The White Sox took the lead again in the fifth and were never headed. Taitt was safe when Clancy dropped Ashworth's throw. Medak popped to Lucas at short. Pruitt singled, sending Taitt to second. Schang singled, scoring Taitt, with Pruitt going to third. Brister forced Schang at second, Lucas to Arico, but Pruitt scored. Eagar was out to Clancy unassisted.

Monroe added another in the seventh. Doug Taitt singled. Medak popped to Arico and Pruitt went out, Ashworth to Clancy, Taitt moving to second. Bobby Schang doubled to score Taitt. Brister was out, Arico to Clancy, to retire the side.

Ashworth opened the Helena half of the seventh with an infield out. Leary doubled and Manager Bud Clancy obtained his fourth hit of the game, a single to right, to score Leary. Speas popped to Pruitt and Arico flied to Englehorn to end the frame.

The White Sox added their eighth score in the ninth to lead by three runs. After Dale Englehorn flied to center, Taitt walked and scored on a double by "Red" Pruitt, after Medak had struck out. Pruitt was out trying to stretch his double into a triple, Searilla to Arico to Ashworth.

Helena threatened in the ninth on a double by Leary after Ashworth rolled out, Eager to Medak. Clancy was out for the first time in the game,

HOGAN LOOKS LIKE TOURNEY WINNER

Two Sparkling Rounds Place Texan In Tremendous Lead In Scoring

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—It was all Ben Hogan in the Goodall golf tournament at Fresh Meadow club tonight, and the rest nowhere.

The thin, willowy young man from Texas was so far ahead of his 14 competitors that it practically was no contest. With two rounds of match play to go Sunday Hogan couldn't possibly lose unless he fell down stairs again, which is against the law of averages.

Having taken a tumble Thursday night and bruised his back and shoulders to the extent that the club masseur, Ed Woods, had to work on him more than two hours today, Hogan went out and shot two beautiful rounds of 66, 71 for his fourth and fifth rounds of the tournament.

These two sparkling rounds—the first matching the competitive record for Fresh Meadow—gave the dauntless Texan a point total of plus 24, while his closest competitor, Gene Sarazen, had only 8, Sammy Snead in third place had 7.

Hogan for three days put together consecutive rounds of 71-68-73-66-71 over a course that calls for a tough par 70. His score, 24, means that he has finished that many holes up against the most unyielding gang of golfers in the world.

In this morning's round he knocked the ears off Paul Runyan and Dick Metz. In the afternoon, with a gallery of 3,000 waiting for him to crack, he won a couple more points from Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead.

The complete standing tonight in this peculiar tournament, where, in the course of seven rounds, each of 15 crack professionals plays a match against every opponent, was as follows:

Ben Hogan, 24 points; Gene Sarazen, 8; Sam Snead, 7; Paul Runyan and Byron Nelson, 5; Jimmy Thomson, 2; Clayton Heafner, even. The "minus" scores, or those without a hope, were Henry Picard, 2; Martin Pose, 3; Jimmy Demaret, Horton Smith and Lawson Little, 5; Craig Wood, 6; Dick Metz, 9; Jimmy Hines, 16. These last named were out of luck.

CRACKERS BEST PELS

ATLANTA, May 18.—(AP)—The Atlanta Crackers won their second straight four-hitter from the New Orleans Pelicans 4 to 2 today with Luman Harris on the mound.

All of Atlanta's runs came in a big second inning sparked by Willard Marshall's home run with none aboard. It was the sixth of the season for the Atlanta slugger.

Score by innings:

New Orleans ......100 100 000—2 4 3
Atlanta ....040 000 00x—4 10 2

Sherer, Maltzberger and Gleason; Harris and Richards.

BARONS EVEN SERIES

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—Birmingham drove two Chattanooga pitchers from the box today, collected 18 hits and beat the Lookouts 8 to 7, evening the current series at one game each.

The Lookouts also did some slugging, getting 14 hits off Gehrman and the lead changed more than once. A single and double by Chattanooga to open the ninth gave the Lookouts hope, but Naketenis replaced Gehrman on the mound for the Barons and allowed one run while retiring the next three men without a hit.

Score by innings:

Birmingham ......010 022 030—8 18 2
Chattanooga ......012 000 301—7 14 1

PELS OVERCOME SMOKIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—Young Marvin Ulrich gave up nine safeties today but was stingy in the pinches and handed Little Rock its second straight triumph over Knoxville, 5 to 3.

The Pebbles gave Ulrich a two-run margin to work on in the second and he held it until the sixth when Smoky Catcher Charlie Fallon rapped a homer with a mate aboard. Previously, Bit McCullogh had hit for the circuit for Knoxville.

But the Travelers came back with a burst of licks in the eighth to shove over two runs on long John Koneff before Sugar Cain came to his rescue.

Score by innings:

Knoxville ....100 002 000—3 9 2

Ulrich and Rensa; Carpenter, Koneff, Cain and Fallon.

CORYDON DEFEATS BIMELECH IN MILE

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Racer Takes Field In Withers Stake

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Bimelech didn't have it today.

The "great horse" of the Blue Grass ran second to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Corydon in the 65th running of the Withers mile at Belmont Park and there appeared to be no excuse for the colt who was touted as the "second Man O'War."

Backed down to 1 to 5 in the betting, Colonel E. R. Bradley's galloper was never in front, didn't have the run to poke his way into the lead when he made his bid in the stretch, and had to call on the camera even to take second money.

The Whitney colt, a son of St. Germans out of Royal Minstrel mare, Sylvan Song, came home first last October 18 in a mile-and-sixteenth maiden race. Since then, in three starts, he had never been better than second.

But today he was a lot of horse. Eleven lengths back, a dead last, in the backstretch, he seemed to have no chance. Then Jockey Eddie Arcaro turned him loose. He was sixth at the half-mile pole, a fast moving third at the three-quarters, and second as the field of eight turned for home.

Arcaro put him on the outside down the run for the wire, and he caught the leaders just inside the eighth pole, finally finishing two lengths on top in 1:37 1-5 for the mile.

Meantime, Bimelech, after breaking slowly, had been running in a contending spot all the way, while Joseph E. Widener's Roman, set all the pace. As they turned into the stretch, Jockey Freddie Smith ran at Roman, and was just up for second place at the wire, a nose in front of Roman.

TWO FEATHERWEIGHTS MEET IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—(AP)—Bobby Ruffin, New York, and Eddie Lander, Chicago, two of the country's most promising featherweights who are still in their 'teens, will clash here May 27.

The match was announced today as one of three 10-rounders arranged for the same card by the Auditorium Boxing association.

Tests For Indianapolis 500-Mile Race Qualify Eight Automobiles

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18.—(AP)—Daring drivers bucked a stiff wind on Indianapolis' brick-and-asphalt speedway today to qualify the first cars for the 28th annual 500-mile race Decoration day.

Eight automobiles had won places in the starting lineup by late afternoon.

Nine hours, up to 7 p.m., central standard time, were set aside for the tests. The crowd was estimated at 35,000.

A car must average at least 115 miles an hour for 10 miles—four times around the track—to qualify, but only the 33 fastest cars will start, lining up three by three.

The other Boyle drivers who made good were Ted Horn of Los Angeles, at 125.545 miles an hour, and Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Calif., at 123.316.

Shaw drives an eight-cylinder supercharged machine, Horn an eight-cylinder front-drive creation and Wearne a four cylinder car.

Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., beat Shaw's time, qualifying an eight-cylinder supercharged speedster at 127.850 miles an hour. Rain stopped him his first time on the track and he succeeded his second time out. He drives for Robert Bowes, Indianapolis parts manufacturer.

Both drivers of the four-cylinder entries of Lou Moore, Los Angeles designer, got into the lineup—Cliff Bergere of Hollywood, Calif., at 123.673 miles an hour, and Mauri Rose of Columbus, O., at 125.624.

Bergere, movie stunt man, for the second year straight became the first driver to qualify his car. He has been a money winner in eight of his 12 Indianapolis races.

CINCINNATI HOLDS ON LEAGUE'S LEAD AS DODGERS LOSE

Crowd Of 8,000 Watches Home Club Break Pitchers' Long Streak

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—(AP)—Righthander Paul Derringer, usually a certain winner over Philadelphia, was just another pitcher to the amazing Phillies today as they pounded him from the mound for an 8 to 3 victory over Cincinnati before a crowd of 8,000.

Derringer had beaten the Phils 11 consecutive times in two and one-third years prior to today's contest.

Bill Werber walked to start Cincinnati off in the first. Lonny Frey forced him at second, but Ival Goodman's single and a walk for Frank McCormick filled the bases and Willard Hershberger's fly scored Frey. Johnny Rizzo's single sent Goodman and McCormick over the plate.

Successive singles by Marrie Arnovich, Chuck Klein and Merrill May scored Arnovich with the Phils' first run and Bill Atwood drove in Klein with another after Heinie Mueller had hit into a double play.

Joe Marty doubled to open the third and scored on Bill Werber's wild throw to first after Bob Bragan had bunted safely. Art Mahan advanced Bragan with a single and the Phil rookie scored on Arnovich's infield out.

Arnovich's double and walks for May and Mueller filled the bases in the sixth. Atwood's single scored Arnovich and May. Mulcahy forced Atwood, Marty's single scored Mueller and Bragan drove in Mulcahy with another single.

GIANTS GAIN THIRD PLACE

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Harry Danning's seventh inning single with the bases loaded gave the New York Giants a 6-4 decision over the ill-starred Chicago Cubs, and bounced the Giants back to third place in the National league today.

The single came off Manager Gabby Hartnett's fourth pitching choice of the inning—Jake Mooty. The Cubs rookie starter, Vern Olsen had been chased to the showers when the bases were filled.

Then old Charlie Root came in, fanned one batter, and was immediately replaced by Ken Raffensberger.

LOYOLA WINNER OF TRACK MEET

Team Was Withdrawn On Count Vote, But Re-entered Tests

CLINTON, Miss., May 18.—(AP)—Completely outclassing three rivals, Loyola of the South raced to an impressive victory in the Dixie conference track meet today.

Loyola scored 93 1-2 points to win the championship trophy. Mississippi college had 50 3-4 to nose out Southwestern of Memphis for second place, the Lynx finishing with 45. Millsaps was fourth with 34 3-4 points. Howard, Chattanooga, Mercer and Spring Hill did not enter teams.

The Wolfpack from New Orleans captured ten first places in the 15 events, and won every flat race from the 100-yard dash through the relay and the two-mile runs.

Segura and Liske ran one, two for Loyola in the sprints, putting the Southwestern ace, Billy Pope, third in both dashes. The times of 10 flat and 22.6 for the century and furlong events were excellent, as a strong wind blew into the faces of the speedsters down the straightaway.

Bearden of Southwestern with a 180-foot javelin throw and Underwood of the Lynx with a 12-foot pole vault dominated these events as expected, but Carter Blake of Mississippi college came through with a 5-foot 10-inch high jump effort to tie the Memphis aces, Partin and Falls, and split the points in this event. This tie was the only first place honor Mississippi college won.

Millsaps presented a pair of winners in Ford Canterbury who won the high hurdles in the excellent time of 15.7 considering the wind, and Gordon Worthington, who took the broad jump.

Delholm of Loyola in the mile and his teammate Baudier in the half out ran Mississippi college's Bert Ishee in thrilling stretch wins in these events.

Loyola's coach, Clay Calhoun, withdrew his team last night after coaches had voted 3 to 1 to count five places in the meet although only four teams were entered.

After a long-distance consultation with Loyola officials at New Orleans this morning, however, he re-entered the meet and walked off with the honors.

WILDNESS OF HELENA PITCHERS HELPS SOX WIN

MONROE NEAR TIE FOR SECOND PLACE WITH PRESENT FOE

Locals Will Play Two Games Today; Maxfield, Perry Pitchers

HELENA, Ark., May 18.—(Special)—Monroe's White Sox took advantage of the first inning wildness here today of the Seaporter hurlers to tally three runs, which proved to be their margin of victory, the final score being 8 to 5.

Monroe pulled up into a virtual tie with the Seaporters for second place by virture of the win. Helena is six percentage points in the lead, having won 14 while losing 11. The White Sox have 15 wins and 12 losses.

The White Sox tallied in the first frame, when Dick Nash had trouble locating the plate. Eagar walked and Bob Burt was hit by a pitched ball. Bob Hill flied to center and Eagar went to third. On an attempted double steal, Eagar was out at the plate and Burt went to second. Englehorn walked and then Manager Doug Taitt came through with a single to score Burt and send Englehorn to third. Doug then stole second without a play being made for him. Medak walked, filling the bases and Dick Weller relieved Dick Nash on the hill for Helena. He walked in two scores by giving bases on balls to Guy Pruitt and Bobby Schang. Jim Brister popped to Boden in front of the plate to retire the side.

Monroe made it 4 to 0 in their half of the third. Dale Englehorn led off with a single to short. Doug Taitt hit into a fast double play, Weller to Lucas to Clancy. Pete Medak got a free trip and Pruitt singled, sending Medak to second. Schang singled, scoring Medak and sending Pruitt to third. Speas threw the ball wide of third and Schang went to second. Brister flied to left for the third out.

Helena scored two runs in their half of the third, on three hits and a hit batsman. After Weller had struck out, Lucas put one under the centerfield fence and was given a double. Searilla was hit by a pitched ball. Jimmy Ashworth fanned and Al Leary singled, scoring Lucas, Searilla stopping at second. Clancy got his second of four hits, a single, to score Searilla and Leary went to third. Speas was out, Burt to Medak, to end the frame.

The Seaporters tied it up in the fourth. Arico opened the inning with a bunt, which he beat out for a hit. Boden laced a triple to right field, scoring Arico. Weller fanned and Lucas popped to Eagar. Searilla singled, scoring Boden. Ashworth singled, Searilla stopping at second. Leary flied to Englehorn in left.

The White Sox took the lead again in the fifth and were never headed. Taitt was safe when Clancy dropped Ashworth's throw. Medak popped to Lucas at short. Pruitt singled, sending Taitt to second. Schang singled, scoring Taitt, with Pruitt going to third. Brister forced Schang at second, Lucas to Arico, but Pruitt scored. Eagar was out to Clancy unassisted.

Monroe added another in the seventh. Doug Taitt singled. Medak popped to Arico and Pruitt went out, Ashworth to Clancy, Taitt moving to second. Bobby Schang doubled to score Taitt. Brister was out, Arico to Clancy, to retire the side.

Ashworth opened the Helena half of the seventh with an infield out. Leary doubled and Manager Bud Clancy obtained his fourth hit of the game, a single to right, to score Leary. Speas popped to Pruitt and Arico flied to Englehorn to end the frame.

The White Sox added their eighth score in the ninth to lead by three runs. After Dale Englehorn flied to center, Taitt walked and scored on a double by "Red" Pruitt, after Medak had struck out. Pruitt was out trying to stretch his double into a triple, Searilla to Arico to Ashworth.

Helena threatened in the ninth on a double by Leary after Ashworth rolled out, Eager to Medak. Clancy was out for the first time in the game,

Phillies Bump Derringer To Beat Leading Reds, 8-3

HOGAN LOOKS LIKE TOURNEY WINNER

Two Sparkling Rounds Place Texan In Tremendous Lead In Scoring

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—It was all Ben Hogan in the Goodall golf tournament at Fresh Meadow club tonight, and the rest nowhere.

The thin, willowy young man from Texas was so far ahead of his 14 competitors that it practically was no contest. With two rounds of match play to go Sunday Hogan couldn't possibly lose unless he fell down stairs again, which is against the law of averages.

Having taken a tumble Thursday night and bruised his back and shoulders to the extent that the club masseur, Ed Woods, had to work on him more than two hours today, Hogan went out and shot two beautiful rounds of 66, 71 for his fourth and fifth rounds of the tournament.

These two sparkling rounds—the first matching the competitive record for Fresh Meadow—gave the dauntless Texan a point total of plus 24, while his closest competitor, Gene Sarazen, had only 8. Sammy Snead in third place had 7.

Hogan for three days put together consecutive rounds of 71-68-73-66-71 over a course that calls for a tough par 70. His score, 24, means that he has finished that many holes up against the most unyielding gang of golfers in the world.

In this morning's round he knocked the ears off Paul Runyan and Dick Metz. In the afternoon, with a gallery of 3,000 waiting for him to crack, he won a couple more points from Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead.

The complete standing tonight in this peculiar tournament, where, in the course of seven rounds, each of 15 crack professionals plays a match against every opponent, was as follows:

Ben Hogan, 24 points; Gene Sarazen, 8; Sam Snead, 7; Paul Runyan and Byron Nelson, 5; Jimmy Thomson, 2; Clayton Heafner, even. The "minus" scores, or those without a hope, were Henry Picard, 2; Martin Pose, 3; Jimmy Demaret, Horton Smith and Lawson Little, 5; Craig Wood, 6; Dick Metz, 9; Jimmy Hines, 16. These last named were out of luck.

BARONS EVEN SERIES

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—Birmingham drove two Chattanooga pitchers from the box today, collected 18 hits and beat the Lookouts 8 to 7, evening the current series at one game each.

The Lookouts also did some slugging, getting 14 hits off Gehrman and the lead changed more than once. A single and double by Chattanooga to open the ninth gave the Lookouts hope, but Naketenis replaced Gehrman on the mound for the Barons and allowed one run while retiring the next three men without a hit.

PELS OVERCOME SMOKIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—Young Marvin Ulrich gave up nine safeties today but was stingy in the pinches and handed Little Rock its second straight triumph over Knoxville, 5 to 3.

The Pebbles gave Ulrich a two-run margin to work on in the second and he held it until the sixth when Smoky Catcher Charlie Fallon rapped a homer with a mate aboard. Previously, Bit McCullogh had hit for the circuit for Knoxville.

But the Travelers came back with a burst of licks in the eighth to shove over two runs on long John Koneff before Sugar Cain came to his rescue.

Stiff Wind Fails To Deter Drivers At 127-Mile Speed

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18.—(AP)—Daring drivers bucked a stiff wind on Indianapolis' brick-and-asphalt speedway today to qualify the first cars for the 28th annual 500-mile race Decoration day.

Eight automobiles had won places in the starting lineup by late afternoon.

Nine hours, up to 7 p.m., central standard time, were set aside for the tests. The crowd was estimated at 35,000.

A car must average at least 115 miles an hour for 10 miles—four times around the track—to qualify, but only the 33 fastest cars will start, lining up three by three.

The other Boyle drivers who made good were Ted Horn of Los Angeles, at 125.545 miles an hour, and Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Calif., at 123.316.

Shaw drives an eight-cylinder supercharged machine, Horn an eight-cylinder front-drive creation and Wearne a four cylinder car.

Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., beat Shaw's time, qualifying an eight-cylinder supercharged speedster at 127.850 miles an hour. Rain stopped him his first time on the track and he succeeded his second time out. He drives for Robert Bowes, Indianapolis parts manufacturer.

Both drivers of the four-cylinder entries of Lou Moore, Los Angeles designer, got into the lineup—Cliff Bergere of Hollywood, Calif., at 123.673 miles an hour, and Mauri Rose of Columbus, O., at 125.624.

Bergere, movie stunt man, for the second year straight became the first driver to qualify his car. He has been a money winner in eight of his 12 Indianapolis races.

CORYDON DEFEATS BIMELECH IN MILE

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Racer Takes Field In Withers Stake

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Bimelech didn't have it today.

The "great horse" of the Blue Grass ran second to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Corydon in the 65th running of the Withers mile at Belmont Park and there appeared to be no excuse for the colt who was touted as the "second Man O'War."

Backed down to 1 to 5 in the betting, Colonel E. R. Bradley's galloper was never in front, didn't have the run to poke his way into the lead when he made his bid in the stretch, and had to call on the camera even to take second money.

The Whitney colt, a son of St. Germans out of Royal Minstrel mare, Sylvan Song, came home first last October 18 in a mile-and-sixteenth maiden race. Since then, in three starts, he had never been better than second.

But today he was a lot of horse. Eleven lengths back, a dead last, in the backstretch, he seemed to have no chance. Then Jockey Eddie Arcaro turned him loose. He was sixth at the half-mile pole, a fast moving third at the three-quarters, and second as the field of eight turned for home.

Arcaro put him on the outside down the run for the wire, and he caught the leaders just inside the eighth pole, finally finishing two lengths on top in 1:37 1-5 for the mile.

Meantime, Bimelech, after breaking slowly, had been running in a contending spot all the way, while Joseph E. Widener's Roman, set all the pace. As they turned into the stretch, Jockey Freddie Smith ran at Roman, and was just up for second place at the wire, a nose in front of Roman.

TWO FEATHERWEIGHTS MEET IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—(AP)—Bobby Ruffin, New York, and Eddie Lander, Chicago, two of the country's most promising featherweights who are still in their 'teens, will clash here May 27.

The match was announced today as one of three 10-rounders arranged for the same card by the Auditorium Boxing association.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—(AP)—Righthander Paul Derringer, usually a certain winner over Philadelphia, was just another pitcher to the amazing Phillies today as they pounded him from the mound for an 8 to 3 victory over Cincinnati before a crowd of 8,000.

Derringer had beaten the Phils 11 consecutive times in two and one-third years prior to today's contest.

Bill Werber walked to start Cincinnati off in the first. Lonny Frey forced him at second, but Ival Goodman's single and a walk for Frank McCormick filled the bases and Willard Hershberger's fly scored Frey. Johnny Rizzo's single sent Goodman and McCormick over the plate.

Successive singles by Marrie Arnovich, Chuck Klein and Merrill May scored Arnovich with the Phils' first run and Bill Atwood drove in Klein with another after Heinie Mueller had hit into a double play.

Joe Marty doubled to open the third and scored on Bill Werber's wild throw to first after Bob Bragan had bunted safely. Art Mahan advanced Bragan with a single and the Phil rookie scored on Arnovich's infield out.

Arnovich's double and walks for May and Mueller filled the bases in the sixth. Atwood's single scored Arnovich and May, Mulcahy forced Atwood, Marty's single scored Mueller and Bragan drove in Mulcahy with another single.

Box score:

GIANTS GAIN THIRD PLACE

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Harry Danning's seventh inning single with the bases loaded gave the New York Giants a 6-4 decision over the ill-starred Chicago Cubs, and bounced the Giants back to third place in the National league today.

The single came off Manager Gabby Harinett's fourth pitching choice of the inning—Jake Mooty. The Cubs rookie starter, Vern Olsen had been chased to the showers when the bases were filled.

Then old Charlie Root came in, fanned one batter, and was immediately replaced by Ken Raffensberger.

LOYOLA WINNER OF TRACK MEET

Team Was Withdrawn On Count Vote, But Re-entered Tests

CLINTON, Miss., May 18.—(AP)—Completely outclassing three rivals, Loyola of the South raced to an impressive victory in the Dixie conference track meet today.

Loyola scored 93 1-2 points to win the championship trophy. Mississippi college had 50 3-4 to nose out Southwestern of Memphis for second place, the Lynx finishing with 45. Millsaps was fourth with 34 3-4 points. Howard, Chattanooga, Mercer and Spring Hill did not enter teams.

The Wolfpack from New Orleans captured ten first places in the 15 events, and won every flat race from the 100-yard dash through the relay and the two-mile runs.

Segura and Liske ran one, two for Loyola in the sprints, putting the Southwestern ace, Billy Pope, third in both dashes. The times of 10 flat and 22.6 for the century and furlong events were excellent, as a strong wind blew into the faces of the speedsters down the straightaway.

Bearden of Southwestern with a 180-foot javelin throw and Underwood of the Lynx with a 12-foot pole vault dominated these events as expected, but Carter Blake of Mississippi college came through with a 5-foot 10-inch high jump effort to tie the Memphis aces, Partin and Falls, and split the points in this event. This tie was the only first place honor Mississippi college won.

Millsaps presented a pair of winners in Ford Canterbury who won the high hurdles in the excellent time of 15.7 considering the wind, and Gordon Worthington, who took the broad jump.

Delholm of Loyola in the mile and his teammate Baudier in the half outran Mississippi college's Bert Ishee in thrilling stretch wins in these events.

Loyola's coach, Clay Calhoun, withdrew his team last night after coaches had voted 3 to 1 to count five places in the meet although only four teams were entered.

After a long-distance consultation with Loyola officials at New Orleans this morning, however, he re-entered the meet and walked off with the honors.

TIGER STAR TAKES THREE 1ST PLACES IN SOUTHEASTERN

Georgia Is Second, Auburn Third In Games At Birmingham

By Rommey Wheeler

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 18.—(AP)—Towering Billy Brown, Louisiana State's bounding beanpole, led the big bad Bengals from Baton Rouge to their third consecutive Southeastern conference track championship today and himself became the first triple winner since the meets began in 1933.

The long-legged sprint and jump star, a member of the United States Olympic team in 1936, breasted a hindering head-wind to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes in 9.9 and 22.5 seconds, respectively, then loped to the sand pits and lifted his spare frame 23 feet 11 inches to clinch the running broad jump.

Brown, along with Frank Church and Sophomore J. C. Devall, gave the Bengals six individual championships and helped shoulder the Louisiana total to 69 points.

Georgia, with Bob (Red) Salisbury setting his second javelin record in two days on a heave of 212 feet 10 1-8 inches, and with victories by Vassa Cate in the low hurdles and Henry Frederiksen in the mile, accumulated 31 1-3 points for runner-up trophy. Auburn was third with 26 2-3, Alabama fourth with 24, and Georgia Tech fifth with 18 1-2.

Hefty Millard White, Tulane, and Frank Church, Louisiana, rate just behind Brown as double winners. White took firsts in the shot put and discus throw, while Church led the field in both quarters and half mile events.

What promised to be a bad day for the record books wound up as just another track meet when a brisk southeast wind sprang up and whipped down the track in the face of runners and jumpers alike.

Brown, who had looked like a likely bet to lower the world record in the century, barely shaded 10 seconds and lacked a full half second of the standard.

A predicted new record in the high jump also failed to materialize. J. C. Devall, Louisiana, dethroned Alabama's Kelly Horn as champion, but cleared only 6 feet 3 inches, two and a half inches short of the record established by Horn a year ago. The ousted champ cleared 6 feet 1.

Salisbury's heave added more than six feet to the javelin record he booked yesterday, when he dropped the spear at 206 feet 9 1-4 inches.

Bitterest race of the day was the mile relay, which was an Alabama and L. S. U. battle for four laps in a bid for the championship. Truitt Bullock, anchor man for 'Bama, clinched the argument in the last 50 yards, breasting the tape a bare stride ahead of Jumonville.

The pole vault, in which Louisiana's Eldon Wonacott had hoped to set a new conference record, saw a four-way tie for first between Siple, L. S. U.; Wonacott; Hall, Auburn, and McClellan, Mississippi State. Each cleared 13 feet, more than a half foot short of the mark hung by Alabama's Wayne Downey a year ago.

Pitcher Has One-Run Lead When Arm Is Hurt In Throw To First

CLEVELAND, May 18.—(AP)—Buddy Lewis' eighth-inning homer with George Case on base gave Washington a 3-2 victory over Cleveland today and an even split in the weather-shortened series.

Lewis drove over the right field wall a few seconds after Harry Eisenstat had replaced injured Johnny Allen as the Indians' pitcher. Allen, who had arm trouble last year, pulled a tendon in his throwing wing today and probably will be out of action a week.

Going into the eighth with a one-run lead, Allen retired Kendall Chase, Senator pitcher who bunted, but injured his arm in making the throw to First Baseman Hal Trosky. Case, the next hitter, doubled, and Allen was withdrawn after one pitch to Lewis.

The leading Boston club was idle.

YANKS OUT OF CELLAR

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP)—The New York Yankees climbed out of the American league cellar today and started on the long trek towards their fifth American league pennant.

A brilliantly-pitched two-hitter by Monte Pearson gave them a 3-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox and hoisted the champions into seventh place.

Tommy Henrich was the ace of the Yanks power attack, driving in two of the three runs. His powerful homer in the sixth was the chief blow in the Yanks' 11-hit attack on Thornton Lee.

PROMOTER WILL WRESTLE IN MONROE

A shot of Gus Kallio with a head scissors on Rex Mobley, the light-heavy champion. Gus will wrestle Sugi Hayamaker or Chin Lee on Thursday's card in Monroe.

PROMOTER PLANS TO WRESTLE HERE

Kallio Signs Hayamaker To Meet Him In Local Ring Thursday Night

Gus Kallio, who held the middleweight wrestling belt for several years and also the light heavy-weight until Rex Mobley beat him in a local ring some weeks ago, announced Thursday night that he would be willing to wrestle anyone the fans named. The fans named Chin Lee, who refused the bout, saying, "Gus is too old and would be no match for me." So Kallio signed Sugi Hayamaker, a Japanese wrestler to meet him next Thursday night.

"Cowboy" Jack Purdin, who showed that he liked the going rough on last weeks card, will battle another toughie in Leo Jensen of Vancouver, British Columbia, in the semi-final. Jensen is a wrestler that likes the going best when its rough.

Promoter Kallio announced that there would be three men, qualified to referee, at the ringside, and if the wrestlers couldn't agree, then Commissioner Bernie Oakland will name one. Butch Martin will not be in that number.

Sugi Hayamaker appeared here several months ago and proved to the fans that he is one of the best wrestlers in the business. Kallio, who is no "spring chicken," is still in good enough condition to take care of himself with any man and with Hayamaker weighing within a few pounds of Gus, the main event should be one of the best scientific wrestling bouts ever to be presented in the local arena.

Purdin, who lost to Jack Curtis on fouls last week, will be back to tangle with Leo Jensen. Purdin insisted on choking and gouging Curtis last week.

Owing to the roughness of the boys on the card, there is likely to be two referees named to be sure that everything is kept under control.

NOPE, TECH HASN'T ANNEXED NORMAL YET

RUSTON, La., May 18.—(Special)—Imagine the surprise of Kenneth Hewins, Louisiana Tech's ace horn-blower, when he read in Saturday's Morning World that Tech was "claimant of Louisiana State Normal's Demons."

Upon reflection, the Tech publicity expert realized, of course, that the make-up man had left out a couple lines. It should have read that Tech's baseball team defeated Louisiana Normal and thus claimed the diamond championship of the Louisiana conference.

Anyway, it led to a most appropriate exclamation: "I've claimed a lot of things, but never Louisiana Normal."

And although Tech can't claim Normal, they have a strangle hold on that baseball championship as a result of their victory over the Demons.

SAM ATCHESON TAKES HANDBALL SINGLES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—Curly headed Sam Atcheson, veteran Memphis handballer with 13 national crowns to his credit, captured the singles title in the first annual Cotton Carnival Handball tournament ending today.

Jack Srenco of St. Louis, ranked fifth in the A. A. U.'s national list, gave the longarmed Memphian a tussle before bowing out 18-21, 21-5, 21-13. Well placed kill shots gave Srenco his lone game, the only loss Atcheson suffered in the entire tournament.

Teamed with Walter Streuli, fellow Memphian, Atcheson came back later to take the doubles title, defeating Daniel Bennett and Jim Sharp of Dallas, Tex., 21-14 and 21-6.

Georgia Is Second, Auburn Third In Games At Birmingham

By Rommey Wheeler

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 18.—(AP)—Towering Billy Brown, Louisiana State's bounding beanpole, led the big bad Bengals from Baton Rouge to their third consecutive Southeastern conference track championship today and himself became the first triple winner since the meets began in 1933.

The long-legged sprint and jump star, a member of the United States Olympic team in 1936, breasted a hindering head-wind to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes in 9.9 and 22.5 seconds, respectively, then loped to the sand pits and lifted his spare frame 23 feet 11 inches to clinch the running broad jump.

Brown, along with Frank Church and Sophomore J. C. Devall, gave the Bengals six individual championships and helped shoulder the Louisiana total to 69 points.

Georgia, with Bob (Red) Salisbury setting his second javelin record in two days on a heave of 212 feet 10 1-8 inches, and with victories by Vassa Cate in the low hurdles and Henry Frederiksen in the mile, accumulated 31 1-3 points for runner-up trophy. Auburn was third with 26 2-3, Alabama fourth with 24, and Georgia Tech fifth with 18 1-2.

Hefty Millard White, Tulane, and Frank Church, Louisiana, rate just behind Brown as double winners. White took firsts in the shot put and discus throw, while Church led the field in both quarters and half mile events.

What promised to be a bad day for the record books wound up as just another track meet when a brisk southeast wind sprang up and whipped down the track in the face of runners and jumpers alike.

Brown, who had looked like a likely bet to lower the world record in the century, barely shaded 10 seconds and lacked a full half second of the standard.

A predicted new record in the high jump also failed to materialize. J. C. Devall, Louisiana, dethroned Alabama's Kelly Horn as champion, but cleared only 6 feet 3 inches, two and a half inches short of the record established by Horn a year ago. The ousted champ cleared 6 feet 1.

Salisbury's heave added more than six feet to the javelin record he booked yesterday, when he dropped the spear at 206 feet 9 1-4 inches.

Bitterest race of the day was the mile relay, which was an Alabama and L. S. U. battle for four laps in a bid for the championship. Truitt Bullock, anchor man for 'Bama, clinched the argument in the last 50 yards, breasting the tape a bare stride ahead of Jumonville.

The pole vault, in which Louisiana's Eldon Wonacott had hoped to set a new conference record, saw a four-way tie for first between Siple, L. S. U.; Wonacott; Hall, Auburn, and McClellan, Mississippi State. Each cleared 13 feet, more than a half foot short of the mark hung by Alabama's Wayne Downey a year ago.

Pitcher Has One-Run Lead When Arm Is Hurt In Throw To First

CLEVELAND, May 18.—(AP)—Buddy Lewis' eighth-inning homer with George Case on base gave Washington a 3-2 victory over Cleveland today and an even split in the weather-shortened series.

Lewis drove over the right field wall a few seconds after Harry Eisenstat had replaced injured Johnny Allen as the Indians' pitcher. Allen, who had arm trouble last year, pulled a tendon in his throwing wing today and probably will be out of action a week.

Going into the eighth with a one-run lead, Allen retired Kendall Chase, Senator pitcher who bunted, but injured his arm in making the throw to First Baseman Hal Trosky. Case, the next hitter, doubled, and Allen was withdrawn after one pitch to Lewis.

The leading Boston club was idle.

YANKS OUT OF CELLAR

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP)—The New York Yankees climbed out of the American league cellar today and started on the long trek towards their fifth American league pennant.

A brilliantly-pitched two-hitter by Monte Pearson gave them a 3-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox and hoisted the champions into seventh place.

Tommy Henrich was the ace of the Yanks power attack, driving in two of the three runs. His powerful homer in the sixth was the chief blow in the Yanks' 11-hit attack on Thornton Lee.

PROMOTER WILL WRESTLE IN MONROE

A shot of Gus Kallio with a head scissors on Rex Mobley, the light-heavy champion. Gus will wrestle Sugi Hayamaker or Chin Lee on Thursday's card in Monroe.

NOPE, TECH HASN'T ANNEXED NORMAL YET

RUSTON, La., May 18.—(Special)—Imagine the surprise of Kenneth Hewins, Louisiana Tech's ace horn-blower, when he read in Saturday's Morning World that Tech was "claimant of Louisiana State Normal's Demons."

Upon reflection, the Tech publicity expert realized, of course, that the make-up man had left out a couple lines. It should have read that Tech's baseball team defeated Louisiana Normal and thus claimed the diamond championship of the Louisiana conference.

Anyway, it led to a most appropriate exclamation: "I've claimed a lot of things, but never Louisiana Normal."

SAM ATCHESON TAKES HANDBALL SINGLES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 18.—(AP)—Curly headed Sam Atcheson, veteran Memphis handballer with 13 national crowns to his credit, captured the singles title in the first annual Cotton Carnival Handball tournament ending today.

Jack Srenco of St. Louis, ranked fifth in the A. A. U.'s national list, gave the longarmed Memphian a tussle before bowing out 18-21, 21-5, 21-13. Well placed kill shots gave Srenco his lone game, the only loss Atcheson suffered in the entire tournament.

Teamed with Walter Streuli, fellow Memphian, Atcheson came back later to take the doubles title, defeating Daniel Bennett and Jim Sharp of Dallas, Tex., 21-14 and 21-6.

PROMOTER PLANS TO WRESTLE HERE

Kallio Signs Hayamaker To Meet Him In Local Ring Thursday Night

Gus Kallio, who held the middleweight wrestling belt for several years and also the light heavy-weight until Rex Mobley beat him in a local ring some weeks ago, announced Thursday night that he would be willing to wrestle anyone the fans named. The fans named Chin Lee, who refused the bout, saying, "Gus is too old and would be no match for me." So Kallio signed Sugi Hayamaker, a Japanese wrestler to meet him next Thursday night.

"Cowboy" Jack Purdin, who showed that he liked the going rough on last weeks card, will battle another toughie in Leo Jensen of Vancouver, British Columbia, in the semi-final. Jensen is a wrestler that likes the going best when its rough.

Promoter Kallio announced that there would be three men, qualified to referee, at the ringside, and if the wrestlers couldn't agree, then Commissioner Bernie Oakland will name one. Butch Martin will not be in that number.

Sugi Hayamaker appeared here several months ago and proved to the fans that he is one of the best wrestlers in the business. Kallio, who is no "spring chicken," is still in good enough condition to take care of himself with any man and with Hayamaker weighing within a few pounds of Gus, the main event should be one of the best scientific wrestling bouts ever to be presented in the local arena.

Purdin, who lost to Jack Curtis on fouls last week, will be back to tangle with Leo Jensen. Purdin insisted on choking and gouging Curtis last week.

Owing to the roughness of the boys on the card, there is likely to be two referees named to be sure that everything is kept under control.

HOT SPRINGS CLUB IS NOT FOR SALE

President Adams Denies Reports Rogers Hornsby Seeks Franchise

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 18.—(AP)—Lloyd Adams, president of the Hot Springs Baseball club, said today that there were no plans afoot to sell the Cotton States league club.

Asked about a report that Rogers Hornsby was planning to buy the club, Adams stated there had been no such negotiations.

The club several days ago started a booster campaign to sell 2,000 tickets at one dollar each which would permit the buyers to attend any one game during the remainder of the season.

Adams said that 1,100 of these tickets had been sold and that he expected the other 900 would be sold within the next 10 days.

Asked if this would tide the team over financially for the season, he said:

"We certainly hope so. We've shown the fans by winning the last five games that we have a good club and if we can continue to gain their interest there will be no question about continuing through the season."

GOLDTHWAITE HAS 'BIG SHOTS' AGOG

Fort Worth Woman Among Those Expected To Rip Fairways Open

By Felix R. McKnight

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 18—(AP)—Four tournament-wise artists stood slightly in front of a women's golf "who's who" field on the rain-drenched eve of the twenty-ninth women's Southern tournament tonight.

Naming favorites from the bulky field was more or less a grab-bag gesture, but, nevertheless, the quartet that held gallery respect included National Champion Betty Jameson, Defending Champion Marion Miley, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, a hometowner.

Clustered in the dangerous bunch of challengers to the "big four" were such stars as Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta; youngster Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas; Mrs. Sam Israel of New Orleans; Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio, perhaps the longest tee shot player in the south, Mrs. David Roberts of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Connally Henson of Little Rock, Ark., and Kathryn Hemphill, still a doubtful entry.

Winner of the title the past two years, Miss Miley, dark-haired and boyish Lexington, Ky., girl, has been working out here over River Crest Country club's deceptive course for several days.

CARDS SMACK FIVE HOMERS

BROOKLYN, May 18.—(AP)—Five lusty home runs gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today and kept the Flatbush fliers from taking over first place in the National league from the Cincinnati Reds who lost to the Phillies.

Johnny Mize and Terry Moore each got two round-trippers and Ducky Medwick the other.

The game went glimmering for the Dodgers in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings when Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin, starting Dodger pitcher, served up his famous home-run delivery to Medwick, Moore and Mize, in that order, one per inning.

BEES BOOM 20 HITS

BOSTON, May 18.—(AP)—In their biggest day in a couple of years, the Boston Bees boomed 20 hits, including two three-run homers, off the not-so-good slants of five of frantic Frankie Frisch's pitchers today to overwhelm the Pittsburgh Pirates 15 to 5.

The biggest bat was that of Max West, who roused out of a slump to hit four for five including a homer with two mates aboard. Chet Ross, candidate for rookie-of-the-year honors, boomed another three-run homer. Every Bee but Centerfielder Bob Loane and starting Pitcher Bill Posedel smashed out at least one hit.

GOOD BATTERS SHOULD STICK TO FAVORITE STYLE

(Associated Press Feature Service)

"But" he says, "that wasn't true years ago."

Honus Wagner, the great shortstop-hitter, came to the plant some 20 years ago, looked around and picked out a dozen bats from various bins. Everyone was different. A few weeks ago Al Simmons of the Athletics visited the plant.

He swung and tested a number of bats. Finally Al picked one up, jiggled it in his hands and said:

"This is what I've been looking for in a bat. Now, maybe I can hit."

The company man took Al's order but laughed and said they varied little from the Simmons model that Al had used for years.

BAD EYES, GOOD HIT

NORMAN, Okla.—(AP)—Popeye Lasater's constituents are suggesting that he close his eyes when he comes to bat.

That's because he has been hitting phenomenally ever since he threw away his specs last summer when his eyes started bothering him. With Lakeview, Ore., he batted .560 and now, at Oklahoma university, he's still around the .500 mark.

WOMAN'S PLACE NOT IN RING

DENVER—(AP)—Women are forbidden in Colorado from officiating in any connection at a boxing or wrestling match.

PAGING PAYCHEK

Johnny Paychek offered to meet Red Burman free gratis to show easterners he still can fight. . . . Des Moines fans are wondering why, if he really is sincere, he turned down a bout with Eddie Simms out there for which he would have been paid folding money.

Dizzy Dean going to Johns Hopkins was Mrs. D's idea. He is paying his own expenses since the Cubs aren't that interested any more. . . . Correction: The Kansas City (Kans.) Rosedale bowlers who finished second in the A. B. C. team event, did not finish last in their home town league, as we reported. That was a Kansas City (Mo.) team with the same name. Sorry. . . . MUSSOLINI'S REPLY SENT ROOSEVELT reported that the Italian liner Roma, which already is in New York, had been stopped at Gibraltar and detained 30 hours without explanation.

Relazioni Internationali, authoritative review of foreign affairs, said it was the unavoidable duty of Italian people to break the pressure of the allied contraband control, but added there was nothing to do but "await events."

As a war-time restriction, the windows of the European transport planes have been fitted so that the passengers cannot look out.

FURTHER PROBES WILL BE SOUGHT

chial or municipal jobs will be introduced when the legislature reconvenes Monday night.

State Senator James J. Bailey, Baton Rouge, said he was ready to introduce two companion bills, one applying to school board members and the other to police jurors, fixing penalties for these parochial officers should they accept additional public employment.

Under the bills, any police juror or school board member accepting another public position would be liable to $500 to $1,000 fine or six months to a year's imprisonment, or both.

Senator Bailey said he also would introduce a bill repealing the "spouse" law enacted at the special session assembly called last January by former Governor Earl K. Long, which prohibits man and wife from working for the state or state subdivisions. The law has drawn heavy fire from women's organizations.

Representative Theo Cangelosi, East Baton Rouge parish, said he would introduce a measure to amend the workmen's compensation law to include so-called occupational diseases such as silicosis, lead poisoning, cement poisoning and similar ailments contracted by workers.

R. Norman Bauer, speaker of the house, and Lieutenant-Governor Marc M. Mouton, president of the senate, will appoint standing committees Tuesday, completing the machinery for turning out legislation.

PRAISES WORK PROGRAM

LAFAYETTE, La., May 18.—(AP)—Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, senate majority leader, praised the government's public works program here today declaring it was inaugurated to "create a feeling that the national government has the interest of every man, woman and child at heart."

Speaking at dedication of new buildings at Southwestern Louisiana institute, he lashed at critics of the program and asserted it was "not forced on any individual state."

He complimented the people of Louisiana for their "spirit of cooperation and foresightedness" in taking advantage of the public works program to erect such structures.

Attorney General Eugene Stanley represented Governor Sam H. Jones, who was unable to attend the ceremonies.

"These buildings being dedicated today," Senator Barkley said, "are only a part of the vast program inaugurated by the federal government not only to create new buildings and public works but to give to the men and women of these United States work and employment.

"This program was inaugurated to create a feeling that the national government has the interest of every man, woman and child at heart; to give them an opportunity to raise their standards of living and environment and give them a chance to earn their daily bread and not be a direct relief burden.

"The program was not forced on any individual state. In no way did the government seek to supersede states' rights. Every state and community was free to take or reject the program. All that was asked for was for the state to match the government's money in any construction."

He reviewed accomplishments of the PWA and declared the numerous highways, farm roads, educational institutions, sewerage systems, power plants, bridges and dams built through the agency had proved a great boon to the states and their citizens.

Senator Barkley arrived today by automobile from New Orleans, where he flew from Washington, and was accompanied from New Orleans to Lafayette by Stanley and T. M. Callahan, editor of the Lafayette Advertiser.

After a visit to Governor Jones in Baton Rouge, the senator was scheduled to return to Washington tonight.

In New Orleans he expressed assurance congress would appropriate the $1,182,000,000 President Roosevelt asked for as an extraordinary defense fund, but said he hoped the country would not become involved in war.

New York

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Under the heaviest liquidation since war began cotton futures tumbled 27 to 31 points today to the lowest since last November.

At the start foreign operators sent selling orders for more than 50,000 bales into the market and prices fell around 40 points. A drastic decline at Bombay was rated one of the reasons for the liquidation by overseas sellers.

But alarming war news was seen as the main factor in the rush to get rid of contracts. The ring was extremely sensitive, however, to the violent fluctuations in the wheat and security markets.

Exports Friday 1,781 bales; season so far 5,999,920. Port receipts 5,907; port stocks 2,638,782.

CORK LEAKAGE

BERLIN—(AP)—Cork now has fallen victim of stringent war economy in the Reich.

A nationwide order makes it obligatory for shop-owners selling bottled goods, such as wines, champagne, liquor, vinegar or any other bottled liquid requiring a stopper, to demand from the customer one used cork per bottle. The order was scheduled to go into effect May 15.

Restaurant proprietors were required to begin saving stoppers on May 1.

The cork thus collected will be cleansed and regenerated in factories to be used a second and perhaps many more times.

Appeals are addressed chiefly to German hausfraus, as mass consumers, to help the fatherland by sparing it unnecessary expenditures in foreign currency. Cork is a raw material which Germany imported in large quantities.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Stocks tumbled to new lows for more than two years in today's brief market as war fears persisted in Wall Street.

With the ticker tape frequently behind as much as four minutes, pivotal issues were down one to more than four points at the worst. There were intermittent recovery periods when dealings slowed. At the close extreme losses were reduced in most cases, with steels and aircrafts, in particular, steadying. Here and there modest advances were to be seen. Transfers for the two hours were around 1,500,000 shares.

Favorable domestic news developments, combined with mild bullishness for stocks of companies that stand to benefit from the administration's billion-dollar defense expansion program brought in buyers now and then, but this support was insufficient to spur the list as a whole.

Predictions of a jump in steel mill production next week, stimulated by heavy orders from home and abroad, apparently put a prop under stocks in this category. In the Chicago district it was expected ingot output would begin the week with an advance of more than three points.

CARDS SMACK FIVE HOMERS

BROOKLYN, May 18.—(AP)—Five lusty home runs gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today and kept the Flatbush fliers from taking over first place in the National league from the Cincinnati Reds who lost to the Phillies.

Johnny Mize and Terry Moore each got two round-trippers and Ducky Medwick the other.

The game went glimmering for the Dodgers in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings when Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin, starting Dodger pitcher, served up his famous home-run delivery to Medwick, Moore and Mize, in that order, one per inning.

BEES BOOM 20 HITS

BOSTON, May 18.—(AP)—In their biggest day in a couple of years, the Boston Bees boomed 20 hits, including two three-run homers, off the not-so-good slants of five of frantic Frankie Frisch's pitchers today to overwhelm the Pittsburgh Pirates 15 to 5.

The biggest bat was that of Max West, who roused out of a slump to hit four for five including a homer with two mates aboard. Chet Ross, candidate for rookie-of-the-year honors, boomed another three-run homer. Every Bee but Centerfielder Bob Loane and starting Pitcher Bill Posedel smashed out at least one hit.

BRIDGE OF SURPRISE

LIVERMORE, Ky.—(AP)—The course of a new Ohio river bridge here was a puzzle for local geographers. The bridge starts off in McLean county, crosses Ohio county and ends up in McLean county again. The structure is no merry-go-round. It crosses a small "V" formation where Ohio county juts into McLean county.

GOOD BATTERS SHOULD STICK TO FAVORITE STYLE

(Associated Press Feature Service)

"But" he says, "that wasn't true years ago."

Honus Wagner, the great shortstop-hitter, came to the plant some 20 years ago, looked around and picked out a dozen bats from various bins. Everyone was different. A few weeks ago Al Simmons of the Atheltics visited the plant.

He swung and tested a number of bats. Finally Al picked one up, jiggled it in his hands and said:

"This is what I've been looking for in a bat. Now, maybe I can hit."

The company man took Al's order but laughed and said they varied little from the Simmons model that Al had used for years.

BAD EYES, GOOD HIT

NORMAN, Okla.—(AP)—Popeye Lasater's constituents are suggesting that he close his eyes when he comes to bat.

That's because he has been hitting phenomenally ever since he threw away his specs last summer when his eyes started bothering him. With Lakeview, Ore., he batted .560 and now, at Oklahoma university, he's still around the .500 mark.

WOMAN'S PLACE NOT IN RING

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Arthur Donovan, New York's No. 1 referee, will work the Joey Archibald-Harry Jeffra featherweight title fight in Baltimore Monday night. . . . Detroit and Duquoin, Ill., are first and second in line for the fall trotting dates originally assigned Indianapolis. . . . Clayton Heafner, the North Carolina golf star, has been completely lost five times in the big town's mazes since arriving Wednesday for the Goodall. . . . Notre Dame is calling off its colorful gridiron rivalry with Georgia Tech because of the Southeastern conference's play-for-pay policy.

WATCH YOUR H'S

This corner is delighted to second the motion of Brother Bob Considine of the N. Y. Mirror that Umpire Bill Klem belongs in baseball's Hall of Fame. . . . Major league scouts are making Baton Rouge, La., a regular stop. Paul Brotherton, L. S. U. first sacker, and Charlie Anastiasio, slugging left fielder, are the magnets. . . . The Reds and Dodgers used up 67 balls (at $1.25 per) in their 13-inning battle the other day. . . . One of the features of commencement week at Notre Dame will be an exhibition golf match between Walter Hagen, Jr., and his famous popper. . . . The Elon college (N. Dizzy Dean going to Johns Hopkins was Mrs. D's idea. He is paying his own expenses since the Cubs aren't that interested any more. . . . Correction: The Kansas City (Kans.) Rosedale bowlers who finished second in the A. B. C. team event, did not finish last in their home town league, as we reported. That was a Kansas City (Mo.) team with the same name. Sorry. . . . Gabby Hartnett has pitched batting practice ever since the Cubs' five-game streak began. . . . Arturo Godoy begins training for Joe Louis at Carmel, N. Y., a week from today. . . . FURTHER PROBES WILL BE SOUGHT chial or municipal jobs will be introduced when the legisature reconvenes Monday night.

State Senator James J. Bailey, Baton Rouge, said he was ready to introduce two companion bills, one applying to school board members and the other to police jurors, fixing penalties for these parochial officers should they accept additional public employment.

Under the bills, any police juror or school board member accepting another public position would be liable to $500 to $1,000 fine or six months to a year's imprisonment, or both.

Senator Bailey said he also would introduce a bill repealing the "spouse" law enacted at the special session assembly called last January by former Governor Earl K. Long, which prohibits man and wife from working for the state or state subdivisions. The law has drawn heavy fire from women's organizations.

Representative Theo Cangelosi, East Baton Rouge parish, said he would introduce a measure to amend the workmen's compensation law to include so-called occupational diseases such as silicosis, lead poisoning, cement poisoning and similar ailments contracted by workers.

R. Norman Bauer, speaker of the house, and Lieutenant-Governor Marc M. Mouton, president of the senate, will appoint standing committees Tuesday, completing the machinery for turning out legislation.

PRAISES WORK PROGRAM

LAFAYETTE, La., May 18.—(AP)—Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, senate majority leader, praised the government's public works program here today declaring it was inaugurated to "create a feeling that the national government has the interest of every man, woman and child at heart."

Speaking at dedication of new buildings at Southwestern Louisiana institute, he lashed at critics of the program and asserted it was "not forced on any individual state."

He complimented the people of Louisiana for their "spirit of cooperation and foresightedness" in taking advantage of the public works program to erect such structures.

Attorney General Eugene Stanley represented Governor Sam H. Jones, who was unable to attend the ceremonies.

"These buildings being dedicated today," Senator Barkley said, "are only a part of the vast program inaugurated by the federal government not only to create new buildings and public works but to give to the men and women of these United States work and employment.

"This program was inaugurated to create a feeling that the national government has the interest of every man, woman and child at heart; to give them an opportunity to raise their standards of living and environment and give them a chance to earn their daily bread and not be a direct relief burden.

"The program was not forced on any individual state. In no way did the government seek to supersede states' rights. Every state and community was free to take or reject the program. All that was asked for was for the state to match the government's money in any construction."

He reviewed accomplishments of the PWA and declared the numerous highways, farm roads, educational institutions, sewerage systems, power plants, bridges and dams built through the agency had proved a great boon to the states and their citizens.

Senator Barkley arrived today by automobile from New Orleans, where he flew from Washington, and was accompanied from New Orleans to Lafayette by Stanley and T. M. Callahan, editor of the Lafayette Advertiser.

After a visit to Governor Jones in Baton Rouge, the senator was scheduled to return to Washington tonight.

In New Orleans he expressed assurance congress would appropriate the $1,182,000,000 President Roosevelt asked for as an extraordinary defense fund, but said he hoped the country would not become involved in war.

New York

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Under the heaviest liquidation since war began cotton futures tumbled 27 to 31 points today to the lowest since last November.

At the start foreign operators sent selling orders for more than 50,000 bales into the market and prices fell around 40 points. A drastic decline at Bombay was rated one of the reasons for the liquidation by overseas sellers.

But alarming war news was seen as the main factor in the rush to get rid of contracts. The ring was extremely sensitive, however, to the violent fluctuations in the wheat and security markets.

Exports Friday 1,781 bales; season so far 5,999,920. Port receipts 5,907; port stocks 2,638,782.

CORK LEAKAGE

BERLIN—(AP)—Cork now has fallen victim of stringent war economy in the Reich.

A nationwide order makes it obligatory for shop-owners selling bottled goods, such as wines, champagne, liquor, vinegar or any other bottled liquid requiring a stopper, to demand from the customer one used cork per bottle. The order was scheduled to go into effect May 15.

Restaurant proprietors were required to begin saving stoppers on May 1.

The cork thus collected will be cleansed and regenerated in factories to be used a second and perhaps many more times.

Appeals are addressed chiefly to German hausfraus, as mass consumers, to help the fatherland by sparing it unnecessary expenditures in foreign currency. Cork is a raw material which Germany imported in large quanties.

The British Spitfire, carrying eight guns, fire 120 rounds a second.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Stocks tumbled to new lows for more than two years in today's brief market as war fears persisted in Wall Street.

With the ticker tape frequently behind as much as four minutes, pivotal issues were down one to more than four points at the worst. There were intermittent recovery periods when dealings slowed. At the close extreme losses were reduced in most cases, with steels and aircrafts, in particular, steadying. Here and there modest advances were to be seen. Transfers for the two hours were around 1,500,000 shares.

Favorable domestic news developments, combined with mild bullishness for stocks of companies that stand to benefit from the administration's billion-dollar defense expansion program brought in buyers now and then, but this support was insufficient to spur the list as a whole.

Predictions of a jump in steel mill production next week, stimulated by heavy orders from home and abroad, apparently put a prop under stocks in this category. In the Chicago district it was expected ingot output would begin the week with an advance of more than three points.

LIBRARY SERVICE PLAN FOLLOWED

Country People Realize Same Benefits As City Readers

RUSTON, La., May 18.—(Special)—For the past 24 months a library demonstration program has been conducted in Lincoln parish which has shown that country people can be given the same kind of library service which has long been possible to their city cousins.

With a headquarters library in Ruston directing the work, branch units located over the parish and a bookmobile which has taken books to isolated farm people, has given a complete and parishwide service.

At each of the 18 weekly stops made by the bookmobile, groups gather, waiting to return books they have read and to take out others. Often one child or one adult will take out books for all the neighbors living nearby.

In country stores, community club houses, schools and renovated buildings there are 10 branch libraries.

At frequent intervals the collections in the branches and bookmobile are replaced with other books, giving every section access to all the books in the library's stock.

In addition, the library will borrow from other libraries in the country any book not in its collection and requested by one of its borrowers. Thus, the readers have a chance to read almost any book still in print.

At the end of March, 1940, the library had circulated a total of 114,981 books and its readers numbered 5,386, including farmers, businessmen, parents, teachers, club members, and children.

Most of the people using the library read many more books than they could have bought, since the average price of a book, roughly estimated, is $2.

With the demonstration period ending May 31, the continuance of the library is now left to the people, and a two-mill tax to support the library must be voted if the library is to remain open.

TECH ANNUALS, PRINTED HERE, PLEASE STUDENTS

Shreveport Will Mark Days Of Warfare Period

End Of Strife Will Be Marked By City At Sunday Ceremony

By Mortimer Kreeger

SHREVEPORT, La., May 18.—(AP)—This city commemorates a week from Sunday the 75th anniversary of the end of the War Between the States.

The date of May 26, 1865, represented the last lowering of the Confederate flag on land following surrender of General Edmund Kirby-Smith, commander of the Confederate army's trans-Mississippi department, with headquarters in Shreveport.

School books refer to the surrender of General Robert E. Lee on April 9, 1865, as the war's end. But many Confederate leaders, including President Jefferson Davis, regarded their country as still quite active beyond that date. Some believed it was possible to continue the war indefinitely west of the Mississippi.

It is known that three days after the last southern armies east of the Mississippi had surrendered, a battle was fought in Texas and a Confederate victory claimed.

But "with General E. K. Smith's surrender the Confederate flag no longer floated on land," wrote Davis in his "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy."

The Shreveport Patriotic Council, Inc., organized to arrange the observance, has planned a pageant for May 24 and 25. A queen with a court of costumed Confederates will reign over an old-fashioned ball. On May 26 scenes depicting the Confederacy's final days will be reenacted.

Shreveport became department headquarters in 1863 after the Federals had captured New Orleans, Baton Rouge and other south Louisiana cities.

After Lee's army of northern Virginia had gone back to wrecked homes and wasted farms, Davis planned to reach the Mississippi department with parts of General Joseph E. Johnston's army, reinforced by stragglers and other troops in Mississippi and Alabama.

In his book, Davis wrote he had hoped to form an army that could have continued the war "until our enemy, foiled in the purpose of subjugation, should, in accordance with his repeated declaration, have agreed, on the basis of a return to the union, to acknowledge our constitutional rights of the states, and by a convention, or quasi-treaty, to guarantee security of person and property."

"To this hope," he wrote, "I persistently clung, and, if our independence could not be achieved, so much, at least, I trusted might be gained.

"Those who have endured the horrors of 'reconstruction,' who have, under 'carpet-bag rule,' borne insult, robbery and imprisonment without legal warrant, can appreciate the value which would have attached to such limited success."

Continued resistance was the purport of speeches at a public meeting at Shreveport April 26. General Dick Taylor surrendered the forces in Mississippi and Alabama May 8 after receiving false information that Davis had been arrested. Thus, the last troops east of the Mississippi had capitulated.

Davis, fleeing with his family and some members of his cabinet, was overtaken and arrested in Georgia on May 8 by Union soldiers. On May 13 Kirby-Smith still refused a Union offer of peace terms, but it was doubtful then he had heard of Davis' capture.

A week later he transferred his headquarters to Houston, Tex., planning to "concentrate the strength of my department * * * secure terms honorable alike to soldier and citizen," or failing in this to "struggle to the last."

He found only disorder in Texas, where the troops were already disbanding and going to their homes. Meanwhile his chief-of-staff, Lieutenant-General Simon B. Buckner, entered into negotiations with General E. R. S. Canby, commanding the United United States army's department of the gulf with headquarters in New Orleans.

On May 26 the convention of surrender was entered into in the names of Kirby-Smith and Canby, with terms similar to those granted other Confederate armies—officers and men to be paroled and to retain their private property. Kirby-Smith signed the convention June 2 at Galveston and on June 11 formal delivery of remaining Confederate records and stores in Shreveport consummated the surrender.

Hearing of Lee's indictment for treason and noting that President Johnson's amnesty proclamation excepted graduates of West Point, Kirby-Smith fled to Mexico. He had previously been in sympathy with a tentative plan of Davis' to turn over Confederate forces to Emperor Maxmillian for use against a possible invasion by the United States, but this was never done.

He returned to the United States when General U. S. Grant assured him he would be treated just as any other paroled southern officer. Kirby-Smith spent his last days teaching at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn.

CIRCULATION INCREASES

FERRIDAY, La., May 18.—(Special)—With 20,337 books passing into the hands of Concordia parish readers during the first three months of 1940 the Concordia parish library improved upon its performance for the same period in 1939 by 16.5 per cent.

Concordia parish white citizens, 3,596 of them by the 1930 census, read an average of 5.7 books per person during the first quarter of the year 1940.

Since January 1, 1940, over 800 new books have been added to the collection.

Mayor E. W. Vogt of Ferriday is the president of the library board, and George Murray, the mayor of Vidalia, Mrs. Lucille Godbold of Lake St. John, Mr. Curtis Jacobs of Monterey, Mr. H. P. Rabb of Ferriday and Mrs. Abner Maxwell of Shaw are members. J. H. McGee, a trained librarian who has passed the examination and met the qualifications set forth by the state board of library examiners, is employed by the board of control as parish librarian.

Mr. McGee was recently elected as treasurer of the Louisiana Library association.

MATERNITY TOPIC OF LEADER'S TALK

Discussion Of Child Welfare Is Conducted By Mrs. Lizzie Morris

A discussion of child and maternity welfare featured the May meeting of the Council of Social Agencies, Mrs. Lizzie Morris, program chairman, said Saturday.

Mrs. Morris briefly outlined the origin and growth of the local maternity clinic and Miss Lucille Woodville, nurse in charge, explained the operation of the clinic and listed the persons who are eligible for its services.

"Any expectant mother in indigent circumstances who is unable to pay for doctor's services is eligible for both pre-natal and post-natal care, as well as delivery," she stated. "At the present time we are not in a position to take care of the deliveries in homes outside the city limits of Monroe and West Monroe, but I would like to request that any expectant mother in the parish eligible for this service be referred to the clinic, and every effort will be made to make some arrangement for handling the situation."

Miss Woodville brought out that the clinic was not organized to take practice away from private physicians but to take care of only those cases who could not pay the physician, and that the physician did not want. "Each patient is expected to pay a nominal fee," she said, "if it is possible for them to do so, and must report to the clinic at least three months prior to the birth of the child. Dr. Morgan Simonton and Dr. Prentice Gray are the physicians in charge and the services rendered are equal to those that can be obtained elsewhere. If, however, the mother has been to a physician, it is necessary that her admittance be requested by that physician."

Miss Woodville presented charts which showed that the death rate in Ouachita parish has been markedly decreased within the past two years. She stated that one of the greatest functions of the clinic in addition to their own services, is the fact that the community has been made "maternity conscious," and has learned to realize that if the mother can be made healthy, she will give to the community a healthy child.

Charles Mitchell, president of the council, named active committees for the current year and emphasized that these committees should promptly get in motion.

Mr. Mitchell expressed the hope that a committee from the Council of Social Agencies working with a committee of the Community Chest would be able to effect the rorganzation and reopening of the social service exchange at an early date, as a clearing house to prevent duplication between various agencies.

A questionnaire was submitted to be completed by each organization giving the identifying information of that organization and showing just what type of service it renders. It is hoped through this method to compile a directory of all community resources in order that they might be utilized to the greatest advantage.

U. S. HAVEN SEEN FOR WORLD BODY

League Of Nations May Come Here To Escape European War Horrors

By Andrue Berding

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—A shift of a portion of the League of Nations to the United States was considered a possibility in official quarters today as the Geneva institution began preparations for removal to Vichy, France, in case Switzerland is invaded.

The transfer would be in line with the desire of the Roosevelt administration to promote the non-political activities of the league—such as economic studies, control over opium production and sale, and suppression of white slavery. Well-informed persons felt this portion of the league would be the most logical to transfer to the new world.

Officials would not be surprised to see also a transfer to this country—temporarily—of the international labor office at Geneva, of which an American, John G. Winant, former governor of New Hampshire, is secretary general. That organization, which seeks improvement of labor standards in all countries, has likewise begun preparations to move to France.

Officials here wonder if the league organization would feel safe even in France, in view of the ever-widening scope of the German aerial bombardments. Some reports have been received that the organization would continue on to Lisbon, Portugal.

Preparations for removal of the league from Geneva come at a time when the institution created by President Woodrow Wilson is completing a project for the separation of the non-political activities of the league from its political activities and, in effect, setting up a separate body.

Officials here have been keenly interested in the project. Under the guidance of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, it was thought this government might consent to become a member of a non-political league.

Transfer of a portion of the league to the United States would be an ironic footnote on the history of the Geneva society. An American president was responsible for its foundation, the name of the United States was placed at the head of the list of the founding nations and yet, the senate having refused its consent, this country remained outside.

LIBRARY SERVICE PLAN FOLLOWED

Country People Realize Same Benefits As City Readers

RUSTON, La., May 18.—(Special)—For the past 14 months a library demonstration program has been conducted in Lincoln parish which has shown that country people can be given the same kind of library service which has long been possible to their city cousins.

With a headquarters library in Ruston directing the work, branch units located over the parish and a bookmobile which has taken books to isolated farm poeple, has given a complete and parishwide service.

At each of the 18 weekly stops made by the bookmobile, groups gather, waiting to return books they have read and to take out others. Often one child or one adult will take out books for all the neighbors living nearby.

In country stores, community club houses, schools and renovated buildings there are 10 branch libraries.

At frequent intervals the collections in the branches and bookmobile are replaced with other books, giving every section access to all the books in the library's stock.

In addition, the library will borrow from other libraries in the country any book not in its collection and requested by one of its borrowers. Thus, the readers have a chance to read almost any book still in print.

At the end of March, 1940, the library had circulated a total of 114,981 books and its readers numbered 5,386, including farmers, businessmen, parents, teachers, club members, and children.

Most of the people using the library read many more books than they could have bought, since the average price of a book, roughly estimated, is $2.

With the demonstration period ending May 31, the continuance of the library is now left to the people, and a two-mill tax to support the library must be voted if the library is to remain open.

Discussion Of Child Welfare Is Conducted By Mrs. Lizzie Morris

A discussion of child and maternity welfare featured the May meeting of the Council of Social Agencies, Mrs. Lizzie Morris, program chairman, said Saturday.

Mrs. Morris briefly outlined the origin and growth of the local maternity clinic and Miss Lucille Woodville, nurse in charge, explained the operation of the clinic and listed the persons who are eligible for its services.

"Any expectant mother in indigent circumstances who is unable to pay for doctor's services is eligible for both pre-natal and post-natal care, as well as delivery," she stated. "At the present time we are not in a position to take care of the deliveries in homes outside the city limits of Monroe and West Monroe, but I would like to request that any expectant mother in the parish eligible for this service be referred to the clinic, and every effort will be made to make some arrangement for handling the situation."

Miss Woodville brought out that the clinic was not organized to take practice away from private physicians but to take care of only those cases who could not pay the physician, and that the physician did not want. "Each patient is expected to pay a nominal fee," she said, "if it is possible for them to do so, and must report to the clinic at least three months prior to the birth of the child. Dr. Morgan Simonton and Dr. Prentice Gray are the physicians in charge and the services rendered are equal to those that can be obtained elsewhere. If, however, the mother has been to a physician, it is necessary that her admittance be requested by that physician."

Miss Woodville presented charts which showed that the death rate in Ouachita parish has been markedly decreased within the past two years. She stated that one of the greatest functions of the clinic in addition to their own services, is the fact that the community has been made "maternity conscious," and has learned to realize that if the mother can be made healthy, she will give to the community a healthy child.

Charles Mitchell, president of the council, named active committees for the current year and emphasized that these committees should promptly get in motion.

Mr. Mitchell expressed the hope that a committee from the Council of Social Agencies working with a committee of the Community Chest would be able to effect the rorganzation and reopening of the social service exchange at an early date, as a clearing house to prevent duplication between various agencies.

A questionnaire was submitted to be completed by each organization giving the identifying information of that organization and showing just what type of service it renders. It is hoped through this method to compile a directory of all community resources in order that they might be utilized to the greatest advantage.

Shreveport Will Mark Days Of Warfare Period

End Of Strife Will Be Marked By City At Sunday Ceremony

By Mortimer Kreeger

SHREVEPORT, La., May 18.—(AP)—This city commemorates a week from Sunday the 75th anniversary of the end of the War Between the States.

The date of May 26, 1865, represented the last lowering of the Confederate flag on land following surrender of General Edmund Kirby-Smith, commander of the Confederate army's trans-Mississippi department, with headquarters in Shreveport.

School books refer to the surrender of General Robert E. Lee on April 9, 1865, as the war's end. But many Confederate leaders, including President Jefferson Davis, regarded their country as still quite active beyond that date. Some believed it was possible to continue the war indefinitely west of the Mississippi.

It is known that three days after the last southern armies east of the Mississippi had surrendered, a battle was fought in Texas and a Confederate victory claimed.

But "with General E. K. Smith's surrender the Confederate flag no longer floated on land," wrote Davis in his "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy."

The Shreveport Patriotic Council, Inc., organized to arrange the observance, has planned a pageant for May 24 and 25. A queen with a court of costumed Confederates will reign over an old-fashioned ball. On May 26 scenes depicting the Confederacy's final days will be reenacted.

Shreveport became department headquarters in 1863 after the Federals had captured New Orleans, Baton Rouge and other south Louisiana cities.

After Lee's army of northern Virginia had gone back to wrecked homes and wasted farms, Davis planned to reach the Mississippi department with parts of General Joseph E. Johnston's army, reinforced by stragglers and other troops in Mississippi and Alabama.

In his book, Davis wrote he had hoped to form an army that could have continued the war "until our enemy, foiled in the purpose of subjugation, should, in accordance with his repeated declaration, have agreed, on the basis of a return to the union, to acknowledge our constitutional rights of the states, and by a convention, or quasi-treaty, to guarantee security of person and property."

"To this hope," he wrote, "I persistently clung, and, if our independence could not be achieved, so much, at least, I trusted might be gained.

"Those who have endured the horrors of 'reconstruction,' who have, under 'carpet-bag rule,' borne insult, robbery and imprisonment without legal warrant, can appreciate the value which would have attached to such limited success."

Continued resistance was the purport of speeches at a public meeting at Shreveport April 26. General Dick Taylor surrendered the forces in Mississippi and Alabama May 8 after receiving false information that Davis had been arrested. Thus, the last troops east of the Mississippi had capitulated.

Davis, fleeing with his family and some members of his cabinet, was overtaken and arrested in Georgia on May 8 by Union soldiers. On May 13 Kirby-Smith still refused a Union offer of peace terms, but it was doubtful then he had heard of Davis' capture.

A week later he transferred his headquarters to Houston, Tex., planning to "concentrate the strength of my department * * * secure terms honorable alike to soldier and citizen," or failing in this to "struggle to the last."

He found only disorder in Texas, where the troops were already disbanding and going to their homes. Meanwhile his chief-of-staff, Lieutenant-General Simon B. Buckner, entered into negotiations with General E. R. S. Canby, commanding the United United States army's department of the gulf with headquarters in New Orleans.

On May 26 the convention of surrender was entered into in the names of Kirby-Smith and Canby, with terms similar to those granted other Confederate armies—officers and men to be paroled and to retain their private property. Kirby-Smith signed the convention June 2 at Galveston and on June 11 formal delivery of remaining Confederate records and stores in Shreveport consummated the surrender.

Hearing of Lee's indictment for treason and noting that President Johnson's amnesty proclamation excepted graduates of West Point, Kirby-Smith fled to Mexico. He had previously been in sympathy with a tentative plan of Davis' to turn over Confederate forces to Emperor Maxmillian for use against a possible invasion by the United States, but this was never done.

He returned to the United States when General U. S. Grant assured him he would be treated just as any other paroled southern officer. Kirby-Smith spent his last days teaching at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn.

CIRCULATION INCREASES

FERRIDAY, La., May 18.—(Special)—With 20,337 books passing into the hands of Concordia parish readers during the first three months of 1940 the Concordia parish library improved upon its performance for the same period in 1939 by 16.5 per cent.

Concordia parish white citizens, 3,596 of them by the 1930 census, read an average of 5.7 books per person during the first quarter of the year 1940.

Since January 1, 1940, over 800 new books have been added to the collection.

Mayor E. W. Vogt of Ferriday is the president of the library board, and George Murray, the mayor of Vidalia, Mrs. Lucille Godbold of Lake St. John, Mr. Curtis Jacobs of Monterey, Mr. H. P. Rabb of Ferriday and Mrs. Abner Maxwell of Shaw are members. J. H. McGee, a trained librarian who has passed the examination and met the qualifications set forth by the state board of library examiners, is employed by the board of control as parish librarian.

Mr. McGee was recently elected as treasurer of the Louisiana Library association.

U. S. HAVEN SEEN FOR WORLD BODY

League Of Nations May Come Here To Escape European War Horrors

By Andrue Berding

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—A shift of a portion of the League of Nations to the United States was considered a possibility in official quarters today as the Geneva institution began preparations for removal to Vichy, France, in case Switzerland is invaded.

The transfer would be in line with the desire of the Roosevelt administration to promote the non-political activities of the league—such as economic studies, control over opium production and sale, and suppression of white slavery. Well-informed persons felt this portion of the league would be the most logical to transfer to the new world.

Officials would not be surprised to see also a transfer to this country—temporarily—of the international labor office at Geneva, of which an American, John G. Winant, former governor of New Hampshire, is secretary general. That organization, which seeks improvement of labor standards in all countries, has likewise begun preparations to move to France.

Officials here wonder if the league organization would feel safe even in France, in view of the ever-widening scope of the German aerial bombardments. Some reports have been received that the organization would continue on to Lisbon, Portugal.

Preparations for removal of the league from Geneva come at a time when the institution created by President Woodrow Wilson is completing a project for the separation of the non-political activities of the league from its political activities and, in effect, setting up a separate body.

Officials here have been keenly interested in the project. Under the guidance of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, it was thought this government might consent to become a member of a non-political league.

Transfer of a portion of the league to the United States would be an ironic footnote on the history of the Geneva society. An American president was responsible for its foundation, the name of the United States was placed at the head of the list of the founding nations and yet, the senate having refused its consent, this country remained outside.

Monroe's Nautical Minded Look Forward To Happy Days On Ouachita River

Craft Of Biedenharns Brought To Home Port

Others Place Boats In Readiness For Summer, Delta Beta Sigma Dance Is Outstanding

By Eve C. Bradford

June comes on apace and we say aloha to the beautiful days of late spring. Now commences the summer and we don slacks, shorts, and sport clothes, and move out of doors, with the river the mecca for all the nautical minded. Paint brushes, sandpaper, and elbow grease are much in evidence along Monroe's water front, where house boats, speed boats, and, in fact, all river craft are being put through the process of having their faces lifted. In other words, shining new paint is being applied, brass is being polished, and flags are being unfurled from every prow.

Bessie and Henry Biedenharn sailed into home port from New Orleans, on board the Bitter Sweet. This handsome little craft has been in dry dock in New Orleans for repairs. It is now ship shape, and ready for Henry, Jr., one of Monroe's most enthusiastic sportsmen, when he arrives home next month from the University of Virginia. Henry, Jr. and his fiancee, Doll Hudson, who is attending Wellesley college, will have a glorituos time during the langorous summer, acquiring a deep tan on the river, with the Bitter Sweet at their disposal.

Leafing through the calendar for the month of May, one picks out one affair in particular, as outstanding. It was the black and white ball on the Frances hotel terrace, with the Delta Beta Sigma sorority members, hostesses. They danced under a labyrinth of black and white in evening attire, the femmes in black and white models, and their escorts in white linens. Dell Payne, the sorority mother, wore an exquisite gown, selected by friend husband, as a gift. It was fashioned with a black silk jersey blouse, with a diaphanous skirt of white mussiline. She carried a sheaf of waxen calla lillies, presented to her by the D. B. S's. Dell and Clyde stood with the sorority president, Gay Noe, and her escort, Thomas Downes, to receive. Gay wore a bouffant gown of white chiffon with bands of black chantilly lace, set in the skirt and outlining the off-shoulder-neck line.

Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, a beautiful woman, a wonderful mother, and possessing many talents, stepped forward last Monday night on the Frances hotel terrace in a gown of pink chiffon to receive a handsome gold pin presented to her by members of the Fine Arts club, in recognition of her splendid services during the past year. Maud Mayo, one of the most active members of the Fine Arts club, and one of Monroe's outstanding artists, made the presentation speech. Mrs. Mayo wore a light brown organza evening gown, very full as to skirt, and vastly becoming.

The Fine Arts club displayed several canvases from the brush of Roy Henderson at this time. There was considerable comment in regard to the paintings, as they were all of a contemporary nature, and rather intriguing. Just because this particular type of canvas is different, the comments of those who viewed the pictures varied—favorably, and otherwise. How deadly if all shows were alike, if all critics thought alike, if all visitors followed like sheep in each other's steps, unopinionated and softly complacent.

Mary Black received a cablegram announcing the marriage of her handsome sailor brother, Lieutenant Bennett W. Wright, Jr., in Honolulu last week. The happy bride was Mrs. John C. McHose, nee Edith Paine, well known in Los Angeles society. Lieutenant Wright and his bride spent their honeymoon at Waikiki, and on the Kona coast of the Island of Hawaii. The reception which followed their wedding in Honolulu was held in Waikiki. They sailed from Honolulu to San Francisco recently on board the Mariposa. Lieutenant Wright has friends in this city where he has visited his sister and his mother, Mrs. B. W. Wright, Sr., on numerous occasions.

No wonder "Chichi" Hinkle was selected "Queen of the May" by the student body at Northeast Junior college. She is the ideal type of American girl—friendly, wholesome, lovely to look at and fairly radiating health and happiness. She swims, plays tennis and badminton, and dances divinely. The young and loveliest surrounding Chichi when she was crowned Queen of May, were: Lucille Pugh, Jonnye Agnes Horton, Jane McMullen, Mildred Keiler, Monica Liles, and Virginia Brown. Florent Hammonds was the king, and he selected Lem McCoy, W. W. Taylor, Ray Maynor, Edward New and Charles Mims. They wore the customary white flannel trousers and dark blue coats, selected by young gallants as the ideal garb for formal summer wear.

Mrs. Frank Kennedy has the most wonderful philosophy of life. The secret of her happiness lies in the fact, perhaps, that she is so deeply grateful for every blessing, great and small. She looks on life as a wonderful adventure—brimming with good things for those who are in a receptive mood.

Mrs. Kennedy is a thinker and a scholar and sufficiently intelligent to know that if you give the world the best you have the best will come back to you. Meaning of course, kindness, compassion, unselfishness and trutworthiness.

No price is out on the lavish summer, so Mrs. Kennedy is up in the morning, happy as a lark and enjoying to the fullest the beauty that is all around—in other words enjoying "the loveliness of love."

Costume Recital To Be Held Tuesday

One of the outstanding, artistic events of the year, in musical circles, will be Mrs. Estelle Sanders' costume recital Tuesday night at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium at which time she will present her pupils in one of the most ambitious programs ever attempted by local vocalists.

This year a small admission fee will be charged as Mrs. Sanders is establishing a fund for one of her former pupils who received a scholarship at the Madame Homer foundation in St. Augustine, Fla., this past winter and will continue her study of voice under Madame Homer at her summer studios in New York. The funds derived from the recital will be used to defray the expenses of Mrs. Sanders protege while in New York.

The program, featuring distinctive costuming and beautiful settings designed and executed by W. D. Wamsley and Phillip Embanato, will be presented as follows:

Welcome Branch Club Holds Final Meeting

Delightful Program Presented At Luncheon As Organization Here Adjourns For Summer

Lovely plaques of spring flowers decorated the tables and attractive May baskets marked the places for the members and guests of the Welcome Branch Book club, when they met Wednesday for a luncheon at the Frances hotel, for the last time this year. Mrs. Zell Smith, president, who has guided the destiny of the club this past year, thanked the members for their cooperation and conscientious efforts. Mrs. George D. Holland, who takes the office of president in September, was introduced at this time. Mrs. J. R. White, speaking for members of Welcome Branch, praised Mrs. Smith for the excellence of her work.

In a glowing message, Mrs. Louis Hullum, president of the Twentieth Century Book club, brought greetings from the mother club, to the members of the Welcome Branch Book club.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, retiring president of Fifth district, was guest speaker. She presented the club with a book, "What Makes You Think So?" by Vella Alberta Winner, as a prize for being one of the outstanding clubs in the district. In a most inspirational talk, Mrs. Tisdale said that there are for club women three choices symbolized by the three choices in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." Portia's suitors met these choices in the form of caskets—a gold one symbolizing wealth; a silver one symbolizing fame; and a lead casket symbolizing service. Bassanio, choosing the leaden casket, won Portia's hand. Mrs. Tisdale expressed hopes that club women would band together and make the choice of service—service devoted to the preservation of democracy in a world where democracy is struggling for existence.

During the courses of the luncheon, the members were favored with musical numbers. Mrs. Dean Selig, with Mrs. George Moffett at the piano, rendered a violin number, Chopin's "Nocturne," followed by an encore, "Serenade." Mrs. J. Norman Coon, accompanied by Mrs. E. Everett Lawson at the piano, sang Howard Johnson's arrangement of "Blue Danube," by Strauss. Mrs. Coon favored the members with an encore, "Without a Song." Mrs. E. Everett Lawson played "Moods," her own composition for the piano.

Mrs. Zell Smith presided over a short business meeting during which a new member, Mrs. R. T. Watson, was elected and reports were heard from the following: Mrs. Charles Swain, chairman of the committee organizing a garden club; Mrs. J. R. White, chairman of the library commission; and Mrs. J. Norman Coon, chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Coon presented the year books for the coming year, and members expressed admiration for the well organized and attractive book outlining an imaginary tour of South America. Serving on the program committee with Mrs. Coon were Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. B. M. Murphy, Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs. George D. Holland.

Members present were: Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. Harvey Callender, Mrs. P. B. Collier, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. D. H. Duncan, Mrs. Wesley C. Ekholm, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. George Fink, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Mrs. J. H. Gorman, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. T. E. Hampton, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Speer, Jr., Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. J. R. White, Miss Ivo Wilson, Mrs. Paul Wright, Mrs. C. A. Young and Mrs. M. O. Young. Guests were: Mrs. J. L. Fine Arts Club Sponsors Exhibit

An evening devoted to music and a talk on contemporary art was enjoyed by members of the Fine Arts club on the terrace of the Frances hotel, last week.

The exhibit of several paintings from the brush of Roy Henderson and Maud Mayo, was a delightful interlude and prompted Mr. Henderson's talk later in the evening. His talk was most interesting as it threw new light on the present day technique and development of painting. The extraordinary, lively color relationship is one thing Mr. Henderson and Mrs. Mayo have successfully worked out. The pictures exhibited were compounded of large forms and vivid patterns put together with enormous vitality and freedom. Rhythmic design was an outstanding feature.

Vocal number by Mrs. Paul Newman, accompanist, Mrs. E. E. Lawson.

Piano duet by Mrs. C. C. Carroll and Miss Ladell Duke.

Piano duet by Leon Hammond and Joseph Craig.

Piano number by Mrs. Charles Gaushell.

Mrs. Mayo was privileged at this time to present Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, president of the Fine Arts club, with a handsome gold pin in recognition of the splendid work accomplished by members of the club under her leadership. Mrs. Thatcher was a lovely figure in a pink chiffon evening model.

Craft Of Biedenharns Brought To Home Port

By Eve C. Bradford

June comes on apace and we say aloha to the beautiful days of late spring. Now commences the summer and we don slacks, shorts, and sport clothes, and move out of doors, with the river the mecca for all the nautical minded. Paint brushes, sandpaper, and elbow grease are much in evidence along Monroe's water front, where house boats, speed boats, and, in fact, all river craft are being put through the process of having their faces lifted. In other words, shining new paint is being applied, brass is being polished, and flags are being unfurled from every prow.

Bessie and Henry Biedenharn sailed into home port from New Orleans, on board the Bitter Sweet. This handsome little craft has been in dry dock in New Orleans for repairs. It is now ship shape, and ready for Henry, Jr., one of Monroe's most enthusiastic sportsmen, when he arrives home next month from the University of Virginia. Henry, Jr. and his fiancee, Doll Hudson, who is attending Wellesley college, will have a gloriuos time during the langorous summer, acquiring a deep tan on the river, with the Bitter Sweet at their disposal.

Leafing through the calendar for the month of May, one picks out one affair in particular, as outstanding. It was the black and white ball on the Frances hotel terrace, with the Delta Beta Sigma sorority members, hostesses. They danced under a labyrinth of black and white in evening attire, the femmes in black and white models, and their escorts in white linens. Dell Payne, the sorority mother, wore an exquisite gown, selected by friend husband, as a gift. It was fashioned with a black silk jersey blouse, with a diaphanous skirt of white mussiline. She carried a sheaf of waxen calla lillies, presented to her by the D. B. S's. Dell and Clyde stood with the sorority president, Gay Noe, and her escort, Thomas Downes, to receive. Gay wore a bouffant gown of white chiffon with bands of black chantilly lace, set in the skirt and outlining the off-shoulder-neck line.

Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, a beautiful woman, a wonderful mother, and possessing many talents, stepped forward last Monday night on the Frances hotel terrace in a gown of pink chiffon to receive a handsome gold pin presented to her by members of the Fine Arts club, in recognition of her splendid services during the past year. Maud Mayo, one of the most active members of the Fine Arts club, and one of Monroe's outstanding artists, made the presentation speech. Mrs. Mayo wore a light brown organza evening gown, very full as to skirt, and vastly becoming.

The Fine Arts club displayed several canvases from the brush of Roy Henderson at this time. There was considerable comment in regard to the paintings, as they were all of a contemporary nature, and rather intriguing. Just because this particular type of canvas is different, the comments of those who viewed the pictures varied—favorably, and otherwise. How deadly if all shows were alike, if all critics thought alike, if all visitors followed like sheep in each other's steps, unopinionated and softly complacent.

Mary Black received a cablegram announcing the marriage of her handsome sailor brother, Lieutenant Bennett W. Wright, Jr., in Honolulu last week. The happy bride was Mrs. John C. McHose, nee Edith Paine, well known in Los Angeles society. Lieutenant Wright and his bride spent their honeymoon at Waikiki, and on the Kona coast of the Island of Hawaii. The reception which followed their wedding in Honolulu was held in Waikiki. They sailed from Honolulu to San Francisco recently on board the Mariposa. Lieutenant Wright has friends in this city where he has visited his sister and his mother, Mrs. B. W. Wright, Sr., on numerous occasions.

No wonder "Chichi" Hinkle was selected "Queen of the May" by the student body at Northeast Junior college. She is the ideal type of American girl—friendly, wholesome, lovely to look at and fairly radiating health and happiness. She swims, plays tennis and badminton, and dances divinely. The young and loveliest surrounding Chichi when she was crowned Queen of May, were: Lucille Pugh, Jonnye Agnes Horton, Jane McMullen, Mildred Keiler, Monica Liles, and Virginia Brown. Florent Hammonds was the king, and he selected Lem McCoy, W. W. Taylor, Ray Maynor, Edward New and Charles Mims. They wore the customary white flannel trousers and dark blue coats, selected by young gallants as the ideal garb for formal summer wear.

Mrs. Frank Kennedy has the most wonderful philosophy of life. The secret of her happiness lies in the fact, perhaps, that she is so deeply grateful for every blessing, great and small. She looks on life as a wonderful adventure—brimming with good things for those who are in a receptive mood.

Mrs. Kennedy is a thinker and a scholar and sufficiently intelligent to know that if you give the world the best you have the best will come back to you. Meaning of course, kindness, compassion, unselfishness and trutworthiness.

No price is out on the lavish summer, so Mrs. Kennedy is up in the morning, happy as a lark and enjoying to the fullest the beauty that is all around—in other words enjoying "the loveliness of love."

Fine Arts Club Sponsors Exhibit

An evening devoted to music and a talk on contemporary art was enjoyed by members of the Fine Arts club on the terrace of the Frances hotel, last week.

The exhibit of several paintings from the brush of Roy Henderson and Maud Mayo, was a delightful interlude and prompted Mr. Henderson's talk later in the evening. His talk was most interesting as it threw new light on the present day technique and development of painting. The extraordinary, lively color relationship is one thing Mr. Henderson and Mrs. Mayo have successfully worked out. The pictures exhibited were compounded of large forms and vivid patterns put together with enormous vitality and freedom. Rhythmic design was an outstanding feature.

Vocal number by Mrs. Paul Newman, accompanist, Mrs. E. E. Lawson.

Piano duet by Mrs. C. C. Carroll and Miss Ladell Duke.

Piano number by Mrs. Charles Gaushell.

Mrs. Mayo was privileged at this time to present Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, president of the Fine Arts club, with a handsome gold pin in recognition of the splendid work accomplished by members of the club under her leadership. Mrs. Thatcher was a lovely figure in a pink chiffon evening model.

'Monroe Little Theater Closes Season With Presentation Of 'The Distaff Side'

Fine Cast Excels In Its Final Production

Miss Eleona Brinsmade Takes Honors As Mrs. Venable; Louis Guerriero Lends Able Direction

The last performance of the season, "The Distaff Side," climaxed a season of great fulfillment. A season abounding in clever plays under the direction of Louis Guerriero, whose histrionic ability and knowledge of directing, stood him in great need as the plays selected were most ambitious and required expert directing.

"The Distaff Side" boasted an excellent cast with Eleona Brinsmade claiming the honors for her splendid performance. Miss Brinsmade, in the role of Mrs. Venable, a cantankerous old woman, who tapped her cane violently whenever vexed, gave one of the best performances in the history of the Monroe Little Theater. Her characterization was flawless, and her makeup so perfect, even her best friends failed to recognize her. Perfect enunciation was one of the things placed to her credit. She spoke distinctly, with considerable expression, and loud enough for the audience in every section of the auditorium to hear.

Sue Hefley gave a marvelous performance as Evie, the mother of a son and daughter, and the mistress of a perfectly managed menage. Miss Hefley's poise, lovely speaking voice, and graceful posture, are distinct attributes, anq of great value on the stage.

Kathleen Miller is quite the finished product. In her role of Mrs. Frobisher, she was perfectly charming, and the personification of grace. She wore some smart gowns, especially beautiful being the ashes of roses evening model with the sleeves of sparkling diamentes. A dressing gown of pastel shades, and a white sport frock were worn with considerable distinction.

Miss Miller's acting is characterized by charming mannerisms, especially attractive being the movements of her lovely hands. She accented her dialogue in this way.

Dorothy Duncan offered a charming portrayal of Evie's daughter, who is puzzled at life generally, and rather at sea where her love affairs are concerned. The last scene gave her an opportunity for a bit of dramatizing. Miss Duncan is a decided acquisition to Little Theater circles, as there are possibilities in her work.

Zach Daughtry gave a splendid performance as the adolescent son of Evie. His acting was perfectly natural and spontaneous. He was a favorite with the audience from the very start.

Lydia Nichols gave an excellent characterization of the spinster, Miss Spicer. Prim and proper and precise as to speech, she injected something very vital into the part she portrayed.

The three male leads, Howard Foggin, Charles Chapman and Tommy Hayes, delighted the audience. They were all cast with splendid discrimination, the different roles ideally suited to their talents.

Eleanor Tatum, Jo Coates and John Daniel, Jr., completed the cast of characters and, even though their roles were minor ones, they were responsible in a large measure for the smooth-running performance. It will be a pleasure to look forward to seeing them, and the maid, Louise Gail McDonald, in more important roles next season.

This season's productions have given considerable pleasure to a large number of people, members of the Little Theater, many of whom haven't missed a single performance. While some enjoyed one performance more than another, taken as a whole, each offering boasted something distinctive—something that placed it in a class by itself.

The Little Theater membership, numbering a thousand or more, feels that they have been royally entertained, and are greatly indebted to Mr. Guerriero and each performer for their work this past year. Built on such a firm foundation, next year's structure will be more pretentious, and more substantial than ever before.

Citizenship Program Completed In Lincoln

An extensive program of citizenship emphasis has just been completed in Lincoln parish. Inspired by the plan of inducting young citizens into their new estate followed in Manitowoc, Wis., last spring, Mrs. Leola Nixon, president of the Ruston Federation of Women's clubs, began to work toward a similar movement in Lincoln parish. Through her efforts a citizenship chairman from each of the clubs was appointed as follows: Mrs. H. S. Kaltenborn from the A. A. U. W., chairman; Mrs. Moreland Lewis, from Cismis clug, secretary; Miss Atlanta Meadows, from Business and Professional Women; Mrs. Sanders Baskin, from the American Legion auxiliary; Mrs. J. E. Stodgill, from Department club; Mrs. Marie Adams, from the Garden club, and Mrs. Jollie Meadows, from the Pierion club.

This committee called a larger committee from over the parish who elected district attorney, Truitt Scarborough, chairman, and Mrs Leola Nixon, secretary. Soon, plans were under way, not for a day only, but for citizenship emphasis covering a week. A "21" folder from the clubs and a personal letter from Mr. Scarborough, were sent to all new voters, urging them to attend special programs, and calling attention to the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Addresses were made by leading citizens at Louisiana Tech and in every high school in the parish. On Sunday, April 28, the ministers of the parish cooperated with appropriate sermons. The Friday night previous, a splendid address was given by Dr. Cline, president of Centenary college, Shreveport. The following Tuesday evening, Mr. Scarborough, assisted by Judge Enos McClendon, of the second judicial district court, and local court officials, put in a jury demonstration and a mock trial which was both instructive and entertaining.

Mr. E. S. Jenkins, of the chemistry department of Louisiana Tech, delivered an inspiring and forcible charge to those who had recently reached that important milestone, 21 years. He presented beautiful certificates to those present, which read as follows:

State of Louisiana, parish of Lincoln. This certificate is presented to—in recognition of the fact that—has inherited the rights and privileges of full citizenship in the United States of America.

These rights carry with them the great responsibility of active participation in the government of our state and nation, and the solemn duty of upholding at all times, the eternal principles upon which our democracy rests.

Signed—Lincoln Parish Citizenship Committee.

Through personal presentation or by mail, these certificates have been given to the 295 new Lincoln parish voters and to 198 young men and women of other parishes, who have made Louisiana Tech their home the past few months.

Mrs. Nixon, who has lately been elected to a three-year term as president of the Fifth District Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, hope that by another spring, each parish in the Fifth district may have an enthusiastic program honoring those just 21, and emphasizing the deep meaning of citizenship in the United States of America.

The Ouachita Parish P.-T. A. held the final meeting of this school year Thursday afternoon in the O. P. H. S. auditorium. The program, a group of songs by the first grade, was most enjoyable. During a full business session annual reports were given. The secretary, Mrs. Charles Yancey, summarized the minutes of the year. The treasurer, Mrs. Carl McHenry, gave a splendid report, covering the total amounts spent for student aid, dues, Founders' day, delegates and expenses of P.-T. A. Mrs. G. B. Wilson, who represented Ouachita parish gave a detailed report of a most successful state convention. After various committee reports were heard, the association adjourned to meet in September.

Claiming the interest of friends today is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Deere of Mangham, La., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Katie Ruth Deere, to James Elton.

The wedding will take place in this city on the eighth of June.

Junior Gavel Club Holds Final Meeting

The luncheon table in the private dining room was aglow with beautiful flowers with Shasta daizies, the club flower, predominating. Dainty corsages of sweet peas were presented to the honor guests.

Everyone stood while the club collect was repeated in unison. Mrs. C. O. Boyce pronounced the invocation.

Mrs. Merrell Williams, program chairman, introduced the president, Mrs. C. O. Boyce, who extended greetings and introduced the guests.

Aid Sought For Library Movement

J. O. Modisette, chairman of the Citizen Library movement, states in a recent letter to members that the Louisiana Library commission will ask the current session of the state legislature for increased funds to maintain and increase existing library facilities.

Since state aid for libraries is one of the aims of the Citizens Library movement, Mr. Modisette urges that members express to their legislators their wishes with respect to increased library benefits for Louisiana.

There are now 45 parishes in the state which have no legally established free public library. Also many libraries now operating have inadequate budgets to bring their services up to standard, their quarters are too small for their needs, their book stocks are depleted and out-dated, and they are unable to employ adequately trained workers to develop the proper library service.

State funds, says Mr. Modisette, can bring a great improvement to Louisiana's library situation. Since libraries are a means of education to every one, giving all an equal chance to keep well informed, to learn and to be better citizens through increased opportunity for knowledge, the state has a responsibility for libraries as it has for schools and agricultural extension services, which it now aids, he stated.

Sorosis Club Observes Its Fiftieth Birthday

Organization Originally Formed Back In 1868 Now Numbers More Than Two Million Members

Smarting under the refusal to admit women to a banquet given to honor Charles Dickens when he visited New York in 1868, the indignant women decided that such a thing should never again happen and at once organized a club, Sorosis. To celebrate its 21st birthday Sorosis issued a call to all women's clubs to meet in New York. Sixty-five responded and organized the General Federation. The following year, April 24, 1890 the ratification convention was held. Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Brown of New Jersey was the first president.

The 50th birthday of the General Federation was recently celebrated. Today it has a membership of more than 2,000,000 women in over 15,000 clubs in this and 31 foreign countries. In 1901 the Federation was granted a perpetual charter by the United States government "for educational, industrial, philanthropic, literary, artistic and scientific culture." Fifty years ago only so-called radical and strong-minded women joined clubs, and even they restricted their activities largely to social gatherings, art, literature, and cultural subjects. But Jennie June Croly, a newspaper woman, the president of Sorosis, and a few others had a vision far beyond their time of women's place in the world of the future, and "Unity in Diversity" was the motto adopted at the first meeting.

Under this motto the program of the Federation has been expanded and developed until it touches practically every phase of human interest and welfare from art and essay contests to legislation of world importance. More than 100 individual subjects are covered in the programs offered.

Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar of Portland, Oregon, president of the Federation, has given the organization this peculiarly timely keynote, "Adjusting Democracy for Human Welfare." Additional officers are: first vice-president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Baltimore; second vice-president, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, Keene, New Hampshire; recording secretary, Mrs. Horace B. Ritchie, Athens, Georgia; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, Richmond, Va.

What is the General Federation of Women's Clubs? Answering that question Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, a past president, says: "The General Federation of Women's clubs is a group of organized women in every community who can be depended upon to promte all movements looking toward the betterments of life." The aptness of this definition is revealed by a brief summary of today's program, income tax returns, community surveys for child needs, flexibility of foreign policy, fair labor standards act, and carries on a continual campaign to raise artistic and moral standards in motion pictures.

To celebrate its Golden Anniversary the Federation is holding a celebration throughout the three years of this administration with the first vice-president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, as general chairman. Prominent in the varied program of activities offered is the search for pioneer club women in individual clubs, in districts, in the state, and in the nation, each of whom will be entitled to wear a handsome bronze medal specially designed for this occasion. Each club is also holding a birthday party and accumulating a cash birthday gift toward the million dollar foundation fund which the federation is raising to expand and better finance its work. The climax of the celebration will be reached at the triennial convention in Atlantic City, May, 1941, when a grand pageant will depict women's progress. A national chorus of 1,000 voices will be featured.

The federation owns its own home, the former home of General Nelson A. Miles, located at 1734 N street, N. W., Washington, D. C. It has five stories, comprises 21 rooms, most of which are used for the business of the federation; a few are occupied by business women. A staff of 21 persons serves the club women of the country. The library of more than 5,000 volumes has been entirely contributed by clubs and club women.

While the general federation has to its credit a long and imposing array of achievements over the past fifty years, its greatest contribution is the development of leadership and the moulding of public opinion for "all movements looking toward the betterment of life."

Fine Cast Excels In Its Final Production

Members of the Little Theater folded their tents like the Arabs and have stolen away to green pastures for the summer months.

The last performance of the season, "The Distaff Side," climaxed a season of great fulfillment. A season abounding in clever plays under the direction of Louis Guerriero, whose histrionic ability and knowledge of directing, stood him in great need as the plays selected were most ambitious and required expert directing.

"The Distaff Side" boasted an excellent cast with Eleona Brinsmade claiming the honors for her splendid performance. Miss Brinsmade, in the role of Mrs. Venable, a cantankerous old woman, who tapped her cane violently whenever vexed, gave one of the best performances in the history of the Monroe Little Theater. Her characterization was flawless, and her makeup so perfect, even her best friends failed to recognize her. Perfect enunciation was one of the things placed to her credit. She spoke distinctly, with considerable expression, and loud enough for the audience in every section of the auditorium to hear.

Sue Hefley gave a marvelous performance as Evie, the mother of a son and daughter, and the mistress of a perfectly managed menage. Miss Hefley's poise, lovely speaking voice, and graceful posture, are distinct attributes, and of great value on the stage.

Kathleen Miller is quite the finished product. In her role of Mrs. Frobisher, she was perfectly charming, and the personification of grace. She wore some smart gowns, especially beautiful being the ashes of roses evening model with the sleeves of sparkling diamentes. A dressing gown of pastel shades, and a white sport frock were worn with considerable distinction.

Miss Miller's acting is characterized by charming mannerisms, especially attractive being the movements of her lovely hands. She accented her dialogue in this way.

Dorothy Duncan offered a charming portrayal of Evie's daughter, who is puzzled at life generally, and rather at sea where her love affairs are concerned. The last scene gave her an opportunity for a bit of dramatizing. Miss Duncan is a decided acquisition to Little Theater circles, as there are possibilities in her work.

Zach Daughtry gave a splendid performance as the adolescent son of Evie. His acting was perfectly natural and spontaneous. He was a favorite with the audience from the very start.

Lydia Nichols gave an excellent characterization of the spinster, Miss Spicer. Prim and proper and precise as to speech, she injected something very vital into the part she portrayed.

The three male leads, Howard Foggin, Charles Chapman and Tommy Hayes, delighted the audience. They were all cast with splendid discrimination, the different roles ideally suited to their talents.

Eleanor Tatum, Jo Coates and John Daniel, Jr., completed the cast of characters and, even though their roles were minor ones, they were responsible in a large measure for the smooth-running performance. It will be a pleasure to look forward to seeing them, and the maid, Louise Gail McDonald, in more important roles next season.

This season's productions have given considerable pleasure to a large number of people, members of the Little Theater, many of whom haven't missed a single performance. While some enjoyed one performance more than another, taken as a whole, each offering boasted something distinctive—something that placed it in a class by itself.

The Little Theater membership, numbering a thousand or more, feels that they have been royally entertained, and are greatly indebted to Mr. Guerriero and each performer for their work this past year. Built on such a firm foundation, next year's structure will be more pretentious, and more substantial than ever before.

Citizenship Program Completed In Lincoln

An extensive program of citizenship emphasis has just been completed in Lincoln parish. Inspired by the plan of inducting young citizens into their new estate followed in Manitowoc, Wis., last spring, Mrs. Leola Nixon, president of the Ruston Federation of Women's clubs, began to work toward a similar movement in Lincoln parish. Through her efforts a citizenship chairman from each of the clubs was appointed as follows: Mrs. H. S. Kaltenborn from the A. A. U. W., chairman; Mrs. Moreland Lewis, from Cismis clug, secretary; Miss Atlanta Meadows, from Business and Professional Women; Mrs. Sanders Baskin, from the American Legion auxiliary; Mrs. J. E. Stodgill, from Department club; Mrs. Marie Adams, from the Garden club, and Mrs. Jollie Meadows, from the Pierion club.

This committee called a larger committee from over the parish who elected district attorney, Truitt Scarborough, chairman, and Mrs Leola Nixon, secretary. Soon, plans were under way, not for a day only, but for citizenship emphasis covering a week. A "21" folder from the clubs and a personal letter from Mr. Scarborough, were sent to all new voters, urging them to attend special programs, and calling attention to the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Addresses were made by leading citizens at Louisiana Tech and in every high school in the parish. On Sunday, April 28, the ministers of the parish cooperated with appropriate sermons. The Friday night previous, a splendid address was given by Dr. Cline, president of Centenary college, Shreveport. The following Tuesday evening, Mr. Scarborough, assisted by Judge Enos McClendon, of the second judicial district court, and local court officials, put in a jury demonstration and a mock trial which was both instructive and entertaining.

Mr. E. S. Jenkins, of the chemistry department of Louisiana Tech, delivered an inspiring and forcible charge to those who had recently reached that important milestone, 21 years. He presented beautiful certificates to those present, which read as follows:

State of Louisiana, parish of Lincoln. This certificate is presented to—in recognition of the fact that—has inherited the rights and privileges of full citizenship in the United States of America.

These rights carry with them the great responsibility of active participation in the government of our state and nation, and the solemn duty of upholding at all times, the eternal principles upon which our democracy rests.

Signed—Lincoln Parish Citizenship Committee.

Through personal presentation or by mail, these certificates have been given to the 295 new Lincoln parish voters and to 198 young men and women of other parishes, who have made Louisiana Tech their home the past few months.

Mrs. Nixon, who has lately been elected to a three-year term as president of the Fifth District Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, hope that by another spring, each parish in the Fifth district may have an enthusiastic program honoring those just 21, and emphasizing the deep meaning of citizenship in the United States of America.

The Ouachita Parish P.-T. A. held the final meeting of this school year Thursday afternoon in the O. P. H. S. auditorium. The program, a group of songs by the first grade, was most enjoyable. Junior Gavel Club Holds Final Meeting

The luncheon table in the private dining room was aglow with beautiful flowers with Shasta daisies, the club flower, predominating. Dainty corsages of sweet peas were presented to the honor guests.

Everyone stood while the club collect was repeated in unison. Mrs. C. O. Boyce pronounced the invocation.

Aid Sought For Library Movement

J. O. Modisette, chairman of the Citizen Library movement, states in a recent letter to members that the Louisiana Library commission will ask the current session of the state legislature for increased funds to maintain and increase existing library facilities.

Since state aid for libraries is one of the aims of the Citizens Library movement, Mr. Modisette urges that members express to their legislators their wishes with respect to increased library benefits for Louisiana.

There are now 45 parishes in the state which have no legally established free public library. Also many libraries now operating have inadequate budgets to bring their services up to standard, their quarters are too small for their needs, their book stocks are depleted and out-dated; and they are unable to employ adequately trained workers to develop the proper library service.

State funds, says Mr. Modisette, can bring a great improvement to Louisiana's library situation. Since libraries are a means of education to every one, giving all an equal chance to keep well informed, to learn and to be better citizens through increased opportunity for knowledge, the state has a responsibility for libraries as it has for schools and agricultural extension services, which it now aids, he stated.

Sorosis Club Observes Its Fiftieth Birthday

Organization Originally Formed Back In 1868 Now Numbers More Than Two Million Members

Smarting under the refusal to admit women to a banquet given to honor Charles Dickens when he visited New York in 1868, the indignant women decided that such a thing should never again happen and at once organized a club, Sorosis. To celebrate its 21st birthday Sorosis issued a call to all women's clubs to meet in New York. Sixty-five responded and organized the General Federation. The following year, April 24, 1890 the ratification convention was held. Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Brown of New Jersey was the first president.

The 50th birthday of the General Federation was recently celebrated. Today it has a membership of more than 2,000,000 women in over 15,000 clubs in this and 31 foreign countries. In 1901 the Federation was granted a perpetual charter by the United States government "for educational, industrial, philanthropic, literary, artistic and scientific culture." Fifty years ago only so-called radical and strong-minded women joined clubs, and even they restricted their activities largely to social gatherings, art, literature, and cultural subjects. But Jennie June Croly, a newspaper woman, the president of Sorosis, and a few others had a vision far beyond their time of women's place in the world of the future, and "Unity in Diversity" was the motto adopted at the first meeting.

Under this motto the program of the Federation has been expanded and developed until it touches practically every phase of human interest and welfare from art and essay contests to legislation of world importance. More than 100 individual subjects are covered in the programs offered.

Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar of Portland, Oregon, president of the Federation, has given the organization this peculiarly timely keynote, "Adjusting Democracy for Human Welfare." Additional officers are: first vice-president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Baltimore; second vice-president, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, Keene, New Hampshire; recording secretary, Mrs. Horace B. Ritchie, Athens, Georgia; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, Richmond, Va.

What is the General Federation of Women's Clubs? Answering that question Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, a past president, says: "The General Federation of Women's clubs is a group of organized women in every community who can be depended upon to promte all movements looking toward the betterments of life." The aptness of this definition is revealed by a brief summary of today's program, income tax returns, community surveys for child needs, flexibility of foreign policy, fair labor standards act, and carries on a continual campaign to raise artistic and moral standards in motion pictures.

To celebrate its Golden Anniversary the Federation is holding a celebration throughout the three years of this administration with the first vice-president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, as general chairman. Prominent in the varied program of activities offered is the search for pioneer club women in individual clubs, in districts, in the state, and in the nation, each of whom will be entitled to wear a handsome bronze medal specially designed for this occasion. Each club is also holding a birthday party and accumulating a cash birthday gift toward the million dollar foundation fund which the federation is raising to expand and better finance its work. The climax of the celebration will be reached at the triennial convention in Atlantic City, May, 1941, when a grand pageant will depict women's progress. A national chorus of 1,000 voices will be featured.

The federation owns its own home, the former home of General Nelson A. Miles, located at 1734 N street, N. W., Washington, D. C. It has five stories, comprises 21 rooms, most of which are used for the business of the federation; a few are occupied by business women. A staff of 21 persons serves the club women of the country. The library of more than 5,000 volumes has been entirely contributed by clubs and club women.

While the general federation has to its credit a long and imposing array of achievements over the past fifty years, its greatest contribution is the development of leadership and the moulding of public opinion for "all movements looking toward the betterment of life."

Current Literature Club Closes Year

The tea at Northeast Center Junior college Saturday afternoon brought to a close another successful year for the Current Literature club.

The president, Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich, greeted the guests. Mrs. John Best, program chairman, introduced Miss Georgia Bell Goza who gave a lovely vocal number, "Let Your Song Fill My Heart," by Ernest George, accompanied by Mrs. Grover C. Cornett. Miss Nell Sue Fisher of Homer was the guest speaker and presented in a most charming manner a review of "After Many a Summer Dies the Swan," by Huxley. Miss Fisher's ability as a book reviewer is unsurpassed.

"This is not a novel of action," said Miss Fisher. "Its characterization are after the style of Sears Roebuck novel of ideas. Huxley in this book, shows a true quest for eternity. In comprehension of it lies our peace. Here it is to be heard by those who are willing; a still voice that searches the consciousness. Huxley, born in 1894, is the third son of Leonard Huxley and a grand nephew of Julian Arnold, scientist. At the age of 17, while attending Eton college, he become almost blind. Huxley also attended Oxford. He is equipped with an elegant literature training. He has been accused of being heartless and too preoccupied with sex in his writings. To these he replied: First, he visions all characters as they feel themselves to be and as others feel them to be; second, facts of life must be stated. Huxley, as an author, uses extraordinarily elegant language."

The lace-covered tea table with a flaring, natural straw hat overflowing with daisies and yellow iris, formed the center piece. Silver candlesticks with yellow candles and silver comports were placed at the four corners. Mrs. A. D. Tisdale and Mrs. J. R. White served punch from huge chrystal punch bowls. Mrs. J. Leon Dennis was general chairman of the tea.

Recital Under Direction Of Florence Allbritton Furnishes Music Thrill

Ten Concert Grands Entertain Audience

No question about last week's music thrill. It was one that will resound down the annals of time in this city for many years to come.

The music, under the direction of Mrs. Allbritton, had a subtle beauty, and the rhythms were infectious. The full vigor and resonance of the pianos was heard in one number in particular, Moskowski's "Spanish Dance." The music reverberated through the auditorium where the audience drank deep at the fountain of music. Beethovan's "Moonlight Sonata" was another brilliant number spontaneously applauded by the audience.

Mrs. Allbritton directed the ensemble with great care and conviction, once again demonstrating her marvelous versatility. Mrs. Allbritton is not only an accomplished musician but a composer and instructor, and now she makes her debut as a director. It was a stirring performance, and one long to be remembered by those who were privileged to be in the audience. Recital Under Direction Of Florence Allbritton Furnishes Music Thrill

No question about last week's music thrill. It was one that will resound down the annals of time in this city for many years to come.

The music, under the direction of Mrs. Allbritton, had a subtle beauty, and the rhythms were infectious. The full vigor and resonance of the pianos was heard in one number in particular, Moskowski's "Spanish Dance." The music reverberated through the auditorium, where the audience drank deep at the fountain of music. Beethovan's "Moonlight Sonata" was another brilliant number spontaneously applauded by the audience.

Mrs. Allbritton directed the ensemble with great care and conviction, once again demonstrating her marvelous versatility. Mrs. Allbritton is not only an accomplished musician, but a composer and instructor, and now she makes her debut as a director. Caldwell School To Observe 'Homecoming'

Many Former Students To Return To Little Star, Which Was Organized As High School In 1892

"Still sits the school house by the road, a ragged beggar sunning, and round it still the sumach grows and blackberry vines are running."

The old familiar lines are brought to mind with the announcement of the "Homecoming" at Little Star school house in Caldwell parish on June 9.

Students who know each other as "queens in calico" and bashful, barefoot boys, fifty years ago, will walk the old familiar paths and listen to the deep-toned school bell that urged reluctant feet, long ago. Old slates, arithmetics, blue-backed spellers, will be distributed, and old students will file down the aisles to the recitation bench. Teachers who taught "to the tune of a hickory stick," will refresh their memories with almost forgotten incidents.

Time will turn backward in its flight when the old oaken bucket is lifted from the well, where the water in those happy days of childhood, was always cold and refreshing.

This old school was first erected in 1849 through the joint efforts of the Baptists and Methodists of the community as both a school and church. It was a community rallying point during the stirring days before the Civil war, and the groups who assembled there during the period of reconstruction played an important part in restoring home rule and white supremacy to the people of Louisiana.

The first school in Caldwell parish to bear the name of high school, though not accredited, was organized there on August 18, 1892, as a corporation, under a board of directors. The late Rev. S. A. Lilly was chairman of the board and the late George W. Humpries was secretary-treasurer. Stock was issued to patrons. This plan was adopted to insure sufficient funds to carry on the work of the school.

This early high school effort was under the immediate direction of J. N. Warner, a Mississippi college graduate, who later became superintendent of schools in Grant parish. This school was the first to open it's doors to students after the Civil war. The teacher in charge was Mrs. Mamie Humphries, popularly known as Miss Mamie. She is still living and residing in Jena, La.

Other teachers of prominence were J. N. Humble, A. P. Stuart and Dr. J. B. Godfrey. Many of Louisiana's leading citizens received their early training in this old school.

Caldwell School To Observe 'Homecoming'

Many Former Students To Return To Little Star, Which Was Organized As High School In 1892

"Still sits the school house by the road, a ragged beggar sunning, and round it still the sumach grows and blackberry vines are running."

The old familiar lines are brought to mind with the announcement of the "Homecoming" at Little Star school house in Caldwell parish on June 9.

Students who know each other as "queens in calico" and bashful, barefoot boys, fifty years ago, will walk the old familiar paths and listen to the deep-toned school bell that urged reluctant feet, long ago. Old slates, arithmetics, blue-backed spellers, will be distributed, and old students will file down the aisles to the recitation bench. Teachers who taught "to the tune of a hickory stick," will refresh their memories with almost forgotten incidents.

Time will turn backward in its flight when the old oaken bucket is lifted from the well, where the water in those happy days of childhood, was always cold and refreshing.

This old school was first erected in 1849 through the joint efforts of the Baptists and Methodists of the community as both a school and church. It was a community rallying point during the stirring days before the Civil war, and the groups who assembled there during the period of reconstruction played an important part in restoring home rule and white supremacy to the people of Louisiana.

The first school in Caldwell parish to bear the name of high school, though not accredited, was organized there on August 18, 1892, as a corporation, under a board of directors. The late Rev. S. A. Lilly was chairman of the board and the late George W. Humpries was secretary-treasurer. Stock was issued to patrons. This plan was adopted to insure sufficient funds to carry on the work of the school.

This early high school effort was under the immediate direction of J. N. Warner, a Mississippi college graduate, who later became superintendent of schools in Grant parish. This school was the first to open it's doors to students after the Civil war. The teacher in charge was Mrs. Mamie Humphries, popularly known as Miss Mamie. She is still living and residing in Jena, La.

Other teachers of prominence were J. N. Humble, A. P. Stuart and Dr. J. B. Godfrey. Many of Louisiana's leading citizens received their early training in this old school.

See Howard Griffin For Boat Motors

It's about time to start thinking about that new or re-conditioned outboard motor, or trading in your old one on a new 1940 Johnson Sea Horse.

Howard Griffin has on display all eleven models of the famous sea horse outboard motors as well as a large assortment of factory-built fishing boats.

"Boats that will delight a sportsman's fancy."

Howard Griffin stated that should a new motor prove too expensive for the budget, come in and look over his assortment of used motors. He has a number of reconditioned motors as well as a few 1940 trade-ins.

Selecting an outboard motor should be done only after trying them yourself on a boat, stated Mr. Griffin, for my experience has proven that motors bought on snap judgment, are soon traded in on a Johnson Sea Horse, proving this statement is the large number of 1940 models of other makes that are now in our used motor line up.

Another important consideration before buying an outboard motor should be that of service facilities and parts. We maintain the only real outboard mechanics in Monroe, using only factory-trained men.

Howard Grfifin offers these motors to you with a small down payment and 10 months to pay the balance. Telephone 4682 for complete information.

Superweld Is Recommended On Heavy Jobs

Hearn Piston Ring Sales has exclusive rights for northeast Louisiana, money-back guarantee. Superweld, a new and improved method of repairing cracks in motor blocks, cylinder heads and other metal castings is now being used by the Hearn Piston Ring Sales, at 506 North Second street, and this company has recently purchased exclusive rights for this territory.

According to the manager, W. L. Hearn, this particular service will be found most convenient for truck owners, because it is not necessary to unload the truck or dismantel the motor when repairing cracks in cylinder walls. In fact, the ordinary job on a truck block, when the crack is across the valve seat and extends down to the cylinder wall, requires only two hours.

It is not necessary to pull pan or piston or to hone the wall afterward or install a false seat. "Superweld method," said Mr. Hearn, "leaves a smooth, true job and carries a 90-day money-back guarantee.

Heavy pistons which crack across the top water jackets and cylinder walls on heavy, stationary engines, either gas, Diesel or steam, can be quickly and effectively repaired by the Superweld method, thus saving drilling contractors time and money, since the work may be done on location, oftentimes without the necessity of dismantling the motor.

"We do not recommend false seats for seat checks," continued Mr. Hearn. "Experience has proven that Superweld will permanently repair the crack, leave the seat true and smooth and prolong the use of the casting.

"The three metals used in the Superweld method," sated Mr. Hearn, "are as easily milled as the original casting and will stand considerably more heat and expansion than today's operating conditions demand. Tests have been made, operating the motor without water in the cooling system, until it almost reaches the 'freezing' points and the weld was not harmed in any way, similar tests were made in fireboxes, where there is considerably more heat than in the motor, and successfully proved the effectiveness of Superweld.

DOWN TO ABC'S

BERLIN—(AP)—A campaign for the revival of German script, that angular and hooked handwriting which is the dismay of foreigners, is being started by the intensely nationalistic magazine, "Neues Volk."

The magazine revealed its campaign is another manifestation of the revolt against foreign influences. "Our people, in its handwriting, has achieved an expression of its racial entity free from foreign modification," Neues Volk said.

It regretted that the post-World war generation had largely adopted the Latin script. The contention that the Latin form is better suited to commerce and science was dismissed by the magazine as a "Jewish notion."

DOWN TO ABC'S

BERLIN—(AP)—A campaign for the revival of German script, that angular and hooked handwriting which is the dismay of foreigners, is being started by the intensely nationalistic magazine, "Neues Volk."

The magazine revealed its campaign is another manifestation of the revolt against foreign influences. "Our people, in its handwriting, has achieved an expression of its racial entity free from foreign modification," Neues Volk said.

It regretted that the post-World war generation had largely adopted the Latin script. The contention that the Latin form is better suited to commerce and science was dismissed by the magazine as a "Jewish notion."

'The Grapes Of Wrath' Opens Paramount Engagement

Fine Cast In Steinbeck's Great Play

Stirring Human Adventures Of Joad Family Presented With Fidelity

MOST important screen news of the year is the announcement that Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Grapes of Wrath" will be presented by 20th Century-Fox at the Paramount theater today.

The film version of John Steinbeck's stirring best-seller was wildly acclaimed at its world premiere run at New York's Rivoli theater, where it broke all records with the biggest opening attendance in the entire 22-year history of that theater.

Under the direction of Academy Award Winner John Ford, the stirring human adventures of the Joad famiy are reported to have been brought to the screen with all the power, drive and humor that characterized the book.

To insure absolute fidelity to the original story, Associate Producer Nunnally Johnson, who wrote the screen play, conferred with Steinbeck over the completed script. Steinbeck heartily applauded Johnson's work and expressed particular pleasure that all the humor of the original story had been kept intact in the picture.

Casting for "The Grapes of Wrath" was undertaken by Zanuck with exceeding care. Emphasis was placed not only on the resemblance of the actors to the characters as described by Steinbeck but the mood and humor of the Joads was also taken into consideration.

Henry Fonda, whose portrayals of humble, real people have won him plaudits in the past, stepped naturally into the shoes of dogged, fighting Tom Joad. That unconquerable woman of the soil, Ma Joad, who battled to hold her homeless family together, was found in the person of Jane Darwell. Lanky, tall John Carradine became Casy, the courageous, crusading preacher. Granmpa, that tough, cantankerous old man, took form in Charley Grapewin. Dorris Bowdon, the Louisiana State university coed, who was discovered only two years ago by a 20th Century-Fox scout, won the role which every young actress in Hollywood coveted, that of Rosasharn.

Russell Simpson became Pa Joad. O. Z. Whitehead, a protege of Katharine Hepburn, was brought on from New York to play the part of Al, John Qualen became Muley, while Eddie Quillan was given the role of Connie, Rosasharn's deserting husband. Granma, the acidulous, carping old woman, who won for the Joads entry into what appeared to be a promised land, came to life in the person of Zeffie Tilbury, long noted in Hollywood for her many excellent characterization.

To get the deep human realism he wanted, Director John Ford banned all make-up for "The Grapes of Wrath." He instructed Gwen Wakeling, famed Hollywood designer who was assigned to costume the picture, to issue only old and authenic "Okie" clothing to the players. The result was that the second-hand shops and rummage sales of Hollywood and Los Angeles were combed for battered shoes, frayed dungarees, yellowed calicos and ancient Mother Hubbards.

In addition, Director Ford insisted that Cinematographer Gregg Toland use the candid camera technique in filming "The Grapes of Wrath." Even the leading players were photographed without benefit of glamorizing lights.

Dorothy Lamour reveals her true allure as "Lucky" Dubarry, sultry beauty and night club songstress, in "Johnny Apolio," the drama, which co-stars her with Tyrone Power at the Paramount theater midnight show Saturday. Edward Arnold, Lloyd Nolan, Charlie Grapewin and Lionel Atwill are also featured.

Two of filmdom's favorite stars, Jane Withers and Gene Autry, get together in "Shooting High," the action-packed film showing at the Capitol theater today and Monday with Marjorie Weaver in support.

Withers And Autry Team At Capitol

'Shooting High' Is Gay Story Of Action-Romance Of The Old West

WITH loud "Yippees!" ringing in the air, Jane Withers and Gene Autry gallop into town in "Shooting High," the colorful action-romance of the west, which 20th Century-Fox will bring to the Capitol theater today.

In this gay film Hollywood's favorite comedienne and the screen's No. 1 cowboy star ride like demons and shoot like sixty to corral a desperate band of bank robbers, break up a family feud, arrange a love match for Gene and sing as only they can.

Five tuneful melodies are sprinkled through "Shooting High." Gene, had a hand in composing three of them. He wrote "Only One Love in a Lifetime" in collaboration with Johnnie Marvin and Harry Tobias and "Little Old Band of Gold" in collaboration with Charles Newman and Fred Glickman. These two songs serve as solo numbers for Gene. His third song, "Shanty of Dreams," was writtten in collaboration with Johnnie Marvin. It is one of the two songs sung together by Jane and Gene. Another Withers-Autry duet, "Wanderers," was written by Felix Bernard and Paul Francis Webster.

Jane has a rollicking number entitled "On the Rancho with My Pancho." This number was composed by Sidney Clare and Harry Akst.

Among the players prominently featured are Marjorie Weaver, Frank M. Thomas, Robert Lowery, Katharine Aldridge, Hobart Kavanaugh, Jack Carson and Hamilton MacFadden.

"Shooting High" was directed by Alfred E. Green from an original screen play by Lou Breslow and Owen Francis. John Stone was associate producer. Dances for the picture were staged by Nicholas Castle and Geneva Sawyer.

THE GUMPS
PRISONERS ON THEIR OWN SHIP!! THE CRIMINAL, HATFIELD AND HIS HENCHMEN HID ABOARD THE BOAT TILL CHESTER AND HIS FRIENDS ARRIVED—AFTER DISARMING AND LOCKING THE REST OF THEM IN THE HOLD, HATFIELD FORCED CAPTAIN TOM TO NAVIGATE THE SHIP—
GUS EDSON
HM—SO YOU'RE THE BILLIONAIRE BIM GUMP'S NEPHEW! THAT GIVES ME IDEAS!
NIX, CHIEF! YA AIN'T THINKING OF EX—HOLDING TH' KID FER RANSOM, ARE YUH?
COUNT ME OUT O' THAT STUFF, TOO, BOSS
SHUT UP! I'M GIVING THE ORDERS HERE!! BUT YOU NEEDN'T WORRY—I'M NOT GONNA HOLD TH' KID FER RANSOM—HA-HA!! WHY, I'M BEFRIENDING HIM!
—IN FACT, I'M RESCUING HIM FROM A GANG O' JUNGLE SAVAGES!
DON'T YA FEEL GOOD, CHIEF?
THE BOSS TALKS LIKE HE'S BLOWED HIS TOP!
SO YOU THINK I'M CRAZY, HUH? WELL, I AM—CRAZY LIKE A FOX! C'MON ABOVE DECKS WHERE WE CAN TALK WITHOUT THAT OLD GOAT, NESTOR, OVERHEARING US—
PROFESSOR, WHAT'S HE GOING TO D-DO WITH M-ME?
DON'T YOU WORRY, CHESTER, MY BOY. CAPTAIN TOM AND I WON'T LET ANYTHING HAPPEN TO YOU—
I WONDER WHAT HE MEANT WHEN HE SAID HE WAS GOING TO RESCUE CHESTER FROM A GANG OF JUNGLE SAVAGES—I'D SOONER TRUST THOSE INDIANS THAN THAT BEAST!
HERE'S MY PLAN—WHEN WE REACH MANAOS, I'LL GO ASHORE—SEND BIM GUMP A RADIOGRAM—TELL HIM THAT HIS LITTLE NEPHEW IS BEING HELD BY A MARAUDING BAND OF JUNGLE INJUNS FOR $100,000 IN COLD CASH—HEH-HEH—AND I'LL SIGN THE RADIOGRAM "PROFESSOR NESTOR"
YEAH—BUT EVEN IF GUMP FALLS FOR IT, HOW CAN HE SEND TH' DOUGH?
EASY—A BIG SHOT LIKE HIM CAN ARRANGE IT BY WIRELESS WITH THE BANCO NACIONAL AT MANAOS—AND I'LL JUST SWIPE THE PROFESSOR'S CREDENTIALS, PRESENT THEM AND COLLECT THE GOLD—
YOU'RE A SMART GUY, CHIEF—
GREAT IDEA, BOSS!
BUT WHAT'LL WE DO AFTER WE LEAVE MANAOS, WITH THE GOLD AN' OUR TEMPLE LOOT, BOSS?
